COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description

This course introduces foundational concepts of economic principles, such as opportunity costs, supply, and demand and explores primary macroeconomic principles, including measurement, real economy in the long run, money economy in the long run, macroeconomic fluctuations, and policy issues. In this course, you will learn economic principles as well as their real-world applications. You will be exploring contemporary examples from the US and global economies that apply theory to practice and demonstrate the relevance of macroeconomic principles to understanding the way the economy functions.

Course Competency

Describe the foundational concepts of macroeconomic principles, such as opportunity costs, supply, and demand, measurement, real economy in the long run, money economy in the long run, macroeconomic fluctuations, and policy issues.

Pretest

The pretest for this Macroeconomics course assesses your knowledge of the economic way of thinking, effective resources allocation, measurements of GDP and inflation, employment and output, growth rates, financial markets function, components of US monetary system, changes in supply of and demand for money, supply and demand and business cycles, aggregate expenditure multiplier, inflation and unemployment, fiscal policy on employment and GDP, Federal Reserve's monetary policy, and government policies in international markets. The purpose of the pretest is to provide a baseline understanding of your knowledge in this competency. The pretest is required for the course.

Learning Outcomes

1. Analyze the economic way of thinking.
2. Explain how free and competitive markets allocate resources efficiently through the interaction of supply and demand.
3. Analyze the measurements of gross domestic product and inflation as key indicators of aggregate economic performance.
4. Explain the significant relationships between employment and output in the short and long runs.
5. Analyze the differences in growth rates over time and between economies.

6. Explain how the financial markets function to allocate loanable funds and determine interest rates.
7. Outline the key components of the U.S. monetary system.
8. Analyze changes in the supply of and demand for money.
9. Explain how changes in aggregate supply and aggregate demand result in business cycles.
10. Analyze economic policy using the aggregate expenditure multiplier.
11. Analyze the relationship between inflation and unemployment in the short run.
12. Analyze the demand and supply effects of fiscal policy on employment and gross domestic product.
13. Analyze the objectives and tools of the Federal Reserve's Monetary Policy.
14. Analyze the effects of government policies in international markets

Posttest

The Posttest for this Macroeconomics course assesses your knowledge of the economic way of thinking, effective resources allocation, measurements of GDP and inflation, employment and output, growth rates, financial markets function, components of US monetary system, changes in supply of and demand for money, supply and demand and business cycles, aggregate expenditure multiplier, inflation and unemployment, fiscal policy on employment and GDP, Federal Reserve's monetary policy, and government policies in international markets.

The Posttest is an assessment of your knowledge of the material required for the competency. A score of 80 points or higher is required to demonstrate competency. If you score less than 80 points on any competency you will have an opportunity to review the material and re-take the competency Posttest. You may take the Posttest assessment up to three times. If you have not passed the competency in three attempts, you will work with an Academic Coach to determine another method of fulfilling the program requirements in this subject. In order to demonstrate competency, a score of 80 points or higher is required.

Students who are unable to successfully complete all competencies mapped to a course, upon approval of their instructor have the option to receive a mark of "X" (incomplete) in the course in which they are maintaining satisfactory progress toward competency completion. You must re-register for the course again in the subsequent term. You understand that the grade of X will remain on your transcript indefinitely. However, failure to re-register for the course during the next term will result in a grade of F being posted for your incomplete competency course.

Course Concerns

If you have questions pertaining to the content of this course (e.g., questions about an exam, about course due dates, etc.), please contact your instructor via email, through the "Virtual Office," or during office hours.

Other Questions/Concerns

Contact the appropriate TAMU-C department related to your questions/concerns. If you are unable to reach the appropriate department with questions regarding your course enrollment, billing, advising, or financial aid, please call 903-886-5511 between the hours of 8:00 a.m.- 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.)

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Email is the best way to communicate as it is checked throughout the day. However, in order to avoid duplication of questions and answers I prefer that you post all class related questions in the Virtual Office course tab. It is likely that your peers will have the same question. Emails of a personal nature should be sent to my email address via eCollege. Or if you want to talk via phone, you may contact me via Google voice at 903-886-5743. Please do not call before 9 am or after 9 pm.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

A&M-Commerce will comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status. Further, an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression will be maintained.

Academic Honesty Policy

Texas A&M University-Commerce does not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. Conduct that violates generally accepted standards of academic honesty is defined as academic dishonesty. "Academic dishonesty" includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism (the appropriation or stealing of the ideas or words of another and passing them off as one's own), cheating on exams or other course assignments, collusion (the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing course assignments), and abuse (destruction, defacing, or removal) of resource material. Violation of these academic standards may result in removal or failure. Please see the TAMUC Catalog.

Cheating is defined as:

- Copying another's test or assignment
- Communication with another during an exam or assignment (i.e. written, oral or otherwise)
- Giving or seeking aid from another when not permitted by the instructor
- Possessing or using unauthorized materials during the test
- Buying, using, stealing, transporting, or soliciting a test, draft of a test, or answer key

Plagiarism is defined as:

- Using someone else's work in your assignment without appropriate acknowledgement
- Making slight variations in the language and then failing to give credit to the source

Collusion is defined as:

- Collaborating with another, without authorization, when preparing an assignment

If you have any questions regarding academic dishonesty, ask. Otherwise, I will assume that you have full knowledge of the academic dishonesty policy and agree to the conditions as set forth in this syllabus.

Dropping the Class

If you need to adjust your schedule by dropping this course, please contact your Academic Coach. Please be aware that dropping your course may impact your financial aid, veterans and military benefits, three part, 45-hour, and 30-hour rules. It is the student's responsibility to drop the course. If you fail to officially drop the class, a failing grade shall be assigned.

Incompletes

If you receive a grade of "X" or Incomplete you have one full term to complete the items that remain incomplete. If you have not submitted the necessary assignments by the end of the next full term your grade automatically converts to an "F."

Student Withdrawal

A student wishing to withdraw from all courses before the end of a term for which he/she is registered must clear his or her record by filing an application for voluntary withdrawal. Please contact your Academic Coach.

This action must be taken by the date stated in the Academic Calendar as the last day to drop a class or withdraw. Any student who withdraws from the university is subject to the conditions outlined in the section regarding Scholastic Probation or Suspension in the university catalog. It is the student's responsibility to withdraw from classes if he or she does not plan to attend during the semester in he/she has enrolled. A student has one year from the first day of a semester to appeal a withdrawal refund. Courses withdrawn are counted as attempted hours and count towards the three-peat, 45-hour and 30-hour rules and financial aid and veterans and military benefits.

Instructor Withdrawal

Your instructor of record reserves the right to withdraw a student from his or her course based on inadequate access to and progress in the online course materials.

Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
