Instructional Methods

This class design is based on constructivist learning principles. This means that the instructor creates an environment for learning by providing focus and guidance to the content. Assignments are designed to be learning experiences for students, and it is presumed and expected that students actively participate in the class through the construction of their own learning. As a graduate level course, the instructor expects quality work from each student supported by adequate preparation and involvement. Instructional activities and assignments will be delivered and received online using the D2L learning media platform.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

When sending emails to me, please include your name and Course Number (EDAD 664-01W) in the subject line. I expect you to take responsibility for your own learning process. While the online course includes interactions between students and instructor and students and students, our discussions are mostly asynchronous; in other words, they are not immediate as in a face-to-face course. You must be comfortable waiting up to 24 hours for a response to their emails. There may be optional synchronous sessions, depending on the instructor's availability.

Tips for Being a Successful Online Student

Take the tutorials. Click on the Campus Resources and Help tools in your online course. Also, you may contact the Office of Academic Technology (OAT) experts for help. Phone numbers and emails are included in your online course.

Log on to your course frequently- Make sure to check your course daily.

Read the instructions carefully – Read and follow the instructions for each assignment and discussion thread.

Participate...Participate...Participate- Regular participation is very important to a quality online experience for everyone. Participate in the discussion board. What a great opportunity to learn from your peers. Jump in and contribute!

Budget your time, set schedules, and complete work on time - Make sure to block off regular time to work on your course, and stick to that schedule.

Be polite and respectful- Being polite and respectful is not only common sense, it is absolutely essential for a productive and supportive online environment. Being polite does NOT mean agreeing with everything that is stated.

Support your claim: It is expected that you will not agree with everything, and in stating your counter claim, support it with evidence. Evidence and respect.

Speak up if you are having problems- Technical difficulties are not an excuse for late or missed assignments. If you are having technical difficulties, or problems understanding something about the course, you MUST speak up otherwise there is no way that anyone will know that something is wrong.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Apply what you learn- Apply everything you learn as you learn it, so it will be committed to long-term memory. Also, make connections between what you are learning and your practice. All assignments must be revised before moving on to the next assignment.

A typical week might include:

1. Regularly logging in to the course website.
2. Reading through the current week's assignment and module lecture notes.
3. Re-reading the syllabus and tentative course calendar.
4. Thoughtfully reading the assigned textbook chapters and taking notes.
5. Thoughtfully viewing assigned videos and taking notes.

System Maintenance

D2L runs monthly updates during the last week of the month, usually on Wednesday. The system should remain up during this time unless otherwise specified in an announcement. You may experience minimal impacts to performance and/or look and feel of the environment.

Interaction with Instructor Statement

Given the constructivist design of the class, this course will be interactive. It is the expectation that all students participate fully for all discussion threads, activities, and assignments in order to maximize their learning experience.

As this is an online class, you will need daily access to your email account. I will be emailing during the course to communicate information, assignments, and other addenda. You need to check your myLeo email each day for these communications. You also need to review updated announcements within the EDAD 595 course home page for updated information pertaining to this course.

Our primary mode of communication is through the course, but I am available through other modes of communication, too. If your question is related to an assignment and it is reasonable to think others might have the same questions, use the Module Q&A so everyone can benefit. If you need to discuss something (beyond a quick question), make an appointment 24 hours ahead of time via my Appointment Calendar (listed top of syllabus). If you have a quick question (not a discussion), or an urgent message, you may text me, but use phone text judiciously.

If I request that you have a phone conference with me to discuss an assignment and you do not respond within a reasonable amount of time (24 hours), you will receive a zero on the assignment.

In order to complete your assignments, you will need to be proficient at MS Office programs, such as Word, Excel, PowerPoint, and Publisher. All assignments submitted electronically must be in MS Office formats. All assessments will receive feedback within 5 days of the module end date.

Please feel free to email me at Peter.Williams@tamuc.edu if you have questions. Each of the seven modules within the EDAD 595 course shell has a link entitled Module Q&A, where you can post questions and review responses to questions that pertain to course information as you progress through this course. The Q&A is for general questions about assignments and/or course materials.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Please communicate with me in whichever form you are most comfortable (e-mail or through the Module Q&A Forums); however, avoid using the public forum for confidential matters. If you would prefer to correspond via telephone, you are welcome to do so. Please schedule a phone conference before you call me, using my Appointment Calendar (listed at top of syllabus). Prior to asking a question, please quickly review previous responses within a particular Module Q&A forum as your question may already have been addressed. You are welcome to respond to a classmate's question if you can accurately address the issue.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Pandemic Response Statement

A&M-Commerce requires the use of face-coverings in all instructional and research classrooms/ laboratories. Exceptions may be made by faculty where warranted. Faculty have management over their classrooms. Students not using face-coverings can be required to leave class. Repetitive refusal to comply can be reported to the Office of Students' Rights and Responsibilities as a violation of the student Code of Conduct. "Students should not attend class when ill or after exposure to anyone with a communicable illness. Communicate such instances directly with your instructor. Faculty will work to support the student getting access to missed content or completing missed assignments.

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

In order for this class to be interesting and beneficial, each student is expected to be prepared to lead and/or enter into discussions, to ask relevant questions, and to share the results of their study and reflection. This means that each student should be:

- Aware of the class schedule and the requirements for each class (knowing what to be prepared for),
- Self-disciplined (spending time to be fully prepared),
- Eager to share with your classmates (participating actively by sharing what you have prepared). Participation is an extremely important part of your experience in this class. When you miss participating in a class discussion and/or assignment, not only do you miss information presented, but you miss the interaction of your classmates, which can lead to the loss of key learning experiences.

APA Format for Papers

Please follow APA 7 formatting in your Style Manual. You may also access additional information at Purdue Online Writing Lab and at www.apastyle.org.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Reflection papers should be double-spaced, size 12 Font, New Times Roman. Follow the format for papers as specified by the APA Publication Manual. All papers will be in Word. This is scholarly work and should not be written in first person. The literature review should be written in past tense.

All resources should be cited using correct APA format, 7th edition. The paper should also be free of technical errors (spelling, punctuation, proper use of grammar, etc.). Students must get permission from the professor for late work to be accepted.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.
