Course Description

Links to the NASP 2020 Domains of Practice

Domain 1: Data-Based Decision Making School psychologists understand and utilize assessment methods for identifying strengths and needs; developing effective interventions, services, and programs; and measuring progress and outcomes within a multitiered system of supports. School psychologists use a problem-solving framework as the basis for all professional activities. School psychologists systematically collect data from multiple sources as a foundation for decision-making at the individual, group, and systems levels, and they consider ecological factors (e.g., classroom, family, and community characteristics) as a context for assessment and intervention.

Domain 2: Consultation and Collaboration School psychologists understand varied models and strategies of consultation and collaboration applicable to individuals, families, groups, and systems, as well as methods to promote effective implementation of services. As part of a systematic and comprehensive process of effective decision making and problem solving that permeates all aspects of service delivery, school psychologists demonstrate skills to consult, collaborate, and communicate effectively with others.

Domain 3: Academic Interventions and Instructional Supports School psychologists understand the biological, cultural, and social influences on academic skills; human learning, cognitive, and developmental processes; and evidence-based curricula and instructional strategies. School psychologists, in collaboration with others, use assessment and data collection methods to implement and evaluate services that support academic skill development in children.

Domain 4: Mental and Behavioral Health Services and Interventions School psychologists understand the biological, cultural, developmental, and social influences on mental and behavioral health, behavioral and emotional impacts on learning, and evidence-based strategies to promote social–emotional functioning. School psychologists, in collaboration with others, design, implement, and evaluate services that promote resilience and positive behavior, support socialization and adaptive skills, and enhance mental and behavioral health.

Domain 5: School-Wide Practices to Promote Learning School psychologists understand systems structures, organization, and theory; general and special education programming; implementation science; and evidence-based, school-wide practices that promote learning, positive behavior, and mental health. School psychologists, in collaboration with others, develop and implement practices and strategies to create and maintain safe, effective, and supportive learning environments for students and school staff.

Domain 6: Services to Promote Safe and Supportive Schools School psychologists understand principles and research related to social–emotional well-being, resilience and risk factors in learning, mental and behavioral health, services in schools and communities to support multitiered prevention and health promotion, and evidence-based strategies for creating safe and supportive schools. School psychologists, in collaboration with others, promote preventive and responsive services that enhance learning, mental and behavioral health, and psychological and physical safety and implement effective crisis prevention, protection, mitigation, response, and recovery.

Domain 7: Family, School, and Community Collaboration School psychologists understand principles and research related to family systems, strengths, needs, and cultures; evidence-based strategies to support positive family influences on children’s learning and mental health; and strategies to develop collaboration between families and schools. School psychologists, in collaboration with others, design, implement, and evaluate services that respond to culture and context. They facilitate family and school partnerships and interactions with community agencies to enhance academic and social–behavioral outcomes for children.

Domain 8: Equitable Practices for Diverse Student Populations School psychologists have knowledge of individual differences, abilities, disabilities, and other diverse characteristics and the impact they have on development and learning. They also understand principles and research related to diversity in children, families, schools, and communities, including factors related to child development, religion, culture and cultural identity, race, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, socioeconomic status, and other variables. School psychologists implement evidence-based strategies to enhance services in both general and special education and address potential influences related to diversity. School psychologists demonstrate skills to provide professional services that promote effective functioning for individuals, families, and schools with diverse characteristics, cultures, and backgrounds through an ecological lens across multiple contexts. School psychologists recognize that equitable practices for diverse student populations, respect for diversity in development and learning, and advocacy for social justice are foundational to effective service delivery. While equality ensures that all children have the same access to general and special educational opportunities, equity ensures that each student receives what they need to benefit from these opportunities.

Domain 9: Research and Evidence-Based Practice School psychologists have knowledge of research design, statistics, measurement, and varied data collection and analysis techniques sufficient for understanding research, interpreting data, and evaluating programs in applied settings. As scientist practitioners, school psychologists evaluate and apply research as a foundation for service delivery and, in collaboration with others, use various techniques and technology resources for data collection, measurement, and analysis to support effective practices at the individual, group, and/or systems levels.

