Course Description:

This course will survey the history of the United States South from the Antebellum period through the mid twentieth century. This period saw the evolution of social beliefs regarding race, gender, citizenship, the role of government, and the rights of individuals.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 1) Students will demonstrate their understanding of the key historiographical discussions regarding history and memory in U.S. southern history.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS
Explanation of Evaluation Criteria:
5 Book Reviews (12% each)	60%	Grade Breakdown: A = 89.5-100 B = 79.5-89.4 C = 69.5-79.4 D = 59.5-69.4 F = 0-59.4
Discussion Forums & Online Class
Assignments & Participation	20 %
Student's Twitter Participation and Responses	20%
Semester Total	100%

Required Readings: All of us will read and discuss (via discussion forums and Twitter)

the books on the list. All students are required to read all books, articles, and other readings assigned for the class EXCEPT there is an option to choose between Goldfield and Cobb. The assigned books are available for purchase at the campus bookstore, through the Internet, and at many regional book retailers. IF YOU DO NOT HAVE THE FIRST FEW BOOKS BY THE START OF THE COURSE, YOU WILL NEED TO OBTAIN THEM THROUGH THE CAMPUS BOOKSTORE. THERE IS NO TIME TO WAIT FOR AN ONLINE DEALER.

TURNITIN.COM: All papers and reviews must be uploaded to the appropriate listing in the course's turnitin.com space. Each student will need to use the specific course identification number and password to register to this class' turnitin shell. This information and directions for use will be provided to students in a separate document.

Book Reviews (each 12% of the final grade): You are required to write five book reviews for the course chosen from the following—Berlin, Doyle, Scott, Hunter, Woodward, Gilmore, Sullivan, and Goldfield or Cobb. Each review should be typed with 1-inch margins, free of grammatical and spelling errors, provide correct citation where necessary, include discussion of a published academic review of the assigned book, and should be no less than 3 full pages & absolutely no more than 5 pages. You must turn in a copy of each review on the day that it is due in Microsoft Word format .doc or .docx in the appropriate eCollege dropbox. If a student does not upload the assignment in the correct format by the due date, it is considered late. Furthermore, each weekday a paper is late without a documented excuse I will deduct 10% off its earned grade. I will provide further details regarding this assignment in a separate document in eCollege with a sample book review. Book reviews are graded based on level of analysis, discussion of book components as useful to historians, evidence of whether the student full read and understood much of the book's content, and format and grammar and spelling requirements. (This includes adhering to the sample book review's Turabian footnote and parenthetical requirements.)

Online Ecollege Discussion Forums Work and Participation (20% of the final term grade): Students will have daily (weekdays) online discussion forum prompts and assignments. Each student must post both their own original thoughts, analysis, and/or work AND response “class discussion style” to at least two or more of their fellow students posts or responses in each forum to get full credit for that day’s forum. More information regarding these assignments will be available in the course eCollege web space. You must post your original work/posts by noon the following weekday AND post your responses by noon the weekday after that to get credit for that day’s forum. There will be no late discussion forum work accepted.

Twitter Class Participation (20% of the final term grade): Students must sign up for a Twitter account by the Friday of the first week of the course. Please log on to www.twitter.com to do so.

Students may sign up to follow Dr. Wranosky’s Twitter feed by following @JessicaWranosky on Twitter, but it is not required. Dr. Wranosky will not always use the class hashtag when tweeting because she sends out other relevant academic information via Twitter, and students will likely benefit from access to this info as well.

TWITTER HASHTAG HAS TO BE #HIST550--Each student must “tweet” (meaning post an original comment of their own) something relevant in connection to the calendar’s current book assignment or other current assigned readings (or a connection) at least 3 times each during the course of the semester using the hashtag #HIST550 at the beginning or end of the tweet. Students may miss up to 3 tweets and still receive full credit for this portion of the course. Students must also respond to at least 2 tweets each week during the course of the semester in some manner from those of the professor and fellow students also using the hashtag #HIST550. The responding tweets should not respond to a fellow student’s tweet that is more than a week old or it will not be current to the class’s Twitter conversation. If a student fails to use the hashtag #HIST550 in a tweet or response for the course, there is no way to follow that post thus no credit is received for the post or response. Please remember to use #HIST550 in all tweets and responses for this course.

!!!A WORD ABOUT TWITTER—Your tweets and responses need to be professional (as they will be able to be viewed publicly potentially by all Twitter users worldwide. If you already have a Twitter account, I highly suggest you set one up only for academic purposes using your university email and your name only—no cute little nicknames. Do not post anything that you would not want future employers, the president of the university, and me to read on this account—BAD IDEA. The purpose of this portion of the course is to create a live-time discussion over course material and provide students with practice and experience using Twitter in an academic and professional environment. What you had for breakfast and how late you stayed out last night (or what you did, for that matter, while out) is not appropriate academic Twitter material.

IF YOU ARE NEW TO TWITTER: Google questions like “how to set up a Twitter account” and “how to follow someone on Twitter” and “what is a retweet” and “what is a hashtag and how to use it on Twitter” and IMPORTANTLY—“How to delete a Tweet.”

Email me if you have any questions. I will look for you on my follower’s list by the Friday of the first week of classes for the first checkmark for this class requirement.

