

Course Description: This course examines major, contemporary issues in agriculture and food policy with emphasis on the ethical aspects of each issue. Discussion focuses on assessing the particular economic, cultural, geographic, political, religious, technological and scientific principles with a moral and ethical framework. Course scope is approximately half U.S. domestic issues and half international issues. Prerequisite: Junior standing.

Textbook

There is no specific textbook for this course. Material will come from a variety of sources including scientific and professional journals, publications from governmental agencies, information from agricultural organizations, and guest presenters. Other documents/handouts will be provided through your university D2L account.

Course Facebook Page

There will be a closed group page on Facebook specifically for AG 392 Applied Ethics. You must have a Facebook account to fully engage in this course. While you may be able to pass the course, without the Facebook page participation, you cannot make a grade of A in the course, without it. Our course Facebook page will be used to share introductions, two-minute speeches, and relevant current topics available on social media.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of the course the student will be able to-

- a. Learning Outcome 1: Students will be able to demonstrate knowledge of the interconnectedness of global dynamics (issues, processes, trends, and systems) in context of food production, processing, distribution, and consumption.
- b. Learning Outcome 2: Students will be able to apply knowledge of the interconnectedness of global dynamics as evidenced through course related activities and assignments.
- c. Learning Outcome 3: Students will be able to view themselves as engaged citizens within an interconnected and diverse world as reflected in the final Issues in Retrospect essay.

The professor reserves the right to modify this syllabus during the semester, if needed. The professor also reserves the right to extend credit for alternative assignments, projects, or presentations. Some elements of grading may be delegated to a teaching assistant for this course.

The following instructional objectives will guide course content to achieve these outcomes.

1. Recognize historical and contemporary issues of ethical concern in agriculture and food systems as well as in renewable resource utilization and conservation.
2. Identify, analyze, and utilize various sources/types of information and:
 - a. Discuss relevance to her/his profession.
 - b. Distinguish between facts, values, and beliefs.
 - c. Determine the credibility of the source.
 - d. Recognize limitations of the information.
3. Evaluate the pros (advantages) and cons (disadvantages) of contemporary issues in food, agriculture, and renewable natural resources.
4. Present contrasting viewpoints in a civil and effective manner.
5. Compose informative and persuasive essays on controversial topics.
6. Collaborate with team members of varied backgrounds, beliefs, and values.
7. Develop and deliver an informative or persuasive speech on an issue relevant to agriculture, food, and/or renewable natural resources.
8. Participate in the peer review assessment process.
9. Engage in public debate/discussion in a civil manner.
10. Identify sources of influence in the development of regulations and policies affecting the production, distribution, and management of food, agriculture, and natural resources systems.

Grade Determination:

	Possible Points
Completion of online discussions (12 @ 10 pts each)	120
Introductory video on Facebook	80
Prepared speech (2 minutes) on Facebook over student selected topic	100
Position research brief (pro or con term paper) over agricultural issue*	100
Final Issues in Retrospect Essay	100

* Assignment will serve as your global artifact for QEP purposes.

$$\text{Your Grade (\%)} = \frac{\text{Points Earned}}{500} \times 100$$

A = 90-100 B = 80-89 C = 70-79 D = 60-69 F = below 60%

Class Attendance and Participation in Discussions

Students are expected to discuss/reflect, as prompted, in weekly online discussions. Additionally, there will be a Facebook group page for this class where news clippings may be shared for further discussion. Send a request to join AG 392 Applied Ethics...

The professor reserves the right to modify this syllabus during the semester, if needed. The professor also reserves the right to extend credit for alternative assignments, projects, or presentations. Some elements of grading may be delegated to a teaching assistant for this course.

Prepared Informative or Persuasive Speech

Each student will develop a 2-minute speech on an instructor-approved topic. The student may use the rules for Texas FFA Extemporaneous Public Speaking or Texas University Interscholastic League (UIL) Persuasive or Informative Speaking guidelines as a suggested format. A group of students will be selected each week, beginning in Week 4 or 5, to record and present their speech on Facebook.

Research Brief

Students will select a topic from a pre-determined set of controversial (ethical dilemmas) agricultural issues. Each student will conduct background research on the topic and prepare a 3-5 page Position Research Brief (term paper) as directed in D2L including the use of in-text citations and reference page in APA format.

Issues in Retrospect Essay (in lieu of final exam)

Each student will compose an in-class essay that synthesizes the key elements of issues discussed, facts presented, and opinions shared during the course. The professor will provide 5-6 prompts from which the student will respond to 4. At least one of the four prompts will focus on a global issue. Essays will be hand-written in a Blue Book during the last regular class meeting. At the professor's discretion, he may choose to use a traditional objective final exam.

Written Assignments and Format

The Research Brief, presentation, and essays should be written in a format compatible with the American Psychological Association (APA) Manual for Publication, 7th edition. A synopsis and tutorial on scientific writing, including the use of APA format is available from the Online Writing Lab at Purdue University (<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/>). Personal face-to-face assistance with editing and format suggestions is available from the on-campus Writing Center at TAMU-Commerce.

The professor reserves the right to modify this syllabus during the semester, if needed. The professor also reserves the right to extend credit for alternative assignments, projects, or presentations. Some elements of grading may be delegated to a teaching assistant for this course.

COVID-19 Conditions and Response

During this COVID pandemic, you may face periods of isolation or restriction of movement. Since this is an online course, it is designed for your completion from anywhere that internet access exists. If you do not have internet access in your current residence, you need to identify how you will access your assignments if you cannot leave. This may include the use of a smart phone or other digital device that can offer connectivity. Most assignments can be completed offline, but the internet may be required for research, online discussions, and the uploading of assignments/projects. If you have a medical reason for an assignment to be delayed, I will excuse that. Internet access, or the lack of it, is not a medical excuse.

The professor reserves the right to modify this syllabus during the semester, if needed. The professor also reserves the right to extend credit for alternative assignments, projects, or presentations. Some elements of grading may be delegated to a teaching assistant for this course.
