Course Description

This course will focus on theory and practice of evaluation including research methods and design strategies to measure program outcomes and skills to evaluate personnel and projects. The course will include components of evaluation models and management of educational functions, and skills in preparing and communicating evaluation findings.

Student Learning Outcomes

The purpose of the doctoral program is to produce a graduate who has developed breadth of vision, a capacity for interpretation, and the ability to carry out critical investigations. The doctoral student is expected to gain many new concepts, zeal for adding to the sum of human knowledge, and the ability to conduct original research and to think clearly and independently. The student must also develop the professional competencies necessary for giving application of knowledge in the essential areas of human and public interest. Guidance toward extended reading and research is an integral part of graduate study. To assist students in achieving the state purposes of the doctoral program, the following goals/objectives have been developed for this course. Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Demonstrate the purposes and importance of educational program evaluation.
2. Analyze the interdependent relationship between the dimensions of management and evaluation.
3. Differentiate between a variety of program evaluation models and the individuals associated with their development and use.
4. Compare and contrast historical and current literature in the area of program evaluation.
5. Apply the knowledge and skills of evaluation to existing programs and the planning of new programs.
6. Evaluate a variety of measures/data gathering techniques available for use in program evaluation.
7. Assess the complexity of the relationships between educational program evaluation and other elements, including, but not limited to, ethics, politics, communication, finances, decision-making, curriculum development and implementation, staff development, accreditation, school reform/restructuring, and teacher evaluation.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Performance Expectations

Student performance evaluation for this course will be based on the below listed activities/assignments. Directions for the completion of the assignments and due dates are posted in the course.

Performance Expectations

The following scale will be used as a guide.'

Discussion Board Participation	50%
Program Evaluation Plan	50%

Participation. You are required to post and respond to the discussion boards.

Evaluation Proposal. Submit a thoughtful and well-written independent evaluation project. The project will be the proposal for an evaluation of a program. Details of the project will be discussed in class. Information from the text and other readings will also guide the format and contents of the program evaluation proposals. Proposals should be 7-10 pages in length not including references, table of contents, title page, appendices, and cover page (APA, 12-point type, one-inch margins, Times New Roman font). Students are responsible for utilizing APA format, 7th edition. Do not include excessive, long quotes. Do not include extra spaces in the header/footer. Make sure there is no automatic spacing between sections and paragraphs. Do not plagiarize; if you plagiarize, expect to have the work returned with a grade of 0. If you turn in a paper less than the required length, be prepared for a substantial point reduction that will be applied before the grading rubric is applied. Scholarly, doctoral-level writing is expected. (Course objectives 5, 6)

This is a doctoral standing only course. To that end, the following student expectations for this course have been generated. Evaluation will be based on successful demonstration of the following activities. Regardless of points earned, a course grade of A cannot be obtained if all assignments are not completed.

Policy on Late Work

Late work is not accepted in this course for any reason. As doctoral students, much is expected regarding punctuality and professionalism of assignments.

Grading Scale

The grading scale listed below is a guide. The instructor reserves the right to evaluate and assign the final course grade.

90%-100% A

80%- 89% B

70-79% C

60%-69% D

Below 60% F
