Course Description

This course provides students with information on advanced techniques of practice and program assessment. Both qualitative and quantitative research designs are taught. Evaluation research design, instrument selection and development and techniques of data analysis are addressed. Ethical and behavioral issues in evaluation research are presented with special emphasis on vulnerable populations within rural and urban environments and the intersection of the two.

Prerequisites:

Students must have completed all MSW foundation curriculum requirements; been admitted to the MSW program; and be in good standing in the MSW program.

Relationship to Other Courses:

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) requires a competency-based approach to identify and assess what students demonstrate in practice. In social work, this approach involves assessing students' ability to demonstrate the competencies identified in the educational policy. Listed below are the competencies and associated knowledge, skills, values and/or cognitive and affective processes that comprise the expected outcomes for this course.

	Activity/Assessment	Dimension
Competency 4: Engage in Practice-Informed Research and Research-Informed Practice
Use practice experience and theoretical underpinning of evidence-based practice models to inform scientific inquiry and research	Research Proposal Group Survey Design	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values
Apply advanced level critical thinking to engage in analysis of quantitative and qualitative research methods and research findings;	Research Proposal Group Survey Design Article Analysis Assignments	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values
Integrate and adapt research evidence to inform and improve practice, policy, and service delivery across the rural/urban landscape.	Research proposal Group Research Design	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values
Competency 9: Evaluate Practice with Individuals, Families, Groups, Organizations and Communities
Select and use appropriate methods for evaluation of outcomes whether primarily in a rural or urban environment or at the intersection of the two.	Comprehensive Exam Research Proposal Article Analysis Proposal	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values
Critically analyze, appraise, and evaluate intervention and program processes and outcomes in both urban and rural environments and the intersection of both.	Group Research Design Comprehensive Exam Research Proposal Article Analysis Assignments	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values

Apply evaluation findings to improve practice effectiveness at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels across the landscape of rural/urban and at the intersection of the two environments.	Group Research Design Research proposal	Knowledge Skills Cognitive Affective Processes Values

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

In this class you will utilize the Learning Management Systems (LMS) D2L for instructional and learning opportunities, submitting your assignments, participating in online synchronous and asynchronous discussions, accessing resources, and completing quizzes/tests. Additionally, knowledge and skills in using Microsoft Word PowerPoint and Outlook Email, if you have any issues with using the various systems or software, it is your responsibility to contact support services and to notify the instructor of the problem.

Instructional Methods

This course will be delivered via synchronous and asynchronous sessions via D2L and will consist of live class sessions, pre-recorded lectures, group engagement activities, various assignments with some including experiential learning and practical application of the content areas. In addition, small lectures, discussion activities and workshops may be utilized to provide instruction during this course.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

As a student in this course, you are responsible to engage in active learning and reaching out to the instructor if there are problems or challenges that is interfering in optimal learning. Communication is key when engaged in a fully online, virtual environment.

Expectations for success include:

1. Always demonstrate professional behavior, including demonstrating respect for instructor and peers; being open to feedback and guidance throughout this class and in the program.
2. Adhered to the School of Social Work and University student code of conduct, along with NASW Code of Ethics.
3. Begin reading the assigned text and supplemental readings as soon as possible, with a focus on completing all readings prior to engagement with instructor or peers.
4. Prepare to engage in live class sessions, discussions, and other activities so you can be a contributor as well as receiver of knowledge and skills.
5. Actively participate in engagement activities which will include live virtual class sessions, online discussions, and interactive learning opportunities -as this is vital for learning and success in both this course and the program.
6. Work ahead when possible, completing assignments ahead of due date so you are prepared to submit on the due date.
7. Sign into the D2L course multiple times during the week to access updated announcements or posted resources.
8. Check your university email daily. This is the official method of communication by the university, department, and instructor.
9. Be open and focused on the “process” and not the “product” as earning this degree requires time, effort, work and ultimately growth in knowledge, skills, abilities along with personal and professional attributes.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100% of total points

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Assessments

Core Assignments: (50 % of final Grade)

1. Group Research Design: (Instructions and Grading Rubric found in Appendix A)
Students will be placed into groups and given a topic. Using their knowledge and skills learned from course content, each group will design an electronic survey using Google Forms. Students will explore ethical and diversity aspects of designing surveys, collecting data and making inferences from the data while considering how personal values and bias may impact this process. Each student in the group will send out to family and friends. Students will apply advanced level cognitive thinking within cognitive/affective processes students will analyze their responses in class. (50 pts)

