Course Description:

A survey course in human movement that includes the historical development of movement and sport from ancient through contemporary cultures. Physiological, sociological, and psychological principles affecting human movement and sport are also included.

This course brings the beginning student through the development of our profession and introduces them to the basic principles, which will be studied in depth in the major's program. An understanding of the sources of our body of knowledge and their application to kinesiology and sports studies is developed.

Student Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the course, the successful student should be able to:

1. Develop an understanding of the historical development of movement and sport.
2. Understand the principles and concepts of human movement development and maintenance to evaluate, select, and adapt activities that will help them achieve and maintain appropriate levels of movement.
3. Demonstrate knowledge of health, nutrition, and safety principles related to human movement.
4. Demonstrate ability to recognize and understand how to promote knowledge and cognitive skills in relation to lifetime fitness and wellness.

5. Demonstrate knowledge of principles and concepts of human movement, fitness and exercise science (e.g., anatomy and physiology, kinesiology, exercise physiology, biomechanics).
6. Demonstrates an understanding of concepts and principles of health, fitness, and performance and understands how to work with learners from diverse backgrounds to foster learning and encourage positive behavior.
7. Understands issues related to personal health risk factors and practices for health-related safety.

COVID-19 statement

COVID-19 Statement & Use of Face Masks/Shields

A&M-Commerce requires the use of face-coverings in all instructional and research classrooms/laboratories. Exceptions may be made by faculty where warranted. Faculty have management over their classrooms. Students not using face-coverings can be required to leave class. Repetitive refusal to comply can be reported to the Office of Students' Rights and Responsibilities as a violation of the student Code of Conduct.

Students should not attend class when ill or after exposure to anyone with a communicable illness. Communicate such instances directly with your instructor. Faculty will work to support the student getting access to missed content or completing missed assignments.
