Course Description

This course looks at the place where theatre, social issues and business meet. We will explore producing professional theatre and the “nuts and bolts” of effective board operations, the synergies between art, entertainment and business. We will explore questions such as, “Why do matters of freedom, justice and equality matter to arts leaders?” “How can I as an artist-driven leader promote social change?”

Student Learning Outcomes

1. To understand the larger context in which board trustees, managers and artists govern non profit organizations.
2. To understand the performing arts as a mode of social and cultural exchange that can empower individuals and communities.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

3. To provide an exploration of arts entrepreneurship and management issues and practices to inspire greater understanding and interest in the field.
4. To recognize and develop opportunities in an arts related venture.
5. Recognize the synergies between art, entertainment and business.
