Texas A&M University - Commerce – Spring Semester 2020
Online course

Instructor: Dr. Brad Klypchak

Office: 221 Talbot Hall (formerly the Hall of Languages)

Office Hours: Mon and Wed 2:00-3:30; Tues 11:00-1:00 or by appointment

Course Description: This course provides each student in the Liberal Studies Program with opportunities for making connections among his or her concentration, support fields, other educational experiences, and possible careers. A project reflecting a sound application of research methods, analytical frameworks, or performance criteria and a learning outcomes learning assessment will also be required. Must be taken in final semester.

Course Objectives:

1. to demonstrate the effective application of interdisciplinary scholarship and its theoretical underpinnings through designing and carrying out an independent research project.
2. to demonstrate the academic skill of researching a topic from multiple disciplinary fields and to then use the findings to inform one's project.
3. to generate and effectively communicate scholarly material which is informed by critical thought and the student's personal academic career.
4. to communally engage in the process of assessment, critique, and refinement as applied to the work of not only the student but of their classmates as well.

Evaluation:

Academic Autobiography:	5%
Future Applications Project:	5%
Annotated Bibliography I:	5%
Annotated Bibliography II:	5%
Proposal Plan:	10%
Progress Reports:	10%
Draft Final Project:	10%
Critiques:	10%
Revised Final Project:	20%
Executive Summary	5%
Reflective Review:	5%

Grading System:

A (exceptional) = 100 - 90% B (good) = 89.99 - 80% C (average) = 79.99 - 70%
D (minimally sufficient) = 69.99 - 60% F (failure) = <60%

I am a believer in the intrinsic pursuit of knowledge and discovery. If you join in that pursuit, there should be no worries or concerns of final grades. In nearly all grading instances, I start from a mindset that one begins at middle “C” (75%), and one proves their relative ability to shift above, shift below, or remain at that mark with their work.

In a course such as this one, the ability to work with independence in a productive manner is crucially important. As well, the ability to problem solve and to synthesize are key skills to develop and demonstrate. I will continuously be looking for evidence that these qualities are being demonstrated and will evaluate with such considerations in mind.

Brief Assignment Explanations:

Academic Autobiography: As the first step in the process of developing a project which successfully reflects their LIBS degree, students will depict their academic career, their specific areas of academic interest, and their potential future pursuits as they fit with their scholarly experiences and/or professional aspirations.

Future Applications Project: As a second step to the process, the student will locate potential outlets for scholarly and/or professional connection to their respective field(s) of interest. Beyond locating where like-minded professionals gather and network, the student should also become aware of outlets where a project’s results could be put to practical academic use. This might include outlets such as conference presentations, journal submissions, staged performance or exhibitions, or the like.

Annotated Bibliography Projects: Students will be required to locate source material from scholarly-sound sources on a topic which pertains to the student’s particular interests. Specific attention will be also given to discovering a specific scholarly theory which may be applied to the further analysis/conceptualization of the chosen topic.

Proposal Plan: Part of the nature of the Senior Seminar course is to demonstrate the integrations and synthesis of the entire undergraduate experience. For a program like Liberal Studies, one inherently engages an interdisciplinary approach towards one’s academic pathway. The proposal plan simply declares how your eventual completion of the Senior Seminar will effectively demonstrate such qualities: you declare what your project will be, how it is scholarly-sound in both methodological conception and connection to existing scholarly literature, and provide a timeline for when each component step to the project’s execution will be achieved. The proposal plan establishes an effective plan for the student to follow throughout the duration of the term.

Progress Reports: Periodically throughout the term, students will be asked to inform the professor and/or their classmates as to their relative progress on their individual projects. Documentation of such progress at the given time may be requested. These reports are intended to serve as both reflections of what had been done on the project during the given time span, but also what needs to happen in the coming future for the project to reach its intended aims. Additionally, progress reports serve as a means to encourage self-reflection on the process of doing independent work.

Draft Final Project: A completed draft of the final project is to be distributed amongst the course community. This draft will then be reviewed by one’s colleagues, allowing for feedback and offering outlets for where revision may well be in order thereby improving the project as a whole.

