Course Description

This course will provide opportunities for students to develop and broaden their familiarity with, and understanding of, Rock and Roll and other forms of American popular music. Students will be guided through aural/visual experiences, and a variety of homework assignments to allow for an increased knowledge of American popular music, its heritage its musical characteristics, and its social and historical context. This course is for students not planning to major in music; no previous musical training is required.

The objectives of this course are to:

- Present ways of listening to and thinking about rock music from a variety of decades, subgenres, and cultures.
- Promote social and cultural understanding through musical knowledge.
- Reveal music's relationship to the individual and to the human condition.
- Encourage self-reflection and critical thinking through written or verbal projects.

Online Course – No Assigned Meeting Times:

- This course is 100% online and does not have any scheduled meeting times. However, there will be weekly opportunities for “live” office hours via Zoom. The course requires regular access to the internet, in order to access course materials, assignments, meeting links, and other materials.

Course Materials

Textbook (eBook access is highly recommended):

- Covach, John and Andrew Flory. What's that Sound: An Introduction to Rock and Its History. 5th edition. New York: Norton, 2018.
 - Purchase access to eBook at the publisher's website:
<https://digital.wwnorton.com/whatsthat5>
 - Purchase access to the hard-copy at TAMUC's Bookstore:
<https://www.amcbookstore.com/Home>

Musical Examples (Sound Files)

- Audio and Video examples are available on the D2L site (Playlists via Spotify, YouTube, or other accessible weblinks).

D2L/Brightspace

- Our entire course is available on D2L, you have access to the book, audio, video, and assignments through this page. Please use it early and often.

Required Technology, Communication, and Online Learning Tool:

- Use of our course shell on myLeo (D2L)
- Use of campus email
- Use of Zoom, Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, or other necessary software.
- Reliable access to internet and access to PC or Laptop (phones and tablets are not always reliable for submitting assignments on D2L)

Instructional Materials and Methods

- Weekly, you will find an overview page on D2L. Here there will be a short summary, sometimes a brief video, and a list of your assignments, linked to the assignment pages, and any required or recommended listening (playlists).

Attendance and Participation

- Our course is online 100% online with no assigned Zoom class meeting times. Therefore, there is no "Attendance Policy."
 - You need to participate in the course through the assignments and accessing the resources in a timely manner.
 - You can work ahead in a limited fashion.

Assignment and Grading Break Down:

Weekly Quizzes (30%): Throughout this course, you will have regular, short quizzes, to build up vocabulary and key concepts. They can include multiple choice, short answer, or audio examples. They are timed, 30 minutes, and you will get 2 attempts (keeping the highest score).

- 15 chapter quizzes for credit.
 - Due by Sundays at 11:59pm CST

Discussion Board Posts/Responses (15%): An integral part of this course is interacting with your classmates. You will have weekly discussion board prompts to answer, and subsequently comment on or critique posts by 2 other group members. Details provided in the assignment page. You will be graded on your post.

- 5 discussion board posts and 10 responses
 - Initial post: Due by Fridays at 11:59pm CST
 - 2 response: Due by Sundays at 11: 59pm CST

Listening Journals (30%): The goal of listening journals is two-fold, to build on listening habits and practices the student already has, but also to expand and grow active listening skills. Students will write about 1 piece of their own choosing, and 1 instructor guided choice, each relating to the week's themes. Each assignment will build upon skills, terminology, cultural context, and critical thinking skills examined in the chapter and module.

- 2 total, Due by Sundays at 11:59pm CST

Essays – 1 written (15%) and 1 audio (10%): The goal of the essays is to extend your engagement with music and different cultural contexts in written, audio formats. You will utilize research, writing, presentation, and critical thinking skills.

- 2 total, Due by Sundays at 11:59pm CST

Extra Credit (4%): You will have 2 opportunities for extra credit.

*You will receive detailed instruction for each assignment in a timely manner.

Policy on Late Work

All the assignments should be submitted before the deadlines. Late submissions will only be accepted with the prior notice to the instructor and proper documentation. For example, if you need to miss a deadline because of an illness, obtain a note from your physician and send it to your instructor.

Grading

University Grading Scale

A:100-90 B: 89.99-80 C: 79.99-70 D: 69.99-60 F:59.99 and below.

Description of Grading Scale

A - achievement that is outstanding relative to the level necessary to meet course requirements.

Course Communications and Grading

Email Responses

- Between Monday and Friday I will respond to your email within 24 hours, normally between 8am-6pm. I try to check my email on the weekends, but sometimes I take a technology break and cannot guarantee a response until Monday morning. Please read the netiquette guidelines: <https://www.tamtu.edu/distance/students/netiquette.shtml>, as well as <https://www.britannica.com/topic/netiquette>. Always, consult the syllabus or the D2L General Course Question Discussion Forum to see if your questions has already been answered there.

“General Course Questions Discussion Forum” Responses

- General course questions (regarding material and policies) must be posted on the “Course Questions Forum” tool. The instructor will respond within 24 hours.
- Prior to posting your questions, do a keyword search for your topic. If no one else has asked your question, please post (provide several keywords at the top of your message to help others find it). Remember to subscribe to your post so that you will be e-mailed when it receives a response. Questions about grades or personal issues, must be emailed to the instructor through the D2L interface or campus email. Carefully select the people you wish to message as you do not want to send a message about a private matter to the entire class.
