COURSE DESCRIPTION

The purpose of this course is to study the underlying ideas, principles, and participatory practices of constitutional government in the United States. This course will introduce you to the formation of the federal constitution, and the challenges and opportunities granted by federalism and representative government in the United States. We will also analyze civil liberties and civil rights and the roles that public opinion and the media play in U.S. politics.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Explain the origin and development of constitutional democracy in the United States.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the federal system.
- Describe separation of powers and checks and balances in both theory and practice.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the federal government.
- Evaluate the role of public opinion, interest groups, and political parties in the political system.
- Analyze the election process.
- Describe the rights and responsibilities of citizens 8. Analyze issues and policies in U.S. politics.

FORMAT OF THE COURSE

This is a fully online class. You're required to follow the course requirements on D2L on a regular and timely basis. Study guides, PowerPoints and lecture notes can be found on D2L.

REQUIRED TEXTS

• Paula D. McClain and Steven C. Tauber. 2023. American Government in Black and White, 5th or 6th edition, Oxford University Press.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Weekly Discussions: Every week, you have two discussion boards to complete. The deadlines for discussion boards can be found on D2L. Each discussion boards will close and won't be accessible after its respective deadline. To receive full credit, you are required to make your own post for the discussion board as well as comment on the post of at least one of your classmates before the deadline for each discussion. Discussion posts must be about 250-300 words, concise, and to the point. You must be making the relevant connections to class material within your post. You won't get full credit if you use fillers (irrelevant words or statements) in your posts just to reach the required word count. More detailed guidelines for discussion boards can be found on D2L.

Weekly Quizzes: You will have 4 weekly multiple-choice quizzes. Each quiz will be composed of 30 multiple-choice questions. You will be able to take them online through D2L each week. Each quiz will open every week on Thursday at 9 am, and you will have until Sunday, 11.59 pm to take it. Quizzes will be timed and must be completed at one sitting. Quizzes won't be cumulative. Study guides will be provided.

Final Exam: During the last week of classes, there will be a cumulative final exam.
