COURSE INFORMATION

Textbook(s) Required: Principles of Agricultural Law by Roger A. McEowen, Custom Abridged CD available in the University bookstore only

Course Description: Survey of law and legal decisions that impact agriculture including farm and preservation, water rights, pollution abatement standards, workers' rights, externalities, pesticide/insecticide regulation, product inspection, development of legislation, mineral rights and employer liability. Prerequisite: Junior standing.

This course is designed to provide students with a basic knowledge of concepts and terminology used in agricultural law and the legal system, and to apply them to real-life situations. The students will learn sources of legal information and will be able to understand how legal principles may affect them, their families, farms, or businesses.

Student Learning Outcomes

At the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Understand the fundamental concepts, principles, and rules of law and the judicial system that apply to agriculture.
2. Apply legal concepts and rules through examination and interpretation of state and federal statutes.
3. Analyze case law, contracts, secured transactions, and negotiable instruments as they relate to and impact agriculture.

Syllabus/schedule subject to change

4. Evaluate the scope, extent, and importance of the law and the legal system for application in the student's career field.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional/Methods/Activities Assessments

This course consists of a series of readings, assignments, and examinations to assist the student in achieving the learning objectives for the course. Assignments consist of short answer questions, analyses of judicial opinions, and short summaries of assigned videos. Students will be expected to participate in online discussions each week with the expectation that each student will contribute at least one thoughtful post and one meaningful response for each week's topic. Quizzes will be given on a weekly basis and students will be given 30 minutes to complete them. There will be three exams administered and one cumulative final exam at the conclusion of the course.

All course material will become active the first day of the week it is to be completed and all assignments must be completed by 11:59 pm on the day it is due.

Student Responsibilities

Each week students are required to work on the assignments, participate in discussions, and complete the readings in preparation for weekly quiz and periodic exams.
