Course Description

Course Catalog: A broad interdisciplinary course in the historical development of the United States and North America from 1865. Note: Assignments will focus on reading, writing, and analysis. Pre/co-requisite Eng. 1301 or 1302.

From the instructor: This course covers Reconstruction through the late 20th century. We will cover the meaning of “republicanism” and “liberalism” in historical context, and the growth of the American economy, youth culture, national identity, and ideas of “race.” In the nineteenth century, ideas of national identity still excluded many Americans from that definition. However, in the wake of 20th century economic growth and depression, debates over race, immigration, class conflict, and global warfare led to civil rights movements, youth consciousness, and a flowering of popular culture fueled by African Americans. This class aims to make sense of the modern American transformation to a more inclusive democratic republic, in many cases through the lens of popular culture; including aspects of film, music, radio, and TV. All media reflected popular expectations and behaviors at a given time—they were “mirrors.” The goal is to critically assess major events and people in the modern United States.

Student Learning Outcomes: Critical thinking, communication, social responsibility and personal responsibility

- Students will be able to analyze, evaluate, or solve problems when given a set of circumstances, data, texts, or art.
- In written, oral, and/or visual communication, A&M-Commerce students will communicate in a manner appropriate to audience and occasion, with an evident message and organizational structure.
- Students will understand and practice academic honesty.
- Students will demonstrate an understanding of societal and/or civic issues.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Examples include: Using the learning management system, using Microsoft Word and PowerPoint, using presentation and graphics programs, etc.

Instructional Methods

Participation and attendance: Regular attendance is expected, as well as regular questions and comments from students. Five points will be deducted for every three unexcused absences. Late assignment can be turned in only the week that they are due, and five points will automatically be deducted from them. Other lectures and film/video presentations will relate to class readings. Class time is meant for both lecture and discussion, so participation is important whether class involves interaction or film/video presentations.

Class time is not nap time, and you will be asked to leave class if you use that time for that purpose. The instructor reserves the right to dismiss students for the day, for any reason, and also do drop students from the class in extreme circumstances.

Absolutely NO smartphones, laptops, or other electronic devices are to be used during class time—all note-taking should be manual unless an exemption due to a documented physical disability is provided through Office of Student Disability Resources and Services. The class is subject to pop quizzes for continued use of smartphones by individuals in class, and loss of participation points for individual students. All smart phones should be removed from desks during class time.

- Quizzes will be assigned as a penalty for smartphone use in class, and will count toward your Attendance and Participation grade. (All students may be affected by one guilty party.)

Plagiarism: Taking work directly from other sources and presenting it as your own is a serious academic offense, and will automatically result in a “0” grade for your paper, and possibly for the class. In addition, students will need to meet with the instructor for explanation and will be subject to disciplinary action by the University. Modern technology has made detection of plagiarism easier than ever before, and faculty members in most cases have adopted a “zero tolerance” policy for such actions. All work produced for this class must come directly from History 1302 students, and be specific to History 1302 for the Spring 2018 semester.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Examples include: Regularly logging into the course website, amount of weekly study and participation time expected, etc.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Assessments

Attendance and Participation = 100 points

Exams = 200 points total

Short Assignments/Malcom X Discussion = 150 points total

Short Assignment discussions (online and in class together) = 75 points total

Total = 500 points possible (minus the lowest Short Assignment grades)

Exams: Two Blue Book exams – a midterm and a final – will be assigned in this class. Students will answer two out of three questions in standard essay form and in longhand. Exams cannot be made up, but may be taken prior to the scheduled date with the instructor's permission.

Short Assignments: For 150 points, there will be a mixture of discussions, and take-home assignments in which students will analyze primary sources (those will be explained). For Primary Source assignments, students will write 2-3 pages responding to questions on documents in Major Problems in American Popular Culture. Five points will be deducted from any papers turned in past the due date, and papers will not be accepted after one week. For written short assignments, the lowest grade will be dropped from the final score. That is the same for online and in-class discussion. In addition, there will be two discussions on The Autobiography of Malcolm worth of total of 30 points (equivalent to one writing assignment). Type all writing assignments in 12-point Times New Roman.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

- To fully participate in online courses you will need to use a current Flash enabled internet browser. For PC and Mac users the suggested browser is Mozilla Firefox.
- You will need regular access to a computer with a broadband Internet connection. The minimum computer requirements are:
