Course Description

English 1301 Introduces students to writing as an extended, complex, recursive process and prepares students for English 1302, which more rigorously examines the forms and structures of argument and means to approaching multiple audiences. In 1301 students will write weekly and will work on essay organization and development. The course will emphasize close reading, summarizing, and analysis of expository texts, including student writing.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to analyze, evaluate, or solve problems when given a set of circumstances, data, texts, or art.
2. In written, oral, and/or visual communication, A&M-Commerce students will communicate in a manner appropriate to audience and occasion, with an evident message and organizational structure.
3. Students will be able to work together toward a shared purpose relevant to the course or discipline with a sense of shared responsibility for meeting that purpose.
4. Students will understand and practice academic honesty.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional / Methods / Activities Assessments

The class will primarily be lecture based, but students will also be participating online through D2L and Top Hat. I will also have students break off into groups for collaborative work, peer reviews, and presentations. We will also be doing a lot of reading and writing activities in this class, and I may have students post discussions and do quizzes on D2L. Students will also answer the “Before Reading Questions” and “After Reading Questions” on Top Hat, while also discussing the readings in class to share and expand on their thoughts. I may give out pop quizzes during the first ten minutes of class, a good way to avoid pop-quizzes is to participate in class. We will be writing almost every class period during activities, and in-class writings Students, please note that your textbook is available on Top Hat.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

It is expected that you will participate in Top Hat every week, usually on multiple occasions. All students should check their email daily and log into D2L at a minimum once every day Monday-Friday. To succeed in this course, you should also complete all the required reading and activities in Top Hat.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- No inappropriate cell phone usage!!! Appropriate cell phone use would be to look up information for class or to use D2L, MyLeo, or Top Hat. Inappropriate cell phone use would involve using social media accounts, texting, and taking/making phone calls or facetimes, or anything else that I determine distracting. Please use your electronic devices responsibly.
- CHECK YOUR LEOMAIL, D2L, and Top Hat OFTEN!!! Announcements will be posted on D2L and any syllabus updates/changes. I will also communicate often through leomail. Your textbook access and reading questions are on Top Hat.
- ALWAYS KEEP A BACKUP OF YOUR WORK!
- Everyone will be courteous and patient with each other. We may be hitting some issues in this class where students disagree. So, we will conduct ourselves with grace and professionalism to promote an environment that is calm and conducive to learning.
- I recommend reading and/or writing your assignments as soon as possible. I also suggest that you read assignments at least two-three times. The creative process takes time, you need to sit with your ideas and ruminate.
- You must be ready to discuss the readings right as class begins.
- DO THE READINGS AND QUESTIONS ON TOP HAT! THEY ARE DUE THE DAY WE DISCUSS THE READINGS!!!! Sometimes, we will do the “After” questions together in-class on day the reading is due. Sometimes, the “Before” and “After” questions are BOTH due before class. WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENTS AND YOUR CHECKLIST ON D2L!!!
- Come to class.

Writing Center

The Writing Center offers writers free, one-on-one assistance. We offer 45min sessions, online or face-to-face, that writers can book from our website: www.tamuc.edu/writing-center

We welcome all writers, majors, and disciplines—undergraduate and graduate students alike (faculty and staff too!). Research shows that all workers benefit from sharing their work with a focused reader. The Writing Center staff is trained to support writers in any stage of the writing process (from the blank page to polishing sentences), and we work with writers to verbalize writing goals and to stay on track with larger writing projects. We work with any form of writing (academic and nonacademic). The writers usually bring projects like important emails, weekly writing assignments, midterm and final essays, and theses and dissertations. Contact us with any questions here: writingcenter@tamuc.edu

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

GRADING

As a scholar, I believe that grades are often tools of surveillance and control. I do not find grades productive for learning, and I feel that they limit the learning process, create bad habits designed to “get the A,” and cause more anxiety than they are worth. Research suggests the limits of grades and the benefits of going “gradeless.” However, I also realize that grades are important data points for you – your scholarships, majors, future jobs, and ability to graduate are all tied up in the grades you earn. To balance my distrust of grades with the requirements of the university, we will work on a feedback and labor model, which will be codified in a grading agreement we negotiate at the beginning of the semester. This means you will receive (a lot of) feedback from me and your peers throughout the semester with the expectation that you use that feedback to continually revise, rethink, and remix your work.

For the most part, the only “grade” you will receive during the semester will be:

- full credit: project was completed, turned in promptly. Strong effort.
- half credit: project wasn't complete and/or prompt but effort was evident.
- no credit: project wasn't complete and/or prompt.
- excused: incomplete project due to uncontrollable circumstances. Please note: this will only happen in extreme circumstances and will likely involve you doing an alternative assignment**

However, this course is not “gradeless” because I, begrudgingly, must enter a final course grade at the end of the term. At the end of the semester, I will review your work, my various responses to your work throughout the semester, your attempts to compose something of quality, and your general fortitude and determine a final grade using our grading agreement and the standard TAMUC grading scale. You may always meet with me to discuss your progress in the course (though don't expect me to give you a “grade”).

THE BREAKDOWN

Your grade in this course will be primarily based on five categories: writing assignments, reading assignments, attendance, collaboration, and fortitude. Below, each of these categories is expanded upon with specific details about completing the assignments.

1. Writing Assignments: Throughout the semester you have five major writing assignments, drafts, and various small writing tasks (e.g., discussion board responses). In terms of your labor, you are expected to complete all writing assignments, and because each assignment builds into the next part of the course, your success on future writing assignments depends on the effort you put into even early assignments. All assignments should be turned in on time and meet at least the minimum goals set in the individual project prompts. Missed work is work that you either missed the point or missed the deadline; however, you demonstrate some effort. Ignored work is work never submitted.

