COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description:

This course explores the study of women, gender and sexuality in the United States with primary focus from the mid-nineteenth through the twentieth centuries. The goal of this course is to encourage the analysis and discussion of the social, political, and economic meanings of gender in the United States by examining the experiences of women and men from a variety of cultural vantage points using both primary and secondary sources. Prerequisites: Non-majors may enroll with consent of department.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 1) Students will explore how to produce women, gender, and/or sexuality history for a public audience through visual and written materials.

MATERIALS:

Required Texts:

- 1) REQUIRED—Through Women's Eyes (Six-Months Access): An American History with Documents Fifth Edition by Ellen Carol DuBois and Lynn Dumenil. Ebook and Online Resources Achieve Read & Practice. (Ebook ISBN 978-1319256920)

Please NOTE: Macmillan Learning Publishing Company will supply a URL for students in the class to purchase access directly online for the Through Women's Eyes 5th edition Achieve Read & Practice Ebook and online resources from the publishing company. It has to be this edition, it has to be this electronic version, it has to be this ISBN—no other editions or versions will be accepted for the class.

- 2) REQUIRED—A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, Ninth Edition: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers (Chicago Guides to Writing, Editing, and Publishing), by Kate L. Turabian (University of Chicago Press). (Paperback ISBN: 978-0226430577)—any version paperback or Ebook for the Turabian is acceptable as long as it is Ninth Edition.

Any additional reading assignments other than those listed above, such as articles, videos, or primary documents, will be made available by the professor in class, put on reserve in Waters Library, posted in the online course, or made available through individual student arrangements with the professor.

Additional Class Materials: Paper and Writing Implements for taking notes & access to a computer, working email, and Internet.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Explanation of Evaluation Criteria:

11 TWE Online Assessments	25%
Digital Mini Exhibit Assignment #1	10%
Digital Mini Exhibit Assignment #2	10%
Podcast Assignment	15%
Digital Mini Exhibit Assignment #3 (Podcast accompanying)	15%
Class Attendance, Participation, and class activities	25%

Semester Total 100%

Grade Breakdown:

A = 89.5-100

B = 79.5-89.4

C = 69.5-79.4

D = 59.5-69.4

F = 0-59.4

Required Reading: All of us will read and discuss the books on the list. They are available for purchase at the campus bookstore, through the Internet, and at many regional book retailers.

Online Through Women's Eyes Assessments (combined 25% of the final grade): Students will purchase access to the eBook textbook and Achieve Read and Practice resources through a link provided by Macmillan Learning. Each week students will read the eBook assigned chapter and take the connected assessment. The online reading assessment is both short answer and multiple choice questions focused on the Through Women's Eyes 5th Edition eBook chapter and connected primary sources. All chapters and assessments will be open for students at the beginning of the semester and each will close after its designated due date. All deadlines will be set to close at 11:59 pm Central Time on the corresponding Sunday night. More information will be provided in class by the professor and through the online modules associated with the Ebook. These assessments are credit/no credit. Once a student has finished reading the Ebook chapter, the assessment will open and allow access for the testing. The entire week's assessment requirements must be met before the deadline to receive credit for that chapter, and students are encouraged to work ahead and not wait until right before the deadline because each chapter assessment takes a different amount of time depending on each student's reading comprehension and understanding of the material.

Digital Mini Exhibit Assignment #1 & #2 (10% each of the final grade): Each student will choose content from lists made available by Dr. Wranosky to create a digital mini exhibit that includes a script as the content similar than that which will be completed for the Digital Mini Exhibit and accompanying podcast assignment later in the semester. These short writing pieces will focus on contextualizing a primary source document, providing a short narrative/story about a community, event, or theme, or provide a short biographical glimpse that falls within the realm of US women's, gender, or sexuality history. More on this assignment will be provided to students in separate documents in class.

Digital Mini Exhibit Assignment #3 & accompanying Podcast Assignment (15% each of the final grade): Each student will choose content about a women's or gender history or related topic in Texas history to create a digital mini exhibit that includes a podcast script of a few minutes to be recorded for a public audience. A number of the class's choices will need to focus on Northeast Texas, when possible. These short writing pieces will contextualize a primary source document, provide a short narrative/story about a community, event, or theme, or offer a short biographical glimpse that falls within the realm of Texas history with the intent of presentation to a public audience. Students whose work meets certain expectations have the opportunity to be chosen to be played on the National Public Radio Station KETR and have the exhibit featured on the station's website. More on this assignment will be provided to students in separate documents in class.

Attendance and Class & Participation & Class Assigned Activities (25% of the final term grade): Class attendance is crucial to your success in this course. Developmental activities occur every day this class meets, and absences will adversely affect your grade. Habitual absences and tardiness are unacceptable. It is highly encouraged that you are in class promptly so that you do not miss anything or disrupt the rest of the students.

TURNITIN.COM: All typed assignments, exams, papers, and reviews must also have copies of the text uploaded to the appropriate listing in the course's online course D2L space, which will also run the submission through plagiarism software checking through a link to iParadigm's turnitin.com website. This information and directions for use will be provided to students in a separate document. Please note that no more than 20% of any material produced for another course by the student for this course will be accepted on any particular assignment. You must turn in original work produced for this course.

Class Calendar and Dates: While it is highly unlikely that the dates for the reading and assignments would change, I reserve the right to do so if the need presents itself. Any such changes will be announced in class or via the course website. The reading and writing assignments are due at the start of class and considered late thereafter.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Emailing the professor's university email address (Jessica.Wranosky@tamuc.edu) is the very best way to reach Dr. Wranosky. In every email, please make sure to provide your full name at the end, which course you are enrolled in, and a description of what your request or question is.

Dr. Wranosky will communicate with students through the email address they have on file in MyLeo (make sure yours is up to date and working throughout the semester) and D2L Online announcements, and any discussion forums in the online course shell. Please check these areas daily and before attending class. If an emergency arises, Dr. Wranosky will email students directly.

In all forms of class communication including all online forums, students are expected and required to maintain a respectful tone and use semiformal to formal language.
