COURSE REQUIREMENTS
----------------------------

I. Attendance and Participation in the course

Attendance at all class meetings is strongly encouraged. You are responsible for all material covered in our class meetings regardless of your physical presence in the room. The course will be taught primarily through lectures, but there are also primary sources that will be taught through class discussion and team work.

II. ASSIGNMENTS

A. EXAMS

There will be five exams. Each will consist of two parts: (1) multiple choice questions and (2) a short essay. The exams will draw upon lectures, all material presented in class, and all assigned reading material. Answers must be written in ink either in a blue book or on stapled paper. No work in pencil will be accepted. There will be no review sheets. Students who miss any exam may make it up during the final week of classes.

B. CLASS DISCUSSIONS

There will be five times in the semester when there will be an assigned primary source from The American Yawp Reader. Each assigned source will form the basis of a group exercise in which students will be given a question and, working in groups, will produce a written answer. The groups will then discuss their results with the class.

Each exercise will last one class period. Missing more than ten minutes of class or refusing to participate will result in a grade of zero. Students who are absent on the day of a class discussion, for any reason, must contact the instructor, by email, within two business days after the class, to request an individual essay assignment to replace the grade. Students will have one week to submit the replacement essay.

C. PAPER

Each student will research and write an individual paper that should consist of eight to ten typed, double-spaced pages in a standard size font (such as Times New Roman 12 pt) with one-inch margins on all sides. There must be a cover page and bibliography which must be written in Turabian Humanities format (see the History Department Style Guide in eCollege).

The paper will take the form of a letter written in response to one of three prompts located in eCollege under the tab “Paper Assignment.”

The bibliography should consist of the three sources associated with the selected prompt. Notes/citations are not required. There should be no exact quotation or paraphrasing of either the assigned sources or of any other sources.

It is due on Friday, April 27th. Late papers may be accepted at the instructor’s discretion.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

I. Academic Honesty

In all courses, I expect that all work that you do and turn in is your own. It is the policy of the University, the History Department, and me that no form of plagiarism, cheating, collusion or any other form of academic dishonesty will be tolerated.

Plagiarism is defined as deliberately taking the words or ideas of someone else and passing them off as your own.

Cheating is obtaining unauthorized assistance on any assignment. Collusion is the selling or sharing of academic products with the intention that they be submitted to satisfy an academic requirement.

Students are expected to uphold and support the highest academic standards at all times. Any student found guilty of academic dishonesty will automatically fail the assignment in question, will likely fail the entire course, and will be subject to disciplinary action by the University (See Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct 5.b[1,2,3]). Further information on the History Department plagiarism policy can be found on the History Department web page. If you are even unclear about what constitutes plagiarism or academic dishonesty, please ask me.

Students at Texas A&M University-Commerce are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all of their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

They can only help you if you see them in advance and have time to incorporate their suggestions into the final paper.

VI. Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. (See current Student Guidebook. <http://www.tamuc.edu/admissions/registrar/documents/studentGuidebook.pdf>).
