A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%
F = 59% or Below

Assessments

Writing Assignments

Creative Projects

Note: Creative projects will comprise less than 15% of your final grade. Students will not be required to purchase specialized art supplies to complete these assignments.

Quizzes/Exams

COURSE POLICIES:

Attendance: This is a web-based class that does not meet as a class on a particular day at a specific time. Rather, class material will be posted on D2L each Tuesday and Thursday along with a related assignment. Students will have about a week to complete and turn in each assignment on D2L. Keeping up with assignments and completing them in order is necessary to successfully complete this course.

Academic dishonesty: Instructors are required to use Turnitin.com for written assessment to help with plagiarism.

There is zero tolerance for academic dishonesty in this class. Be sure that you understand what constitutes academic dishonesty (e.g., plagiarism, cheating on exams, theft of instructional material or exams, representing the work of someone else as one's own, etc.). Academic dishonesty is a severe transgression in college and may result in referral to the Dean of Students, dismissal from class, expulsion from the University, and a failing grade.

Interaction with Instructor Statement

I will communicate with students via email, D2L, phone, Facetime, Zoom and/or YouSeeYou (My Leo / D2L) as needed. Students needing additional guidance in regard to coursework are encouraged to email me so I can answer course questions, or assist by scheduling a phone or video meeting.

Please see the contact information at the beginning of the syllabus regarding appointments and response time.

COURSE SCHEDULE

Class material, each with a related assignment, will be posted each Tuesday and Thursday (with the exception of recognized holidays), about 1 p.m., throughout the semester on D2L.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

The first day that content with the related assignment will be posted is Tuesday, January 17th. Students will have about a week to access, complete, and turn in each assignment.

For example, on Tuesday, January 17th, course content will be posted about 1 p.m. The relating assignment will be included in this post. Students will have until 11:59 p.m. on Thursday, January 24th, to complete and turn in the assignment given on Tuesday, January 17th.

Additional course content, with a related assignment, will be posted about 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, January 19th. Students will have until 11:59 p.m., January 26th, to complete and turn in the assignment given on Thursday, January 19th.

Unless otherwise communicated, this Tuesday and Thursday schedule of posted content, assignments and assignment due dates will continue throughout the semester (with exceptions of holidays).

Specific assignments will be given one-at-a time throughout the semester, as most feed off of the previous assignment. The first lesson and assignment will focus on what art is, why art is important, and what makes something art (as opposed to non-art). This class is designed to be exciting for art and non-art majors. Art has the wonderful ability to change the way people think and feel. It is my hope that each student, regardless of major, gains a greater understanding of, and appreciation for, art with each assignment.
