CATALOG DESCRIPTION OF COURSE

528. Introduction to Group Dynamics and Procedures. Three Semester Hours.

A study of group development, dynamics, and theories in relation to group guidance, group counseling, and group therapy. Leadership styles, techniques and roles are explored, and ethical and legal issues related to group interventions are discussed. Prerequisite: COUN 510 or consent of instructor with concurrent enrollment in COUN 510.

GENERAL COURSE INFORMATION

As one of the core courses in the TAMU-Commerce Counseling Program, this course should be taken early in the student's program, but not first. The course includes studies that provide both theoretical and experiential understandings of group purpose, development, dynamics, counseling theories, group counseling methods and skills, and other group approaches. A grade of "B" or higher must be earned in COUN 501, 510, 528, and 516 for admission to candidacy status (or its equivalent for those seeking school counselor certification only), which is required before practicum (COUN 551).

COURSE OBJECTIVES include, but are not limited to, the following.

Students will demonstrate an understanding of:

1. principles of group dynamics, including group process components, developmental stage theories, group members' roles and behaviors, and therapeutic factors of group work; (6a)
2. group leadership or facilitation styles and approaches, including characteristics of various types of group leaders and leadership styles; (6b)
3. theories of group counseling, including commonalities, distinguishing characteristics, and pertinent research and literature; (6c)
4. group counseling methods, including group counselor orientations and behaviors, appropriate selection criteria and methods, and methods of evaluation of effectiveness; (6d)
5. approaches used for other types of group work, including task groups, psychoeducational groups, and therapy groups; (6e)
6. professional preparation standards for group leaders;
7. ethical and legal considerations related to group work; and
8. students will become more conscious of their personal growth through participation as group members. (6e)

The school counselor understands and complies with ethical, legal, and professional standards relevant to the profession.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Course Format

This course includes lecture, discussion, and experiential components. The format of this course includes approximately an hour of lecture/discussion and approximately an hour and a half of group.

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

You will need to utilize such technology as e-college and Microsoft Word

Attendance, participation, assignments, and classroom activities

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

All students are required to attend and actively participate in class. University guidelines regarding attendance policy will be followed. Due to the nature of this course, you should attend ALL classes but I do understand that unforeseeable circumstances may happen. Please plan for the weeks in which we are participating in actual group counseling. Absences will not be excused during these weeks unless an emergency arises. If you cannot actively participate in the group, you should not be enrolled in this course during this semester. More than two absences will result in a letter grade reduction. Being excessively late to class and/or leaving early counts as an absence and will result in a possibility of a letter grade reduction as well. Students are expected to arrive to class on time and contribute to all discussions, activities, presentations, etc. Participation is a critical component to your learning outcome. Participation includes actively and respectfully interacting with the professor and your peers. This includes reading all course material before the class date in order to contribute to class discussions. Any student that noticeably does not participate in class will lose significant participation points. The professor will assign groups during the second week of class. Participation in these groups is key to your learning experience.

Activities outside of the classroom

In addition to participation in classroom discussions and activities, students are required to complete homework assignments. All assignments must be completed by class time on the due date. Failure to do so will result in a 10% deduction per day late. In addition to this, students should become familiar with APA guidelines. Students must adhere to APA guidelines on all assignments.

Other requirements

Students need to have access to and be proficient in navigating the Internet. Furthermore, students should check their Leo email often, and ensure that they have access to their e-college account. This is crucial, as myself and other members of the department periodically update these platforms on any changes or issues. Also, please frequent the department website as updates are posted here as well.

Communication with Professor

Communication with your professors is key to your professional growth. I am here to support and guide you along your academic journey. With that being said, I cannot help you if you do not communicate with me. Please make an appointment if you have any concerns or questions. Because I teach in different locations, calls will be returned at my earliest convenience. Therefore, email is the best way to reach me. I will attempt to answer all emails within 24 hours Monday-Friday. When emailing, please use your university email and address me with curtesy and respect.

Confidentiality

Because of the nature of this course, students are required to co-lead and participate in actual counseling groups. As a result, you and your peers may share personal information concerning the group topics. However, confidentiality is of the utmost importance for this course, and a responsibility of not only the professor, but also of you, as a counseling student.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

As a student in this course, you are responsible for the active learning process. Expectations of this course include the following:

1. You are expected to display professionalism at all times. Be respectful of your professor and peers. Be open to feedback, as you will receive this throughout the program.
2. Prepare for classes. Complete any and all readings prior to class time.
3. Complete all assignments by the deadline.
4. Adhere to the university student code of conduct.
5. You are expected to actively participate in all activities and discussions. This is crucial to your learning.
6. All writing assignments must be done according to APA 6th edition.
7. Regularly check your University email. My suggestion is to check this at least once a day as your instructors and others from the department and University may contact you.
8. Attend class and be on time. Learning cannot fully happen if you are not present.
9. Be open to the process. This degree takes time, work, effort, and growth.
10. Appropriately participate in the experiential group. If you think that you cannot participate in these groups, you should not be enrolled in COUN 528 at this time. These groups are NOT a substitute for counseling. Please see your instructor if you need a referral source for counseling.

