LIBS 360 – From Question to Creation Texas A&M University - Commerce – Spring 2021 Blended Course – Mon/Wed/Fri 1:00-1:50 (302 Talbot Hall)* (classroom sessions dependent on social distancing/Covid necessities)

Instructor: Dr. Brad Klypchak Office: 221 Talbot Hall Email: Brad.Klypchak@tamuc.edu

Office Hours: Mon and Wed 2:00-4:00 or by appointment (Zoom meetings welcomed)

Course Description: A cross-disciplinary investigation of a key thematic question. This course introduces students to the breadth of discipline-specific theory, methodology, and their practical applications to such investigation. May be repeated with change of topic.

Course Objectives:

- 1. To encounter and engage in readings from a variety of narrative styles as a means for generating synthesis, analysis and communication of critical thought
- 2. To apply the principles of interdisciplinary scholarship by reflectively and informatively examining experiences and settings where acts of aesthetics and criticism occur
- 3. To prompt awareness and application of course content to personal self-reflection and expression

Evaluation:
Exams:	20%
Aesthetics Discovery:	15%
Readings Project:	15%
Criticism Collection:	25%
Reflective Essay	15%
Participation and Engagement:	10%

Grading System:

A (exceptional) = 100 - 90% B (good) = 89 - 80% C (average) = 79 - 70%D (minimally sufficient) = 69 - 60% F (failure) = <60%

Though I am a believer in the philosophies of ungradedness, some versions of grading still exist. That stated, I am also a believer in the intrinsic pursuit of knowledge and discovery. If you join in that pursuit, there should be no worries or concerns of final grades. In nearly all grading instances, I start from a mindset that one begins at middle "C" (75%), and one proves their relative ability to shift above, shift below, or remain at that mark with their work.

Covid 19 Considerations

A&M-Commerce requires the use of face-coverings in all instructional and research classrooms/laboratories. Exceptions may be made by faculty where warranted. Faculty have management over their classrooms. Students not using face-coverings can be required to leave class. Repetitive refusal to comply can be reported to the Office of Students' Rights and Responsibilities as a violation of the student Code of Conduct.

Students should not attend class when ill or after exposure to anyone with a communicable illness. Communicate such instances directly with your instructor. Faculty will work to support the student getting access to missed content or completing missed assignments. Please, click on the following link to access A&M-Commerce Covid 19 Information, https://new.tamuc.edu/coronavirus/

Brief Assignment Explanations:

Exams: During weeks 6 and 12, a timed examination will be given to assess mastery of the course's core concepts. All topics build upon one another. As a result, exams will be cumulative in nature. Exams will include essay-based questions and will consist of questions asking students to demonstrate their mastery of the course material through the critical thinking skills of analysis, reflection, evaluation, synthesis, and application.

Aesthetics Discovery: Students will select, discover, and engage content related to a key figure or concept significant to aesthetics and discursive practice.

Readings Project: Students will further engage readings from the Wolfreys text as inspiration for their own versions of criticism, analysis, and reflective considerations

Criticism Collection: Students will collect and analyze a variety of examples of aesthetic criticism reflective of their academic and personal areas of interest.

Reflective Essay: Students will reflect on the course as a whole via a personalized consideration of the whole of the portfolio generated across the term.

Participation and Engagement: Whether in the classroom or online, students are expected to dialogue in a way that provokes, clarifies, challenges, and enlightens the course community. In these communications, the concepts of a liberal studies approach to higher education will be practiced and varying interpretations, particularly in relation to the course readings, will be shared.

Additional considerations of a student's relative level of engagement and academic integrity will also be made across all aspects of the course including but not limited to completion and quality of tasks and assignments, communications, following instructions and guidelines, and accessing materials. As mentioned previously, all students will start as receiving 75% and will be assessed as to their respective demonstration of proficiency/deficiency/adequacy across the term.

Readings

Required

Kul-Want, Christopher. (2010). Introduction to Introducing Aesthetics: A Graphic Guide. Icon Books. (manufacturer price $7.99 paperback; $3.47 electronic copy). ISBN: 9781848311671 https://www.introducingbooks.com/ib-title/introducing-aesthetics/

Wolfreys, Julian (2015). Introducing Criticism in the 21st Century (2nd Edition), Edinburgh University Press. (manufacturer price $29.95 paperback and ebook). ISBN: 9780748695294 https://edinburghuniversitypress.com/book-introducing-criticism-in-the-21st-century.html

All other course readings will be available via D2L Brightspace. A full bibliography of the course readings is available at the end of this syllabus.

All readings are to be completed during the respective week they are assigned, and their material will be needed on exams. On occasion, students may be asked to complete additional readings beyond those listed on the syllabus. Should this be the case, sufficient time and access to such readings will be provided.

Academic Dishonesty

All coursework is to be an original work by the student and created specifically for fulfilling the requirements for this course. Plagiarism, cheating, or otherwise representing another's work or ideas as one's own without proper attribution will not be tolerated. It is the student's responsibility to:

- 1. research and write their own papers
- 2. give proper credit through documentation when using words or ideas of others
- 3. rely on their own knowledge when taking tests
- 4. refuse to give another student the opportunity to be dishonest

Any act of academic dishonesty may result in the automatic failure of the course and may be subject to further disciplinary action by the university.

"Attendance" policy, instructor's rights and expectations:

All courses demand active participation and regular attendance. It is imperative that the student do all assigned work in a timely fashion. In particular, the benefits from discussion specifically depend on each student's respective preparation and distinctive contribution. Failure to do so hurts not only the individual student, but the collective community as a whole.

Given the pandemic conditions and the needs of social distancing, the mechanics of conducting inperson sessions will need to be fluid both in structure and happening. As the term starts, hopefully a clearer understanding as to how to best conduct class sessions safely, inclusively, and adaptably to all will emerge. As it stands, our Covid number for the classroom is 8. Including myself, this allows for a maximum attendance of 7 students. Some form of rotational system will be proposed if/when in-person sessions will occur. These sessions will be recorded and may be accessed synchronously should the students wish to share in the discussion as it occurs. They will also be available asynchronously if the student is unable to access during the course meeting times. Ideally, having the whole of the course community interacting simultaneously would be best for all involved.

All assignments are devised for the explicit purpose of offering educational benefit, be that academic growth, hands-on experience, development and display of critical thought, or expression of our academic selves. Coursework is to be completed as assigned and is to be turned in via the D2L Brightspace dropbox no later than the formal due date. Any work turned in after due dates may incur a penalty respective of its relative degree of tardiness (to a point of no credit whatsoever). Given conditions of the Covid 19 pandemic, considerable flexibility in applying this will be enacted. Failing to complete assignments not only inhibits the immediate learning process but, again, ultimately hurts the overall learning community as discussion of the process and its results can prove insightful as well.

Student Conduct

Course participation includes aspects of respectful, thoughtful, class interaction and engagement in group discussions. This course's expectations work in conjuncture with what the Student Guidebook describes as Civility in the Classroom. Additionally, all students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. (See Policies and Procedures, Conduct, pg. 35-45).

ADA Statement

Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
