COURSE INFORMATION

TEXTBOOK:

Title: Police Operations: Theory and Practice (6th Edition)

Authors: Hess, Orthmann & Cho

Publisher: Cengage (ISBN: 9781285052625)

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course examines in a general survey format the establishment and functioning of police services in a democratic society. The course will focus on types of police agencies, their organizational structure, administration; police ethics, use of authority and police community interaction.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

At the completion of this course, the student will be able to:

1. The student will examine the history and nature of policing.
2. The student will explore the principals and goals that guide contemporary policing.
3. The student will contemplate some of the major challenges facing police officers and administrators.
4. The student will be exposed to current academic research on policing.
5. The student will become familiar with the physical and psychological dangers that law enforcement officers face.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed:

Basic understanding of Microsoft Office programs

Internet browsing

Instructional Methods:

Online class

Attendance, Online Participation Requirement:

Attendance in the course is measured through online participation. In fulfillment of course requirements, it is suggested that you be active in this course every week. This will be done through accessing D2L each week at your convenience. Online participation includes being actively engaged in reading online lectures, reading supplemental material, posting questions to the Q&A discussion board and reading the Q&A discussion board. Online participation may be monitored by the professor and used when determining borderline grades.

Online Assignment and Exam Submission:

- ALL SUBMISSIONS MUST BE MADE BY 10PM.
- Late posts and assignments are not accepted and a score of zero will be assigned.

Reading Assignments:

You are required to buy/rent the textbook and complete all readings. You will not score well in this course without the textbook, since many exam questions come directly from the text and written assignments require textbook page number citation.

Quizzes:

Students are required to take quizzes during the assigned module as scheduled on the course syllabus. No make-up quizzes or advance quizzes will be offered.

The quiz is open-book/notes, timed, randomized and in sequential order – meaning that no two quizzes are the same. It is strongly suggested that you take your quiz in a quiet space with a reliable computer and consistent Internet connection.

There are NO QUIZ RESETS. Once accessed, the timing begins and you may only take the quiz one time. Once submitted, it can't be re-opened or modified.

- You must answer each question that appears on screen. If you skip a question without answering, it is marked as incorrect and you cannot return to the question later.
- You will not be able to re-take a exam because:
 - "I entered the wrong answer."
 - "My internet/wifi went down."
 - "My computer froze/crashed."
 - "My battery died."
 - "D2L kicked me out/logged me off."
 - "My electricity went out."
 - "I submitted the entire exam by accident. I only meant to submit an answer to a question."
 - "I skipped all of the questions because I thought I could return to them later."

Contacting Professor with Questions – D2L Discussion Board

MANDATORY: Post all questions regarding class, assignments and quizzes on the Discussion Board. The instructor prioritizes these posted questions before e-mail and voicemail. This method benefits all students in the class, since others may have similar questions. Only e-mail if you have a personal emergency.

Grades:

Individual grades on assignments are posted in D2L in order to assist students in monitoring their academic progress throughout the semester. All final grades are posted via the D2L.

Extra Credit:

Any extra credit opportunities will be discussed in class. If offered, extra credit will be available to all students in the course, not individual students.

Virtual Classroom Rules:

- You are free to discuss individual thoughts and opinions during class discussion periods, however, be sure to be courteous to your fellow classmates and professor via all posts.
- Please be tolerant toward comments and opinions for which you do not agree; tolerance is a reciprocal process for all students. The professor will not tolerate any remarks that are personally demeaning, or offensive.
- If disruptive behaviors arise in the online discussion board, the professor and Department Chair will contact you to discuss dropping the course.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism is generally defined as the presentation of the ideas and/or the words of someone else as one's own. Examples of plagiarizing material include using a person's written words or ideas from a variety of different sources (internet, classmate's paper, book, journal article, etc.) without proper documentation. Plagiarism is taken very seriously and the student will be fully punished if caught plagiarizing material within this course. This course uses plagiarism software, which is integrated within D2L.

You commit plagiarism if you use, copy and paste or paraphrase:

- Any part of an assignment submitted by a student from a previous semester
- Any part of an assignment written by/shared with a current classmate (collaboration work, group work and split work are NOT allowed)
- Any part of another person's written words without correct documentation
- Any part of another person's ideas without correct documentation, including any part of a website, book, encyclopedia, magazine article, journal article, newspaper article or any other source used without correct documentation.
- Plagiarism is punished in a variety of ways. If collaboration/shared work is found, BOTH the student who copied and the student who allowed their work to be copied will be reported. The student(s) may fail the assignment and/or the entire course. The Dean may take additional actions.
- To avoid such punishments: do not plagiarize others and do not allow other students/friends to view your work at any time, no matter the circumstances.

Student Expectations:

- Check D2L, course schedule, assignment due dates and your e-mail every day.
- Post any questions to the Discussion Board.
- Keep up with your reading assignments and lecture slides. Don't fall behind!
- Practice "Netiquette":
 - Be polite and respectful in your postings
 - Use proper grammar and correct spelling
 - Do not write in all caps

Professor Expectations:

- I will be available during scheduled office hour appointments.
- I will read questions posted to the Discussion Board daily during the week.
- I will respond to your post within 48 hours.
- I will post announcements and reminders at the beginning of the semester.
- I will update your grades as quickly as possible.

How to get an "A" in this online class:

- Know your due dates and submit all assignments on time!
- Confirm that your submissions were properly uploaded by clicking the My Grades tab.
- Set aside a specific time during the day for this course. Use this time for preparation (reading, studying) and for participation (Q&A posts, exams).
- Keep up with the readings.
- Post all questions for the professor to the Discussion Board. No email or voicemail.
- Study, study, study!
- Schedule enough time in advance to finish all assignments and quizzes. Be aware that D2L is often not accessible due to being "under maintenance" and late submissions will not be accepted.

Tips for success:

- Since you have most of the reading materials available to you at the beginning of the semester, you can do much of the reading in advance.
- Your hard work at the beginning of the semester will pay off toward the end of the semester, as deadlines from other courses often pile up. Keep ahead of deadlines to remain stress free.
