COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional/Methods/Activities Assessments

Instructional Methods: Lecture, discussion, and experiential. In addition to other requirements, this course involves an experiential component of at least 6 sessions designed as training for group membership and leadership. The group experiences are not designed to substitute for therapy.

Attendance (30 points): Because the group process is seriously affected by member absence, participation is required. You may have only one excused absence. Your grade will be lowered 10 points for any unexcused absence or your grade will be lowered one level for two absences. No absences are excused during the 6-week counseling group process. Please plan accordingly.

Homework: Homework assignments are to be completed by the assigned date. All papers are due at the beginning of the class period. Late papers will have 10% deduction from the final score.

Participation in Class Discussions and In-Class Activities (60 points): You will have the opportunity to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of key concepts through class discussions and in-class activities.

Student Learning Outcomes #1, #2, #3, and #4

The Group Proposal Paper (150 points): In this paper, you will demonstrate the ability to apply knowledge and principles of group dynamics and processes in writing. The object of the paper is to propose a group you might like to conduct in Practicum or Internship. Minimum length is 20-pages, typed and double-spaced using 12 pnt. font, Times New Roman, one-inch margins from all sides, and, APA style writing. The paper will include: (a) 8 to 10-page literature review on the group topic you selected; (b) screening, logistics, and 6-8 session plan for a group in a school or agency setting; and (c) appendices containing group activities and resources, if you have any.

The paper will include references from at least ten journal articles, in addition to a few texts. In addition to citing and synthesizing information from the related literature, you should specify the form and content of each group session, stating your objectives/goals for each. Include your selection procedure and screening techniques. Identify the session(s) when individual education plans will be identified for each member, and the opportunities for subsequent follow-up on each member's progress. Be certain your paper includes all elements listed in the Group Paper Outline (included in this syllabus).

Your paper may address a group counseling application, a task group (teambuilding skills), a school guidance group or a psycho-educational group but not a group psychotherapy situation. It would be practical to identify a group you might actually lead in your Practicum or Internship field placement. Do not choose a suicide prevention group for your first attempt. Do not involve any at-risk students; "at-risk" groups of students are worthy of counseling, but frequently involve mislabeling or dual diagnoses.

Midterm Exam/Test (100 points): There will be a midterm exam in the form of a multiple-choice test, in which you will demonstrate knowledge and application of key concepts. There will be 25 questions in the test.

Student Learning Outcomes #1 and #2In-class Counseling-Group Experience (points are included in the 10-points weekly-journal-assignment):

Students will attend counseling groups and gain experience both as group members and group leaders throughout the semester by participating in the experiential/process group activities in class with their group supervisors. Sometimes your instructor will lead you briefly for training, practicing, and teaching certain skills in an experiential group as well. The student's role in the group process will be important. There will be 6 sessions of group practices with your supervisors. Each session will last 90 min.s. Positive or negative thoughts of the supervisor of your leadership skills/style will reflect on your weekly journal grades.

Student Learning Outcomes #1, #2, #3, and #4

Weekly Journals (10-points each): Students will demonstrate understanding of group dynamics, group process components, leadership skills, and, ability to self-reflect as a group member and leader through completion of a structured weekly journal assignment during the six week group process with their supervisors. These journals will be graded by their supervisors. Each week you will turn in a ~2 page journal on the previous week's class. The journal will consist of a section from each of the following headings:

1) Description of the group as a whole (2.5 points): Identifying

- a) group's atmosphere as an entity (e.g., what changes, if any, did you notice as the group unfolds? In which phase/stage was the group?)
- b) topic of greatest interest to the group, and
- c) group's activity level/members' behaviors/conflicts if any (e.g., what changes did you notice? Did you notice any therapeutic factors that related to you?)

2) Self-appraisal (2.5 points): Identifying

- a) your feelings (e.g., what changes, if any, did you notice? What were you affected from?)
- b) topic of greatest interest to you, and
- c) your activity level (e.g., how active were you either as a member? Which leadership skills did you use as a leader?)

3) Description of one member (2.5 points): Identifying

- a) Something you admire or something you noticed as a characteristic/quality of someone in the group such as "member A".
- b) What did you learn from this member?
- c) Do you have something in common with this member? Did you want to imitate this member? Please do not give any member's names but use code names, letters, etc. instead.

4) Relation of group session to outside experience (2.5 points): Identifying

How you might use something that you learned in this class or took from your group sessions if you would apply and practice it into your daily life?

Grading

Attendance	30 points
Participation	60 points
Weekly Journals	60 (6 journals at 10-points each)

COUN 528: Group Paper Outline

In this assignment, YOU will be the leader of the type of group you selected. You will form and design your own group as a group therapist/counselor based on especially Ch. 5, class notes, experiential activities, and, other chapters.

1) Literature review (minimum 8-10 pages):

- Does it document this topic as a widespread problem?
- Does it describe the key elements of the topic?
- Does it identify and describe the most important issues faced by group members?
- Does it identify solutions discovered by others?
- Does it review 10 recent journal articles, as well as one or two books?

2) Group Logistics:

- Is the duration sufficient to cover topic and allow for change?
- Is the length of session sufficient for number of members?
- How do you incorporate holidays into your group plan?
- If school children involved, how are the sessions staggered so child does not lose time from the same subject repeatedly?

3) Screening:

- When deciding whom to exclude, what are the criteria?
- Is this a heterogeneous or homogenous group? When deciding whom to include, which of the following are taken into account?: Gender, cognitive ability, maturity, duration of issue, frequency of issue, intensity of issue, acceptance and/or completion of issue.

4) Group Session Plans:

What are the ground rules? An early session identifying General Goals, followed by session(s) identifying Individualized Goals, and then leading/role playing/activities if any/support by the group if any, for the opportunity to transfer learning to real life—occurring in time for member(s) to “change”. Explain the following in your group sessions: the phases/stages of your group, some leadership skills that you used, member-to-member interactions (member behaviors) and member-to-leader interactions, give examples of group dynamics taking place in the group during some of the sessions such as therapeutic factors while the group unfolds. Which of these therapeutic factors did you observe? Did you use any counseling theory that appeals to you in your groups? Which theory did you use? How?

5) Explain briefly what characteristics distinguish “your group” from another type of group such as (pick only one to compare and contrast briefly): psycho-educational group, task group, counseling group, or therapy group?

6) Check if your paper is APA style.