Domain 10: Legal, Ethical, and Professional Practice School psychologists have knowledge of the history and foundations of school psychology; multiple service models and methods; ethical, legal, and professional standards; and other factors related to professional identity and effective practice as school psychologists. School psychologists provide services consistent with ethical, legal, and professional standards; engage in responsive ethical and professional decision-making; collaborate with other professionals; and apply professional work characteristics needed for effective practice as school psychologists, including effective interpersonal skills, responsibility, adaptability, initiative, dependability, technological competence, advocacy skills, respect for human diversity, and a commitment to social justice and equity.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Class Format

The format of the class will be that of a seminar primarily involving discussions and lectures. Lectures will be used to introduce new topics, to present background information, and to highlight important points in the readings. Putting your thoughts into words and sharing them with others is an important means of refining your ideas and developing your understandings. Therefore, we will be using a variety of discussion formats to encourage honest and authentic participation, risk-taking, the critical examination of ideas, generation of questions, and creative thinking. Students are expected to read critically and be prepared to share their ideas about the content.

Course Activities & Assignments

Weekly Discussion Questions (20 pts total)

The goal of this assignment is to stop at regular intervals to think about what you are reading and how it is informing your developing understanding of the field. Your response to the question should be posted to D2L 24 hours prior to the class (that means by 5 pm Monday).

Professional Portfolio (30 pts total)

This course provides important opportunities for you to begin the development of your professional identity and portfolio. For the purposes of this class, you must develop a resume, a statement of professional goals/practice, and write a 2-page domain connection paper that focuses on the competencies discussed. Each section required is outlined and detailed below:

1) Resume

Students must complete a resume detailing their professional experiences thus far.

RUBRIC
Excellent (Scale 9-10)	Includes all necessary experiential categories. Each experience is concisely described. Overall document is well organized and visually appealing. No grammatical or spelling errors.
Good/Acceptable (Scale 7-8)	Includes all necessary experiential categories; Each experience is described; however, could be more detailed or more concise. Visual presentation is organized, yet not vivid or distinctive. Very few grammatical or spelling errors.
Poor (Scale 5-6)	Experiential categories are missing. Too much or too little detail to describe experiences. Visual presentation is lacking. Several grammatical or spelling errors.

2) Statement of Professional Practice

Developing a description of your role as a school psychologist is an important part of your professional development. In one page (single-spaced), your statement should present your views on the role of the School Psychologist, Ethical Commitments, and any other dimension of practice that is important for you (e.g., Commitment to Collaborative Functioning, View of Assessment, Multicultural Commitments, Connection between Research and Practice, etc.).

RUBRIC
Excellent (Scale 9-10)	Includes at least 5 meaningful dimensions of practice; Excellent (detailed, yet concise) description of each dimension; No grammatical or spelling errors
Good/Acceptable (Scale 7-8)	Includes at least 5 meaningful dimensions of practice; Good description of each dimension; More detail or more precision would improve descriptions; Very few grammatical or spelling errors
Poor (Scale 5-6)	Includes 4 or less meaningful dimensions of practice; Minimal description of each dimension; Several grammatical or spelling errors

3) Domain Connection Paper

For the purposes of this class, you must write one domain connection paper to link your current and future experiences to the NASP Domains of Professional Practice of your choice. Formatting instructions will be provided in class.