Overview of Assignments

1. Group Proposal Paper(s) (Total of 150 points)

The purpose of this paper is to develop a counseling group that you would like to facilitate in the future. Choose a group population that interests you and create a 6-8 session group. This paper will include the following: (a) comprehensive literature review on the topic of choice; (b) a description of your group including type, setting, group members, issues (c) logistics including selection of members, exclusion/inclusion criteria, duration/length, (d) complete AT LEAST an 8 session plan outlining each group session (each session on a separate page and (e) end goal; what you wish to achieve; what group members will achieve. The literature review should include key components of the topic and setting, rationale behind the need for that specific group, any research on the specific population, and any successes/solutions with that specific issue. The session plan should be detailed and clearly flow from initial stages of group to final stages of group. In other words, walk me through the hows, whats, and whys of your group. Your proposal should include AT LEAST 10 references from peer-reviewed journals. Examples of these journals are provided at the end of the syllabus. You may also use books. The entire group proposal paper should be 20-25 pages in length. You must follow APA 6th edition guidelines.

- a) Literature Review (50 points). The first part of this paper includes the literature review. This portion will be due midway through the semester. A literature gives the reader an overview of a particular topic and includes summary (important information) and synthesis (re-organization of that information). Your literature review should be between roughly 8-10 pages, which does not include the title and reference pages. Your literature review should include at least 10 references from peer-reviewed journals.

- b) Final Paper (100 points). The second portion of this paper is a continuation of the first. First you should integrate my feedback and all other knowledge obtained during the semester to improve your paper. In addition, you will add the group proposal component described above. This proposal is YOUR group. While you are including literature, you are not presenting someone else's group.

Group Plan:

- A description of your group including type, setting, group members, issues. Describe the type of group that you plan to run. What setting will your group be in? (e.g. school, clinical); What ages? (e.g. adults, adolescents, children) Who are your group members? What issue(s) are your members experiencing? What is your ultimate goal for this group?
- Logistics including selection of members, exclusion/inclusion criteria, duration/length. How do you plan to select/screen group members? What are your criteria for inclusion and exclusion of potential participants? How long is each session and how often would you meet? Ensure you have enough sessions to cover your topic of choice. You should be able to see change in group members.
- 8 session plan outlining each group session. Each session should be on a separate page. Walk me through your group. This should be detailed and clearly flow from the initial stages of group to the final stages of group.
- End goal. As the group leader what do you wish to achieve and what may group members achieve? Do you believe your group plan would reach your ultimate goal (based on literature that you read)?

2. Group Experience (20 points)

All students will actively participate in groups during the second half of classes. Students will be (a) a leader, (b) a "client", or (c) an observer. Students will have the chance to participate in all three of these roles at least once. You will each co-lead (2 students) a 60-90 minute group. The leaders will facilitate the group topic. All students who are considered group members for that day are required to participate (i.e., talk) in the group topic. Students who observe the group for that day critique both the leaders and group process. Group members will not be evaluated on content of session. In addition to this, you will be participants of groups led by doctoral students.

3. Weekly journals (80 points)

Throughout this program you will experience a personal awareness journey of yourself and others. This is an important process to go through and understand. Journaling provides a medium for you to reflect on personal experiences as well as deepen your knowledge of the group process. You will turn in a 2-4 page journal entry each week (beginning week 2). You will focus on the previous week's group session. Prompts for your entry according to your role that week are below. You have a total of 11 journals.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Everyone

- a) Summarize the group topic.
- b) Describe any techniques you noticed.
- c) What is one thing you learned from this week's group?
- d) Please connect what you learned this week to your potential settings. Give examples.
- e) Discuss anything else that you noticed of importance this week.

Group Leader

- a) What was it like to be the leader?
- b) What were some challenges you noticed?
- c) What are some of your strengths as the group leader?
- d) What are some of your growth areas?
- e) What is one thing you would do differently?

Group Participant

- a) What was it like to be a participant this week?
- b) Describe your comfort level with the group topic and group process this week.

Group Observer

- a) How involved/active was the group this week? Describe.
- b) Describe what you thought the group leaders did well this week?
- c) What would you have done differently if you were the leader this week?

4. Final Exam (100 points)

The final exam will include information learned throughout the semester. It will include 50 multiple-choice questions each worth 2 points.

5. Course Reflection Paper (10 points)

Write a 1-2 page reflection paper on the course. Summarize your experiences in this course. Discuss what you liked and what you did not like. Talk about what you learned in the course as well as what you learned about yourself. Think about your personal and professional growth during this semester. Think about your strengths and growth areas.

6. Participation and Professionalism (20 points)Final Grading

Participation	20 points
Literature Review	50 points
Final Group Proposal Paper	100 points
Group Experience	25 points

CONDUCT AND ACADEMIC HONESTY

"All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment." (See Student's Guide Handbook, Policies and Procedures, Conduct) "Graduate students at Texas A&M University-Commerce are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all their scholastic work." (See Section A13.12, Academic Honesty, A&M-Commerce Procedures).

Students are expected to maintain integrity at all times. Plagiarism is presenting others' work as your own and will not be tolerated in this course. Please remember to always cite authors' work and never directly copy from any source. When in doubt please do not be afraid to ask.

Any act of academic dishonesty may result in a grade of "0" on the assignment and/or course and will be reported to the department chair.

As a courtesy to your professor and peers please refrain from using your cell phone in this class. If you have a family emergency, please step outside of class to address it. You are allowed to use laptops for professional use only (i.e., taking notes). You are not allowed to utilize your laptop for checking personal emails, Facebook, Twitter, etc. This is disrespectful to your professor and those around you.

APA Style and Formatting

All assignments submitted should follow APA 6th edition guidelines. I strongly suggest students to buy the APA manual. There are also many Internet sites that can be utilized if you are not familiar with APA style.

DISCRIMINATION FREE ENVIRONMENT

A&M-Commerce will comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status. Further, an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression will be maintained.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:

ADA Statement

Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
