COURSE INFORMATION

Materials

Advokat, C. D., Comaty, J. E., & Julien, R. M. (2019). Julien's primer of drug action: A comprehensive guide to the actions, uses, and side effects of psychoactive drugs (14th ed.). New York, New York: Worth Publishers.

(Not required) Stahl, S. M. (2017). Prescriber's guide: Stahl's essential psychopharmacology (6th ed.). New York, New York: Cambridge University Press.

Course Description

This course provides an examination of psychoactive medications and their use in the treatment of mental and behavioral disorders. The efficacy and safety of medications will be discussed. The course presents basic principles of pharmaco-therapy that are the rationales behind the pharmacological treatment of psychological disorders. Applied components will relate to the aspects of the course material to mental health service delivery. The class also examines the historical psychopharmacological perspective, basic pharmacology underlying the use of medication, and recent research in the field. Prerequisites: Admission to a Psychology Graduate program.

This course is intended to provide students an opportunity to use empirically-based data to evaluate pharmacological interventions available for psychological disorders. To accomplish this objective, students will have the opportunity to learn basic pharmacological principles, actions of pharmacological agents in the brain, adverse event profiles of common pharmacological agents, brief overview of the neuropsychiatric etiology of select psychiatric disorders, and empirically supported pharmacological treatment guidelines for psychiatric disorders. This information is designed to help advanced students be knowledgeable consumers regarding available psychopharmacological agents currently on the market. The information in this course is NOT designed to prepare students to make competent decisions regarding prescription of psychopharmacological agents.

Ultimately, my goal is for students to become knowledgeable about pharmacological interventions so that you support future clients in making INFORMED decisions about their mental health treatment options!

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Identify basic pharmacological principles and convey understanding in response to specific essay questions.
2. Discuss actions of pharmacological agents in the brain in essay questions about drug effects and adverse events.
3. Discuss how to identify a patient who may benefit from pharmacological treatment and prepare him/her for requesting and/or responding to a recommendation for pharmacological treatment. Will demonstrate through responses to case studies.
4. Present information about adverse event profiles of common pharmacological agents. Will do so by providing specific recommendations of patients depicted in case studies.
5. Review, analyze, synthesize and discuss empirically supported pharmacological treatment guidelines for common psychiatric disorders. Will demonstrate by responses to case studies of patients potentially likely to benefit from pharmacological treatment.
