Course Description:

(COMM 1307) A discursive study of mass media organizations, how they operate and exert their influence on individuals and society, enabling students to become knowledgeable and self critical consumers of mass media content. The emphasis will be on those media engaged in news and public affairs reporting and commentary, especially the press and television.

Student Learning Outcomes: Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of what mass media is, cultural periods and development of mass media, and central theories and methods for researching media effects.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of the fundamental types, purposes, and relevance of each type of mass communication.

3. Demonstrate an understanding of mass media in historic, economic, political, and cultural realms.
4. Demonstrate an understanding of the business aspects of mass media and the influence of commercialism.
5. Demonstrate an understanding of evolving media technologies and relevant issues and trends to the globalization of mass media.
6. Demonstrate an understanding of mass media values, ethics, laws, and industry guidelines of mass media.

At the end of the course, the student will have experienced a discursive study of mass media organizations and how they operate and exert their influence on individuals and society to enable students to become knowledgeable and self-critical consumers of mass media content. The emphasis will be on those media engaged in news and public affairs reporting and commentary, especially the press and television.

Regular and Substantive Course Interaction

As a general guide, students enrolled in a three semester hour course should spend one hour engaged in instructional activities and two to three hours on out-of-class work per week in a traditional semester. Students are expected to double this effort of engagement given that this course is being delivered in a seven-week term. Educational activities in this course are designed to ensure regular and substantive interaction between students and faculty to ensure that students are able to demonstrate competency.

Course Requirements:

Minimal Technical Skills Needed: Students will need a reliable computer and internet access for this course. Students must be able to effectively use myLeo email, myLeo Online D2L, and Microsoft Office.

Instructional Methods:

This course is an online course. To be successful in this course, all content and course modules should be read and reviewed. All assignments and quizzes (both graded and not graded) must be completed. Please contact the instructor by email for any assistance.

This is a 7-week course divided into 5 competencies. Each competency has specific chapters to study. In addition to the reading materials, there are learning activities and videos to deepen your communication skills.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course: To be successful in this course, all content and course modules should be read and reviewed. All assignments and quizzes (both graded and not graded) should be completed. Please contact the instructor by email for any assistance.

Assessment:

Your final grade is your average score on the post-tests only. Each competency is equally weighted. Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

Grading:

Each post-test is an assessment of your knowledge of the material required for the competency. A score of 80 points or higher is required on each posttest to demonstrate competency. If you score less than 80 points on any competency you will have an opportunity to review the material and re-take the competency posttest. You may take the posttest assessment up to three times. If you have not passed the competency in three attempts, you will work with your advisor to determine another method of fulfilling the program requirements in this subject. In order to demonstrate competency, a score of 80 points or higher is required. There is also a pretest for each competency. The purpose of the pretest is to provide a baseline understanding of your knowledge in this competency. The pretest is required for the course but is not part of your final grade.

Grading Scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

F = 79% or Below