!!Class “Attendance” and Participation: Even though this is an online class, attendance (in online forums and via Twitter) is crucial to your success in this course. Developmental activities occur every day this class “meets,” and “absences” will adversely affect your grade. Habitual “absences” and “tardiness” are unacceptable. Additionally, participation in the class is a large part of this portion of the grade. Each student must be involved in online discussions in order to receive credit for class participation.

!!Student Conduct and Tone (Online and In Person): Students are required to respect their instructor and fellow students without exception. This includes using respectful tones and word choices and not over dominating class conversations either online or in person. Students will get two warnings from the instructor regarding disrespectful or inappropriate behavior. On the third infraction, a student may be required to undergo disciplinary action, which may include removal from the course.

Class Calendar and Dates: While it is highly unlikely that the dates for the reading and assignments would change, I reserve the right to do so if the need presents itself. Any such changes will be announced in the announcements section on the course website homepage. The reading and writing assignments are due at the by noon on the date listed in the course calendar and considered late thereafter—please feel free to read ahead as much as possible to keep up with the fast pace of a grad class. The class calendar will be made available online in the eCollege course. The course will begin the first week with Ira Berlin’s Generations of Captivity, and then move on to Don Doyle’s New Men, New Cities, New South and the first couple of chapters of Turner’s Women and Gender in the New South, if students are interested in reading ahead before the start of the semester—it is highly suggested they start with these books.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

The following information has been provided to assist you in preparing to use technology successfully in this course.

- Internet access/connection – high speed recommended (not dial-up)
- Internet browser software (Internet Explorer and Mozilla Firefox work best)
- Word Processor (MS Word)

Additionally, the following hardware and software are necessary to use eCollege:

Our campus is optimized to work in a Microsoft Windows environment. This means our courses work best if you are using a Windows operating system (XP or newer) and a recent version of Microsoft Internet Explorer (6.0, 7.0, or 8.0).

It is strongly recommended that you perform a “Browser Test” prior to the start of your course. To launch a browser test, login in to eCollege, click on the ‘myCourses’ tab, and then select the “Browser Test” link under Support Services.

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

This course will be facilitated using eCollege, the Learning Management System used by Texas A&M University-Commerce. To get started with the course, go to: <https://leo.tamu-commerce.edu/login.aspx>.

You will need your CWID and password to log in to the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact Technology Services at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@tamu-commerce.edu.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Emailing the professor’s university email address (Jessica.Wranosky@tamuc.edu) is the very best way to reach Dr. Wranosky. In every email, please make sure to provide your full name at the end, which course you are enrolled in, and a description of what your request or question is.

Dr. Wranosky will communicate with students through the email address they have on file in MyLeo (make sure yours is up to date and working throughout the semester), eCollege announcements, and the “Professor’s Forum” discussion forum in the class. Please check these areas daily and before attending class. If an emergency arises, Dr. Wranosky will post the announcement for the class in all three of these locations.

In all forms of class communication including all online forums, students are expected and required to maintain a respectful tone and use semiformal to formal language.

eCollege Student Technical Support

Texas A&M University-Commerce provides students technical support in the use of eCollege. The student help desk may be reached by the following means 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Chat Support: Click on 'Live Support' on the tool bar within your course to chat with an eCollege Representative.

Phone: 1-866-656-5511 (Toll Free) to speak with eCollege Technical Support Representative.

Email: helpdesk@online.tamuc.org to initiate a support request with eCollege Technical Support Representative.

Help: Click on the 'Help' button on the toolbar for information regarding working with eCollege

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Texas A&M University-Commerce does not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. Conduct that violates generally accepted standards of academic honesty is defined as academic dishonesty. "Academic dishonesty" includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism (the appropriation or stealing of the ideas or words of another and passing them off as one's own), cheating on exams or other course assignments, collusion (the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing course assignments), and abuse (destruction, defacing, or removal) of resource material.

Academic Integrity: It is expected that university students demonstrate a high level of maturity, self-direction and ability to manage their own affairs. Students are viewed as individuals who possess the qualities of worth, dignity and the capacity for self-direction in personal behavior.

Academic Honesty: University students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possessions of examinations or examination materials, forgery, the participation in hindering classmates' learning environment or plagiarism. (Plagiarism is the presentation of the work of another as one's own work.) If any type of academic dishonesty is discovered in this class, you will receive a zero for the assignment, have the possibility of receiving a zero for the course, and the Dean of Students may become involved.

"The Code of Student Conduct" located in Texas A&M University-Commerce Student Guidebook covers those issues listed above. I make all efforts to follow all guidelines and regulations and expect students to do the same. If you are not familiar with the "The Code of Student Conduct," it is highly suggested that you review all of its material. If you have any questions, please contact the appropriate office or me.

Additional Course Resources: Additional resource links are available on the course website.

University Specific Procedures:

Federal ADA compliance: Those students with special needs (recognized and documented by Texas A&M University-Commerce) should notify me immediately so I can discuss the availability of appropriate instructional aids or accommodations. These conversations will be confidential. If you do have special needs, you must register with the Office of Student Disability Resources and Services here at TAMU-Commerce.

Students with Disabilities:

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
