PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Bachelor of Applied Arts and Sciences in Organizational Leadership (ORGL) degree is a competency-based program that prepares innovative leaders for employment in an increasingly technological and global society. This program provides opportunities for students to receive credit for what they know and can do already, allows them to accelerate completion of their degree, and — because it is fully online — students are able to plan their study schedule around the rest of their day to complete the coursework.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course requires an analysis, synthesis, and evaluation of the student's knowledge and skills including academic performance, teamwork experience, and workplace experience. Using current information, technology and resources the student will construct a professional profile. Students use problem-solving skills to analyze, evaluate and recommend an implementation plan addressing an organizational leadership issue or problem. A main factor in evaluating student performance is the input from multiple stakeholders including employers and faculty. Prerequisites: Departmental approval required.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Completion of this course provides the student with the knowledge to:

- (1) Apply appropriate leadership theories in a variety of settings.
- (2) Identify, recognize, understand, and explain ideas or concepts related to leadership;
- (3) Apply or implement concepts or knowledge in real-life or practical leadership situations;
- (4) Analyze or connect concepts and practices to existing knowledge about leadership;
- (5) Evaluate or form informed opinions or judgments on leadership; and the most important,
- (6) Introduce, create, or produce new ideas, knowledge, or understanding about leadership in a variety of organizational settings.

This course requires four assignments and culminates with a formal, scholarly paper that requires the student to interview two leaders and integrate what you have learned with what these leaders share with you about their personal experiences.

PROGRAM GOALS

This course supports the following program goals:

1. Leadership Foundation (LF) - Identify, analyze, and articulate effective leader vision, attributes, and interpersonal skills (e.g., communication, relationship building).
2. Data / Information Literacy (D/IL) – Identify, locate, and evaluate key performance areas & metrics, and relevant data types/sources, collection, and distribution.
3. Data Analysis / Quantitative Decision Making (DA/QDM) – Select, analyze, and interpret data for sound decision making.
4. Ethical Decisions / Social Responsibility (ED/SR) – Solve organizational ethical issues analyzing multiple perspectives, consequences, core ethical competency/behaviors, and the role of power and influence.
5. Organizational Behavior (OB) – Identify, analyze, and solve organizational problems by promoting positive individual, group, and organizational behaviors while managing negative behaviors or conflicts.
6. Strategic Management and Leadership (SML) – Analyze and evaluate strengths/weaknesses/opportunities/threats, and improve resources, process

UNIVERSITY GOALS

This course supports the following University goals:

1. Critical Thinking Skills (CT): to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation, and synthesis of information;

2. Communication Skills (C): to include effective development, interpretation, and expression of ideas through written, oral, and visual communication;
3. Empirical and Quantitative Skills (EQ): to include the manipulation and analysis of numerical data or observable facts resulting in informed conclusions;
4. Teamwork (T): to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal;
5. Personal Responsibility (PR): to include the ability to connect choices, actions, and consequences to ethical decision-making; and
6. Social Responsibility (SR): to include intercultural competence, knowledge of civic responsibility, and ability to engage effectively in regional, nation, and global communities.

REGULAR AND SUBSTANTIVE COURSE INTERACTION

As a general guide, students enrolled in a three-semester hour course should spend one hour engaged in instructional activities and two to three hours on out-of-class work per week in a traditional semester. Students are expected to double this effort of engagement given that this course is being delivered in a seven-week term. Educational activities in this course are designed to ensure regular and substantive interaction between students and faculty to ensure that students are able to demonstrate competency.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed: Students must be skilled in the use of D2L, Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, ePortfolio creation, and video capturing and editing software. Broadband internet access and connection, computer speakers, headphone, microphone, and webcam or camera are required.

Instructional Methods: This course is an online course. To be successful in this course, all content and rubrics should be reviewed. All assignments must be completed. Please contact me by email for any assistance.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course: It is your responsibility to log in the course website regularly (several times each week), to comply with all the course requirements and to engage actively in all required class activities. Read carefully the expectations for required writing assignments, engage in good formal writing, and follow the APA style of referencing.

ASSESSMENT

1. 10 points on Unit 1, Introduction Video
2. 10 points on Unit 2, Traits, Characteristics, Actions and Behaviors
3. 10 points on Unit 3, Situational Leadership
4. 70 points on Unit 4, Leadership in Action Paper

The following grading scheme will be used for each of the above assignments:

A=90 to 100 points

B=80 to 89 points

F=79 points or lower

Grading Rubrics

Rubrics have been developed for each assignment. These rubrics are located in the content section for each assignment. They describe the criteria/dimension for each assignment and provides in detail what is required for an A and a B in the course.