2. Research Proposal (Instructions and Grading Rubric Found in Appendix A)
students will be given a choice of topics (or may choose one of their own) to develop a research proposal that falls into the category of program/practice evaluation (group design – survey method) or community needs assessment. Students will complete Human Subjects protection training and apply the ethical standards, while considering personal values and bias, in selecting samples, creating/selecting data collection tools (100 pts)
 - 2.a – students will maintain a journal of their activities, thoughts, and reasonings as they develop their research proposal. Keeping a journal while working on a complex research process, encourages the student to make careful and thoughtful decisions along the way, tracking and linking each aspect of the proposal, while recognizing how personal values and bias can impact their decisions. (50 pts)
 - a. Students must turn in a working outline for the literature review (supporting evidence and sources) Due Date: 2/25
 - b. Students must turn in a working draft of the proposed method Due Date 4/21
 - c. Students must turn in draft documents of informed consent and data collection tools: Due Date 4/28
 - d. Students will engage in a mandatory class workshop for developing a research plan with mandatory attendance. Date TBD
 - e. Final Project Plan Proposal Due: 5/5

3. Comprehensive Knowledge Exam (30% of grade) (100 pts)

Core Exercises = 200 pts. (50% of grade)

Article Analysis Worksheets = 100 pts (20% of grade)

Comprehensive Knowledge Exam = 100 pts (30% of grade)

4. Article Analysis Worksheets:

Worksheets = 100 pts (20% of final Grade). Students will be provided with peer-reviewed research studies that utilize survey methods, group research designs, single subject design and qualitative investigations to analyze. Using their knowledge and cognitive/affective processes, they will develop skills in analyzing and evaluating different research methodologies for different problems and the strengths and weaknesses inherent in choosing any of the methods.

5. All students MUST complete the following Human Subjects Review Trainings and submit certificates with final Research Proposal:

Responsible conduct of Research for Social and Behavioral Sciences (link below)

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

You will need your campus-wide ID (CWID) and password to log into the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact the Center for IT Excellence (CITE) at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@tamuc.edu.

Note: Personal computer and internet connection problems do not excuse the requirement to complete all course work in a timely and satisfactory manner. Each student needs to have a backup method to deal with these inevitable problems. These methods might include the availability of a backup PC at home or work, the temporary use of a computer at a friend's home, the local library, office service companies, Starbucks, a TAMUC campus open computer lab, etc.

School of Social Work and Council on Social Work Education Specific Policies

Course Engagement

Final Evaluation and Grade Depends on both Classroom attendance and Participation

Inadequate participation or lack of required time commitment in each class significantly affects students' grades. No matter the course venue, students must engage in a comparable amount of time. Expectations of both Face-to-Face classes and those with Online components include time spent reading and studying course material. To earn a level of competency within a specific course, students must demonstrate both mastery of content and active engagement.

Mastery of content areas is evidenced by successful completion of course assignments such as written papers, group project deliverables, tests/quizzes and other tangible products designed by instructors to evaluate knowledge and skills.

Additionally, the Social Work Profession is built upon human interactions and building human relationships – which is defined as engagement. Engagement is defined as meaningful involvement in interactions with instructor, peers, outside stakeholders as appropriate (such as contacting a social worker to interview for a required assignment).

Within the classroom setting, whether virtual or F2F, students must actively participate in 80% of engagement activities as outlined by individual instructors. These activities may include, but are not limited to participation in live, synchronous virtual classes, attending a Face-to-Face course when appropriate, interacting with peers in posted discussions and collaborating in group interactive projects.

Students must meet standards for content mastery on tangible assignments and meet the threshold of active engagement of the time set during a semester by the instructor.

Instructors are experts in each course content area and set the standards for students to meet for successful completion of the course.

Student Conduct

Students preparing to become professional social workers must adhere to the University Code of Conduct, Department Code of Conduct and National Association of Social Workers' (NASW) Code of Ethics.

Department Code of Conduct

"Faculty have the authority to request students who exhibit inappropriate behavior to leave the class/lab/internship practicum or to block access to online courses and may refer offenses to the [Academic and Professional Issues Committee (API)] or to the Department Head. More serious offences by be referred to the University Police Department and/or the Judicial Affairs Office for disciplinary action" (Student Guidebook p 35)

Social Work students conduct themselves in an ethical and professional manner.