Executive Summary: This brief form summarizes elements of the project and serves to illustrate some of the project's core elements.

Critiques: One will provide feedback to the work of one's colleagues. The relative degree of effort and engagement contributed to the critiques offered will be assessed.

Revised Final Project: A completed final project, informed by the critiques and thoroughly demonstrating the intentions of the Senior Seminar, will be required.

Reflective Review: Independent projects are a process (much like achieving an undergraduate degree in and of itself). Here, the student is to reflect on the experiences of the term and the ways in which the project experience as a whole has come to achieving what initially was considered.

Readings

There is no required text for the course. There may be readings distributed via D2L Brightspace as necessary.

Academic Dishonesty

All coursework is to be an original work by the student and created specifically for fulfilling the requirements for this course. Plagiarism, cheating, or otherwise representing another's work or ideas as one's own without proper attribution will not be tolerated. It is the student's responsibility to:

1. research and write their own papers
2. give proper credit through documentation when using words or ideas of others
3. rely on their own knowledge when taking tests
4. refuse to give another student the opportunity to be dishonest

Any act of academic dishonesty may result in the automatic failure of the course and may be subject to further disciplinary action by the university.

"Attendance" policy, instructor's rights and expectations:

All courses demand active participation and regular attendance. Online courses offer no exception. Rather, it is imperative that the student do all assigned work in a timely fashion. In particular, this course demands the student to be independently dedicated to making positive progress throughout the term. As we are working toward a collective goal of not only accomplishing our own projects, but also aiding others in their pursuits, it becomes all the more important that each and every student stays actively engaged in the process. Failure to do so hurts not only the individual student, but the collective community as a whole.

Please be aware: Full term online courses are typically already quite time-involved as the amount of outside library work, reading, and writing is greater than a traditional classroom course. One must stay active and disciplined with researching, writing, discussion board posting, and assignment management throughout the term.

All assignments are devised for the explicit purpose of offering educational benefit, be that academic growth, hands-on experience, development and display of critical thought, or expression of our academic selves. Coursework is to be completed as assigned and is to be turned in no later than the formal due date. Any work turned in after due dates will incur a penalty respective of its relative degree of tardiness. Excluding extreme circumstances, no credit will be given for work submitted more than one week late. Failing to complete assignments not only inhibits the immediate learning process but, again, ultimately hurts the overall learning community as discussion of the process and its results can prove insightful as well. Repeated failures to meet deadlines (be it missed assignments, periods of minimal progress, failure to engage with the course community, etc.) will constitute the equivalence of “absences” in a traditional classroom setting. Students with more than three “absences” may be dropped from the course. For additional information, see the Student’s Guide Handbook, p. 37. Additionally, I reserve the right to assign a final course grade no higher than a “C” for students accumulating more than three “absences.”

Student Conduct

Course participation includes aspects of respectful, thoughtful, class interaction and engagement in group discussions. This course’s expectations work in conjuncture with what the Student’s Guide Handbook describes as Civility in the Classroom (see p. 36). Additionally, all students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. (See Student's Guide Handbook, Policies and Procedures, Conduct, pg. 42).

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Browser support

D2L is committed to performing key application testing when new browser versions are released. New and updated functionality is also tested against the latest version of supported browsers. However, due to the frequency of some browser releases, D2L cannot guarantee that each browser version will perform as expected. If you encounter any issues with any of the browser versions listed in the tables below, contact D2L Support, who will determine the best course of action for resolution. Reported issues are prioritized by supported browsers and then maintenance browsers.

Supported browsers are the latest or most recent browser versions that are tested against new versions of D2L products. Customers can report problems and receive support for issues. For an optimal experience, D2L recommends using supported browsers with D2L products.

Maintenance browsers are older browser versions that are not tested extensively against new versions of D2L products. Customers can still report problems and receive support for critical issues; however, D2L does not guarantee all issues will be addressed. A maintenance browser becomes officially unsupported after one year.
