Course Description

English 100 supports students in successfully completing their ENG 1301 course which is taken concurrently. Students will work with their instructor to strengthen drafts of ENG 1301 writing assignments. Students will better understand the writing process, and they will also work individually on any challenges they may face when writing academic texts. In addition, students will work on their reading skills in this course.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to analyze, evaluate, or problem-solve when given a set of circumstances, data, text, or art.

2. In written, oral, and/or visual communication, A&M Commerce Students will communicate in a manner appropriate to audience and occasion with an evident message and organizational structure.
3. Students will be able to work together toward a shared purpose relevant to the course or discipline with a sense of shared responsibility for meeting that purpose.
4. Students will understand and practice academic honesty.

Course Requirements

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

You will need:

- Flash drive, data stick, thumb drive, or other means of storing digital versions of the essays and other material you generate. *Always keep a backup of EVERYTHING you turn in.
- A valid, working email address that you check often e.g., every day. I will email the class through D2L so be sure this is the email you check.
- Regular internet access.
- Access to a computer with a word processing program and a printer. Your assignments must be typed and uploaded into D2L in a doc or docx file format. *Please note that Apple Pages is not readable in D2L.

Instructional Methods

This is a F2F section that meets Monday, Wednesday, and Friday each week unless there is a University holiday. Please be aware that we may transition to an online format if the University deems it necessary to do so. If this happens, I will discuss with the class what and how we will continue at that time. We will cover the material weekly as scheduled unless the instructor makes changes. Any changes will be communicated to the students in advance and are in response to unforeseen circumstances, student needs, etc.

Student Responsibilities and Tips for Success in the Course

Please participate in the class discussions and activities in each session, and make sure you complete the reading assignment so you can participate fully and make the most of the discussion. This can include asking a question about the reading, answering a classmate's question, bringing up something that made you think differently, or something that made you curious. It makes class more interesting when everyone participates and deepens learning. Please complete your writing assignments on time. If you need extra time for an assignment, let's talk about it. I can be very flexible if I know about it beforehand. If you wait until after the due date, there is very little I can do for you.

Please be considerate of others and follow these guidelines:

- put your phone away by silencing your phone and avoid texting/net surfing while in class
- prepare before coming to class by completing any reading & writing assignments
- be on time
- participate by engaging in class discussions, listening attentively, taking notes, asking questions when confused, answering questions, etc.
- stay in class until dismissed

If you are having difficulties with the course, please do not hesitate to talk to me. I am available to you throughout the semester. Send me an email or pop into office hours and we can discuss things there or make an appointment for a one-on-one conference.

Grading

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%; B = 80%-89%; C = 70%-79%; D = 60%-69%; F = 59% or Below

Weights of the assessments in the calculation of the final letter grade.

Reading Assignments/Activities	20%
Attendance and Participation	25%
Writing Practice	35%
Final Project	20%
Total Points possible	100%

C (70/100) or above is needed to pass this course.

Final project

The final paper should include: title, key words, introduction, body parts, conclusion, and references (APA style)

Body parts: at least 600 words. 2 pages minimum. 12 pt Times New Roman font. line spacing: 1.5 lines.

Please utilize as many of the topics we covered in this class, use a variety of sentence lengths, write a rough draft, and ask someone else to read it, etc.

Technology Requirements

LMS

All course sections offered by Texas A&M University-Commerce have a corresponding course shell in the myLeo Online Learning Management System (LMS). Below are technical requirements.

Access and Navigation

You will need your campus-wide ID (CWID) and password to log into the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact the Center for IT Excellence (CITE) at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@tamuc.edu.

Please Note: Personal computer and internet connection problems happen to everyone at one time or another. It is a good idea to have a back-up plan in place should they occur during the semester. These plans might include the availability of a backup PC at home or work, the temporary use of a computer at a friend's home, the local library, office service companies, Starbucks, a TAMUC campus open computer lab, etc. Remember to keep track of your CWID and password so you can access the course.

Communication and Support

If you have any questions or are having difficulties with the course material, please contact me. My email is listed above as well as open office hours. If you need to see me outside those times, email me to make an appointment. I am a support person dedicated to your success in this course. Allow me to be that person for you.

The Writing Center

The Writing Center offers writers free, one-on-one assistance. We currently only offer 45min, online sessions that writers can book from our website: www.tamuc.edu/writing-center
We welcome all writers, majors, and disciplines—undergraduate and graduate students alike (faculty and staff too!). Research shows that all workers benefit from sharing their work with a focused reader. The Writing Center staff is trained to support writers in any stage of the writing process (from the blank page to polishing sentences), and we work with writers to verbalize writing goals and to stay on track with larger writing projects. We work with any form of writing (academic and nonacademic). The writers with whom we work usually bring projects like important emails, weekly writing assignments, midterm and final essays, and theses and dissertations. Contact us with any questions here: writingcenter@tamuc.edu

Technical Support

If you are having technical difficulty with any part of Brightspace, please contact Brightspace Technical Support at 1-877-325-7778. Other support options can be found here: <https://community.brightspace.com/support/s/contactsupport>

Grievance Procedure:

Students who have concerns regarding their courses should first address those concerns with the assigned instructor to reach a resolution. Students who are unsatisfied with the outcome of that conversation or have not been able to meet individually with their instructor, whether in-person, by email, by telephone, or by another communication medium, should then schedule an appointment with the Director of Writing, Dr. Ashanka Kumari, Ashanka.kumari@tamuc.edu
Before an appointment is scheduled, the student must provide clearly documented and explained issues as to why the meeting is being requested. The student must also state when they discussed the issue in person or via phone (not email) with the instructor already. Where applicable, students should also consult University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.05 (“Student Appeal of Instructor Evaluation”).

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

Attendance:

Since this class is about writing, we will make it a priority to write. It is necessary for you to be here for every class to receive full points toward your Weekly writing assignment. Please bring a pen/pencil, paper, and your journal notebook for each class. The instructor will record your attendance on an attendance paper for each class.

The University has no policy for “excused absences” except for University sanctioned events, so please save your absences for illness, court appearances, child care arrangements, or other situations where you must miss class. If you miss class, see me so we can discuss the assignments.

Academic Honesty/Plagiarism:

The official departmental policy: “Instructors in the Department of Literature and Languages do not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. Instructors uphold and support the highest academic standards, and students are expected to do likewise. Penalties for students guilty of academic dishonesty include disciplinary probation, suspension, and expulsion. (Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct 5.b [1,2,3])

I want to share this quote by Kevin Gannon in his article in The Chronicle of Higher Education:
Creators should be able to control what we create; appropriating others’ ideas or labor without credit or attribution is theft; no creators want their stuff stolen. The entire scholarly enterprise depends upon an adherence to those norms. Citation and attribution are also important ways to ensure that scholarly discourse is open to all voices and does not silence marginalized or minority perspectives. In that regard, plagiarism can be a form of censorship, in that it removes someone’s voice (and by extension, scholarly identity) from the conversation.

I like to think of plagiarism in this light. Most of the time this happens unintentionally. If you ever have any questions about a particular use of a source, always ask your instructor (me). They (I) want you to avoid plagiarism, too, so they (I) will help you do so whenever and wherever they (I) can. Do what you can to take advantage of this support – to look innocent in addition to being innocent when it comes to charges of plagiarism. Students guilty of academic dishonesty or plagiarism can expect to fail the assignment in question or the entire course depending on the nature of the incident.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

University Specific Procedures Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook.