2. Reading Assignments: What and how you read directly influences what and how you write. In this course, we are going to build strong writing habits but also generative reading habits. For every reading assigned, then, you should annotate the text / take notes in whatever format is most comfortable for you. It would also be good practice to annotate your research and readings for other courses. Your reading knowledge will be measured by your participation in class discussion boards as well as your ability to demonstrate an understanding of research through writing.

3. Attendance: The best way to learn in this course is to attend class. Now, I recognize a lot of professors say this; however, because this course primarily functions through class discussion and small group exchanges, missing class excessively will put you at a disadvantage on the major assignments. Additionally, missing class potentially means you'll miss small in-class writing assignments. As noted in the syllabus, you are allowed 6 absences without penalty—excused and unexcused. Perfect attendance can help bump up your final grade.

4. Collaboration: As mentioned above and on the syllabus, this course has a lot of large and small group discussions during every week. In the process of completing your major writing projects, you will be put into a group in which you will read and offer feedback on your peers' drafts. Collaboration is a mix of leading, listening, debating, and agreeing. Don't be the person the group rolls their eyes at because you aren't contributing your fair share. Additionally, don't forget that I'm here to be a collaborator as well, and I strongly encourage you to meet with me outside of class.

5. Fortitude: I'm going to ask you to take some risks this semester. Writing prompts will probably be less specific than you'd like, my answers to your questions may inspire more questions, and you may have difficulties with your working group. Oh, plus we don't know if D2L will play nice...so there's that. Because writing and learning are messy endeavors that require lots of time, energy, and labor, I ask that you show fortitude this semester. Fortitude is generally defined as "courage in adversity" and is synonymous with endurance. These characteristics, I believe, are more important to your learning than "participation" in the traditional sense.

Beyond these minimum requirements, to earn an A, additional labor is needed. *

■ Remix 3 Ways: Students will be assigned concepts related to composition and create three different approaches to transferring knowledge/meaning, each to a different audience, creating an (1) artifact, (2) a video, and (3) a blueprint/prototype for their respective audiences.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

How Will This Labor-Based Grading Work Out for My Final Grade?

So, with all of this in mind, let's break it down. I promised that everyone who meets the minimum expectations will leave this course with a B (85%; 3.00). Here is a quick guide:

Grade	Attendance	# Missed Major Assignments	# Ignored Major Assignments	In-Class + Homework Assignments	Fortitude	Extra Project
A (4.0)	≤ 6 absences	1	0	90% - 100%	strong	+1
B (3.0)	≤ 6 absences	2	0	80% - 89%	good
C (2.0)	≤ 7-11 absences	3	1	70% - 79%	average
D (1.0)	≤ 12-14 absences	4	2	60% - 69%	low
F (0.0)	≥ 14 absences	≥ 5	≥ 3	≤ 59%	none

Assessments

Assignment Name	Due Dates
Writing Assignment #1: Narrating Literacy	29 September
Writing Assignment #2: Expanding Literacy	20 October
Writing Assignment #3: Group Presentation & Reflection	3 November
Writing Assignment #4: Tensions in Literacy	22 November
Writing Assignment #5: Final Reflective Project	13 December
Quizzes / Participation	Every week/class period
In-class writing/ Reading responses/Homework	Every week/class period
Extra Project (for "A"): Remix 3 Ways	13 December

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

You will need:

- Flash drive or other means (dropbox.com account, for example) of storing digital versions of the essays and other written material you generate (always, always keep a backup of everything you turn in!)
- A valid, working email address that you check often (everyday)
- Regular internet access (additional readings available online)

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- Access to a computer with a word processing program and a printer (assignments must be typed and printed)
- Ability to print 30-50 pages throughout the semester (funds, ink, paper, etc.)
- Many teachers require students to access an eCollege course shell for supplemental course information

PLEASE bring your digital device of choice to use in class: smart phone, tablet or laptop. All devices will need to be placed on silent mode for the duration of the class, and please download the "TopHat" app and click the join code to access TOP HAT for this class

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

You will need your campus-wide ID (CWID) and password to log into the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact the Center for IT Excellence (CITE) at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@tamuc.edu.

Note: Personal computer and internet connection problems do not excuse the requirement to complete all course work in a timely and satisfactory manner. Each student needs to have a backup method to deal with these inevitable problems. These methods might include the availability of a backup PC at home or work, the temporary use of a computer at a friend's home, the local library, office service companies, Starbucks, a TAMUC campus open computer lab, etc.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Interaction with Instructor Statement

As your instructor, I am here not only here to provide assistance with your academic needs in this class but also act as a mentor. Trouble understanding the content? Need suggestions and advice on papers and assignments? Have you come down with an illness or any other kind of emergency? Simply want to stop and chat? Please email me as soon as possible or drop by during office hours! I am in your corner, and I want you to succeed in my class

Emails: If you need to email me, please do so in proper format. In the “subject” line of your email, please give me a very short summary, in no more than a few words, as to why you are emailing me (i.e., “Sick—Will Not Be in Class Today”). Also, please compose your email with proper introductions (ex: “Dear Mr. Estringel”), followed by your body paragraphs, and then end with proper salutations (ex: “Sincerely,” “Best”, etc.) with your name underneath them.

Office Hours: I have open office hours, so students from any of my classes may access me during said hours. Unless students have made an appointment with me, I will see them individually at a “first come, first serve” basis.
