Numerical grades are recorded in ecollege and available to you when you click on "Gradebook." ecollege also calculates a "percentage score" based on the assignments completed to date and also based on the total number of assignments for the semester. The most important percentage is the one based on assignments completed to date.

At the end of the semester, numerical scores are converted to percentage based on the total assignments for the semester. Instructors use percentage scores to calculate a preliminary final grade on a scale of 91-100% (A), 81-90% (B), 71-80% (C), 61-70% (D), etc.

Once the grade is determined based on the criteria above, it is then adjusted upward for participation, enthusiasm, cooperation, and general code of conduct; adjusted downward for attendance, lack of participation, and other factors that might apply.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Internet Connection. An internet connected is necessary. Internet access/connection – high speed recommended (not dial-up)

Word Processor. MS Word is the recommended word processor for ecollege

How Should Students Proceed Through each Unit of Study?

As you proceed through each unit in the class, please keep in mind the following important principles:

1. Assignments. All assignments for each unit are explained in the links on the left navigation bar. Everything you need to know about each assignment can be found within the assignment. I try to explain as clearly as I can, but writing lacks the clarity of the spoken word. Never hesitate to ask me if you are unsure about an assignment. It is better to ask me to clarify what I expect than to find that you have done an assignment wrong.

2. Needed Documents Are Provided. When documents are required, they are usually embedded within the assignment. Look for the blue links. When an assignment requires you to have a document, that document will be provided to you simply by clicking on the blue link there in the lesson.

3. Asynchronous discussions. This course may include Asynchronous discussions (not live). If it does, they will be conducted using the Threaded Discussion feature of ecollege. When you click on a Threaded Discussion link, you will be given instructions on how to use this feature. In a typical case you will be asked to respond to a topic or question. You will enter your initial response to that question and everyone else in the group will do the same. A few days later you will be asked to return to the discussion, read over what has been written, and then respond to initial entries and others will respond to yours as well. When someone responds to you and it needs or deserves a reaction, you continue that dialog. Grading for threaded discussion is usually based on (1) how many you dialog with, (2) how much you say, and (3) the quality of your entries..

6. The DropBox. Unless specified, you will submit your assignments electronically using the ecollege dropbox tool.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Questions about the course, assignments, syllabus, etc.

Contact me via Virtual Office any time 24/7. When you have a question about the course or particular assignments, use Virtual Office. COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies:

Late Work.

Specific dates and times are established for every assignment. Grades on work not turned in when due are automatically reduced beginning immediately upon exceeding the deadline. For example, assignments typically have a midnight deadline. If you exceed that midnight deadline, your work is automatically reduced by one numerical grade. For the next 24 hour period, the grade is reduced again by one. Work cannot be made up and extra work is not allowed to compensate for missing or later work. The final authority on time is the time recorded on your assignment by the ecollege clock. Refer to the earlier section on grading for more details.

Appeal of the Final Grade (13.99.99.R0.05 Student's Appeal of Instructor's Evaluation, Effective September 1, 1996. Revised December 15, 1999, Revised February 8, 2007)

1. The final grades awarded by faculty members are their expert judgment concerning student performance. Students challenging a final grade must show that the instructor's judgment was unfair based on:
 - a) Some basis other than performance, or
 - b) standards different from those applied to other students in the same course section, or
 - c) a substantial, unreasonable, and unannounced departure from previously articulated standards or the syllabus.
2. Students who believe their grade to be unfair must first discuss the matter with the instructor.
3. If no satisfactory resolution is reached with the instructor, or if the instructor is unavailable, the student shall appeal to the department head. A grade appeal must be initiated in writing with the department head (or dean if the department head is the instructor) within six months of the last day of the semester in which the grade was awarded. The department head will examine the student's appeal to determine whether the student has established an apparent case of unfair academic evaluation as described in section 1. If the student has not established a case that appears to have merit, the department head will so inform the student and the instructor without delay.
4. If the case has merit, the department head will secure, from all parties, written statements and other such information as he or she deems helpful and will issue his or her findings and remedies, if any. In so doing, the department head will be guided by the principal the burden of proof lies with the student.

For additional information regarding the appeal of a final grade above that of the department head, please consult the latest version of the graduate catalog or contact the Head of the Department, Curriculum and Instruction, at 903-886-5537.

Academic Integrity/Honesty Statement

This course demands a high level of scholarly behavior and academic honesty on the part of students. Examples of academic dishonesty include but are not limited to: (1) turning in work as original that was used in whole or part for another course and/or instructor without obtaining permission from this instructor in advance; (2) turning in another person's work, in part or in whole, as your own; (3) copying from professional works without citing them; and (4) any form of cheating on exams. Violations of academic integrity/honesty while carrying out academic assignments may, at the discretion of the instructor, receive a zero on the particular work in question, receive an "F" in the course, or brought before a higher level of governance for possible dismissal from the university.
