Office Hours:

The following office hours are the official times that I will be available for drop-in student consultation. I have an open door policy when possible and will try to assist students any time that I am available. However, occasionally the demands of class preparation, my role at the university, and service prohibit immediate drop-in service. You are welcome to email me to arrange a meeting time.

Monday-Thursday 8:30am to 2:00pm and/or by appointment.

Creswell, J.W. (2013). Qualitative Inquiry and Research Design: Choosing Among Five Approaches, Los Angeles: Sage Publications, Inc.

Course Description: Qualitative Research - Three semester hours This course investigates the different strategies/methods of conducting qualitative research such as conducting effective interviews, participant observation, and document analysis (data mining). Students will learn about the different research designs associated with qualitative research and explore data analysis and establishing validity/reliability for qualitative research.

The instructor reserves the right to modify this syllabus during the semester, if needed. The instructor also reserves the right to extend credit for alternative assignments, projects, or presentations.

Course Objectives:

Upon completion of this course and associated activities, the student should be able to:

1. Describe the value of qualitative methodology in educational research.
2. Identify and analyze different qualitative methodologies
3. Develop in-depth skills for interpretive research design. Specifically, the student will be able to:
 - a. Identify and demonstrate narrative research,
 - b. Identify and demonstrate phenomenology research,
 - c. Identify and demonstrate grounded theory research,
 - d. Identify and demonstrate ethnography research,
 - e. Identify and demonstrate case study research.
4. Describe data collection and analysis methods and protocols
5. Describe and differentiate the qualitative equivalents to validity and reliability
6. Develop a proposed or hypothetical study incorporating qualitative methodologies and author the first three chapters of the study.