RUBRIC
Excellent (Scale 9-10)	Detailed analysis of and reflection on content covered in the NASP Domains; Paper provides high quality example of your competency or desired competency in the particular domain; well written and organized; no or very few grammatical or spelling errors
Good/Acceptable (Scale 7-8)	Some analysis of and reflection on content covered in the NASP Domains; Connection paper provides some description of competency or desired competency; however, additional explanation would enhance understanding; clearly written and organized with few grammatical or spelling errors
Poor (Scale 5-6)	Minimal or no analysis of and reflection on content covered in the NASP domains; Weak description of your competency or desired competency in a particular domain; readable, but grammatical, spelling, or organizational problems detract from quality of the paper

School Psychologist (LSSP) Interview & Reflection (20 pts)

The goal of this assignment is to obtain firsthand knowledge about the nature of a school psychologist's roles, functions, and professional practice. For this assignment you will interview a school psychologist and learn about their job responsibilities, challenges they face, the skills they employ and need, the clients they serve, and the nature of the settings in which they work. You are responsible for planning the interview and writing the questions.

You will then write a paper (approximately 3-4 pages) discussing the following: (a) your understanding and expectations of school psychologists' roles prior to this experience, (b) the observations and/or information obtained from the interview, (c) your impressions and reactions, (d) the fit with your vision for yourself as a school psychologist, and (e) in what ways, if any, your understanding of the profession changed. You will share your observations with the class.

RUBRIC
Excellent	Detailed analysis of and reflection on content covered in interview; Includes all 5 areas of reflection; Shows strong critical thinking; well written and organized; no or very few grammatical or spelling errors
Good/Acceptable	Some analysis of and reflection on content learned during interview; Includes 4 areas of reflection; Shows some elements of critical thinking; clearly written and organized with few grammatical or spelling errors
Poor	Exclusive focus on description of content covered in interview; Includes 3 or less areas of reflection; Shows little to no critical thinking, analysis or reflection; readable, but grammatical, spelling, or organizational problems detract from quality of the paper

Critical Issue in School Psychological Practice Presentation (100 pts)

In groups of 2, students will be required to select a topic within a domain of practice, review relevant literature about the topic and present to the class how it relates to the practice of school psychology. The purpose of the presentation is to share the findings of a literature review with your peers. Using professional oral language skills as well as strategies to promote academic engagement, presentations should communicate the topic/purpose of the literature review, a summary of the findings, a synthesis of the literature and a conclusion focused on how the topic relates to the practice of school psychology. Each presentation will be evaluated according to the Critical Issues Presentation Rubric.

Students will present their topic and lead a discussion relating to their chosen topic. Students will be expected to provide their classmates with an annotated bibliography for two representative readings (i.e. articles) for your chosen topic. Presentations should be 25-30 minutes in length (20-25 minutes of lecture, 5-10 minutes of discussion). You will be asked to submit the presentation topic form by the 3rd week of class (one per group). See pages 13 and 14 of this syllabus for the presentation topic form and the rubric for this presentation.

Exam I (take-home) (30 pts)

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Browser support

D2L is committed to performing key application testing when new browser versions are released. New and updated functionality is also tested against the latest version of supported browsers. However, due to the frequency of some browser releases, D2L cannot guarantee that each browser version will perform as expected. If you encounter any issues with any of the browser versions listed in the tables below, contact D2L Support, who will determine the best course of action for resolution. Reported issues are prioritized by supported browsers and then maintenance browsers.

Supported browsers are the latest or most recent browser versions that are tested against new versions of D2L products. Customers can report problems and receive support for issues. For an optimal experience, D2L recommends using supported browsers with D2L products.

Maintenance browsers are older browser versions that are not tested extensively against new versions of D2L products. Customers can still report problems and receive support for critical issues; however, D2L does not guarantee all issues will be addressed. A maintenance browser becomes officially unsupported after one year.

RESEARCH COMPLIANCE STATEMENT

If you perform human subjects research, please know that we have been informed by the System's Office of General Counsel that a researcher cannot offer to research subjects the chance to win a prize as an incentive to participate. A researcher can offer a gift card, for example, to each participant, but cannot offer a chance to win a gift card. This is deemed an illegal lottery under Texas Code. Going forward the IRB will not approve a protocol that offers a chance to win a prize as an incentive.

If you have questions, please email researchcompliance@tamuc.edu.