Closely linked with professional recognition is the social worker's compliance with the profession's ethical standards. It is imperative for professional social workers to be competent and ethical in practice if the profession is to maintain the public trust. It is essential that each social work student gain a thorough understanding of the ethical principles that guide practice and actively demonstrate in behavior, both in and out of the classroom. Student conduct is to reflect the tenets of NASW Code of Ethics (located at <https://www.socialworkers.org/pubs/code/code.asp>) on the NASW website: <https://www.socialworkers.org>

University Code of Conduct located in the Student Guidebook at <http://www.tamuc.edu/campuslife/documents/studentGuidebook.pdf> (pp 34- 66). On the University Website under Campus Life Documents

Research Question

To be assigned by instructor

Research Design

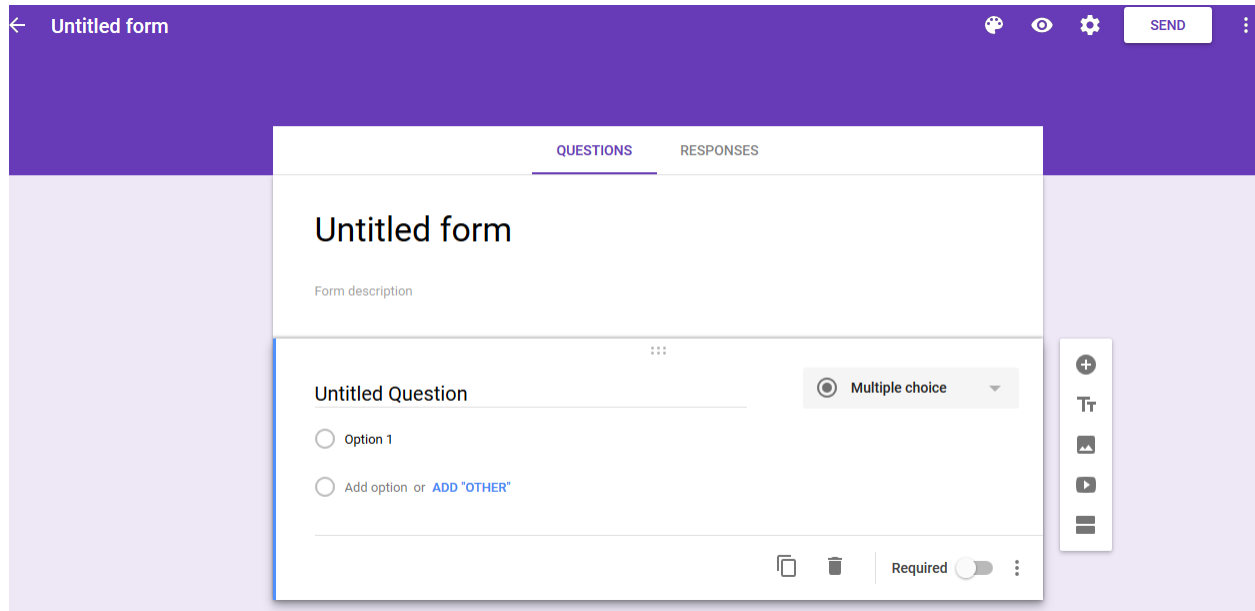

You are to develop a pre-experimental, cross sectional research design to answer this research question (Survey research). The data collection method will be an online questionnaire using Google Forms.

Data collection method: online Questionnaire

- Create a questionnaire with a minimum of 20 questions; and no more than 2 open-ended questions. This means you must have at least 18 closed-ended questions (with response sets) designed to measure the variables you have chosen in an effort to answer the research question.
- You will develop the online questionnaire (including an introduction designed to answer the above research question using Google Docs Each of you will send the survey out to a minimum of 10 friends, family members, acquaintances (plus you will send it to me at Marcella.Smith@tamuc.edu).
- We will then use the data you collect to learn about data analysis concepts.

Google Forms Online Surveys
<https://www.google.com/forms/about/>
You will need to sign into a google account

1. Add Blank Form

From here you will build your questionnaire document.

Include the following disclaimer statement in your introduction to the survey:

As one part of the class requirements for SWK 595 at Texas A&M University-Commerce School of Social Work, _____ is inviting you to complete the following electronic questionnaire. The purpose of this class exercise is not intended to generate new knowledge or lead to a scholarly presentation or publication. It is solely a learning activity to assist me in developing skills in and understanding various aspects of the research process.

This is a group project and grades will be awarded based on engagement in the project and peer evaluations of participation.

Research Journal for Completing the Final Research Project Proposal

The Purpose and Structure of a Research Journal

A research journal is a supplement to your research work (proposal). This is where you will track your activities. This is entirely private space for you to be yourself, to make notes on the things you find useful, to brainstorm ideas and to check in with yourself about how you feel as you undertake this research project.

- This is a personal journal for this project. Your points earned for this is based on evidence of you using the process and not necessarily on the content you produce in it. Each student's journal will look differently based on how you choose to keep the components. It will be looked at to determine if the processes, thoughts, activities, problem solving align with the research proposal submitted.

