

HANNAH KATHRYN BUCHANAN

903886-5203

hannah.buchanan@etamu.edu

EDUCATION

Auburn University College of Veterinary Medicine

August, 2017 to May, 2021

Doctor of Veterinary Medicine

University of Kentucky

August, 2013 to May, 2017

Bachelor of Science, Animal Science

PROFESIONAL EXPERIENCE

Small Animal Veterinarian

May, 2021 to current

Quincy Animal Hospital, Quincy, Florida

- Perform well and sick exams on patients
- Perform surgical procedures
- Perform and interpret diagnostics such as bloodwork, diagnostic imaging, and cytology
- Ensure excellent client communication and education in regards to their pet

Greeter Team Leader

November, 2024 to current

Transformation Church, Tallahassee Florida

- Lead a group of 50 individuals responsible for creating a warm and welcoming environment
- Train and onboard new Dream Team Greeter members
- Assist with scheduling and filling in the gaps each week
- Provide weekly check-ins with the team to ensure all important information is relayed
- Schedule and assist with church events such as water baptisms, conferences, and community service events

Boehringer Ingelheim Veterinary Scholars Program

May, 2018 to August, 2019

Dr. Reid Hanson, Auburn University CVM, Auburn, Alabama

- Collect and run tests on equine cartilage samples
- Presented for faculty and staff 2018 and 2019
- Presented at STLE annual conference May 2019
- Presented at Auburn CVM's Phi Zeta Day 2018 and 2019

Undergraduate Research

February, 2016 to July, 2017

Dr. Jeffery Bewley, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky

- Create a footbath solution before morning milkings
- Score the cows' hind hooves for digital dermatitis
- Published paper in Journal of Dairy, Veterinary and Animal Research titled "Effects of the Addition of Electrolyzed Water to a Footbath Solution on Digital Dermatitis Incidence".

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

Florida Veterinary Medical Association

Big Bend Veterinary Association

American Veterinary Medical Association

REFERENCES

Upon request