Benefits and Components of the Research Journal

a. Planner (10 pts)

This section is your planner, where you can make note of important dates and milestones for your research project development.

*Due to taking other classes, personal commitments, work commitments and field commitments, it is often that we don't develop a consistent habit of writing or working on assignments. By keeping a research journal – whether digital or a physical notebook – you can develop or maintain a consistent habit of thoughtful writing and reflecting.

b. Thought-Starter (10 pts)

Here you sketch out rough ideas and directions that you might like to take your research. If you are more visually inclined, you could also use your research journal as a sketchbook for drawing out your thoughts and plans, or as a platform for practices such as mindmapping and storyboarding.

* Keeping a research journal can help to facilitate highly effective and powerful research breakthroughs. The act of actively reflecting on and writing about an issue you are stuck on can help you work past the block. It can be a non-judgmental space to write out your thoughts, ask yourself new questions or consider alternative ideas. Working freely in a safe space where you know you will not be assessed can help you to consider and formulate unexpected, new perspectives and creative solutions.

C. Annotated Bibliography (10 pts)

This is where you include notes on texts you have read or plan to read, articles you have read or plan to read, or lectures/talks/ that may be useful

D. Note of Accomplishments (10 pts)

Make not of small wins and record significant breakthroughs and accomplishments.

* Keeping a research journal is an excellent way to maintain a record of your progress that can be preserved for posterity. It can help to remind you that you are doing important work and achieving something, even in the moments that you feel stuck. It can also be really useful to look back on your journal through the course of developing your research proposal, to track how your ideas have evolved and developed. (NOTE: Given the recent attention on Generative Artificial Intelligence and its use to write papers, articles, books and produce other products – keeping journal of your activities, including your thoughts problem solving processes and resources used could be a good piece of evidence to combat any potentially unfair accusations regarding your work. This is a by-product of all the positive and proven reasons for keeping a research journal).

E. Space for Reflection (10 pts)

Reflect on your work, what is going well? What is not going well and why? What steps can you take next? If you are proposing to research highly sensitive issues and working directly with other human participants, you may be confronted with many challenging, emotional moments that could be best chronicled and made sense of by recording in your journal. This offers you space to reflect on your feelings and work through the more personal and emotional components of proposing research study.

Journal Article Critique Assignment (25 pts)

The purpose of this assignment is to help students develop skills in determining which information is most important when reading published research and learn how to write a research report/proposal. Other than developing a research proposal and/or conducting a research study, the best way to learn is to read what others have done. Below is the outline for completing this assignment. Using the Research Process Flow model and the checklist in Chapter 13 of the text, complete the following outline to analyze the research article.

Include the APA formatted reference for the article at the top of the first page.

I. Summary of the Article (5 pts)

Provide a general overview of the article. Consider addressing the rationale for the study (Supporting evidence); research question(s) and purpose of the study; research design (who is the sample? how is the question answered?); important findings (what did they find out?).

Do NOT overemphasize any area/section in the summary of the article. The idea is to give the reader a general sense of the information in the article, while highlighting key points/elements that would draw in readers to locate the original article should they be interested.

II. Evidence-based Social Work Practice (5 pts)

Here you will provide a detailed description of whether this study results in data that an inform evidence-based practice, be sure to support your conclusion. Note the article may include previous literature in the "literature review" section of the article (usually the first few paragraphs of the article and usually NOT labeled as "literature review") indicating the data/results indicate this informs evidence-based practice, but you may need to find additional resources (i.e. scholarly journals) to indicate if in fact this is evidence to inform practice.

III. Research and Statistical Method Use (5 pts)

Here you will provide detailed description of both research design (i.e. one-shot group survey design, group research (true-experimental; quasi-experimental, pre-experimental); and statistical method (descriptive statistics; ANOVA; T-Tests, Multiple Regression etc). Provide examples when necessary

IV. Critique of Research and How or IF the Intervention/Research is important to social work practice. (5 pts)

Here you will provide your OPINION (do not use first person) supported by evidence (i.e. scholarly sources) as to whether the article and research is (a) rigorous/trustworthy, (b) conducted in an ethical manner, and (c) takes into consideration any cultural aspects. Provide examples when necessary.

Quality of writing (5 pts):

(0-2 pts) – Substantial APA errors (> 6 errors). Poor quality, not indicative of graduate level work

(3-4 pts) – Some APA errors (3-4). Good quality indicative of graduate level work

(5 pts) Little to no errors. Exceptional quality indicative of graduate level work.
