COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional / Design of Course Overview

The class will be conducted very similar to a traditional classroom setting and maintains flexibility for students who cannot attend in a physical setting. This is a summer course with different modules and due dates during the time semester. There will be a combination of pre-recorded and live instructional content. There will be ONE live lecture each module/unit. The lectures are recorded and can be viewed later. The attendance policy for the course is located under "Lecture Attendance" in this document. Students need to either attend the live lecture via Zoom or watch the lecture at a later time. Students are not required to attend the live lectures, but students will need to watch the recordings for the lectures during the week conducted.

Students should use the UNIT checklists found in D2L to identify what is due each week in terms of content and/or assignments. There will be a combination of pre-recorded and live instructional content throughout the semester. There will be homework assignments, interactive learning quizzes (ILQ), 3 discussion assignments, and 3 exams. There will be ONE live lecture each week that lasts approximately 1 hour and 30 minutes. The attendance policy of the course is located under "Lecture Attendance" in this document. Students need to either attend via the zoom lecture or watch the recording. Extra credit is provided for attending the majority of the live lectures.

The course is structured so that students can learn in various formats providing a richer learning experience. The professor will use various learning tools to help students master the course learning objectives. Students are expected to read the assigned chapters in the textbook, watching the eBook chapter videos, and attending/watching lectures and other instructional resources. Students should commit between 6-9 hours of study time per week at a minimum (not including lectures).

As mentioned previously, students will be assigned a weekly homework in D2L to help them master the learning objectives. All homework and lectures are required to be completed by the closing of each unit/module by 11:59 PM. Students will also be assigned 3 discussion assignments due at various times during the semester. Finally, there will be 3 exams in the course with the 3rd exam being a comprehensive final exam. See the course schedule for more details on due dates. The professor may or may not offer extra credit assignments. All exams will be completed online throughout the semester.

The professor will not repeat questions that can be found within the syllabus. Furthermore, the professor will not answer questions regarding the class or content that have been addressed in lectures and/or e-mails to the course.

COURSEWORK/GRADING

It is important that students are organized to avoid missing assignments. The due dates for all assignments are located within the weekly checklists and the course calendar within D2L. No late work will be accepted unless there is a serious situation preventing the student from completing an assignment – and is always up to the professor's discretion. Students that miss an exam will receive a zero. A student that misses more than one exam will need to drop the course. It is possible that students will have opportunities to earn extra credit, but no extra credit opportunity is guaranteed.

Exams

All exams will be administered online for this course. The instructor will notify students when the exam time window will open and the due date for the exam. The professor may provide an extension or open exams earlier. There will be three exams including the final. The final is comprehensive and will cover all course material covered during the semester. Students are responsible for information from live/recorded lectures, required readings, interactive lecture quizzes, and any guest speakers. There are no makeup exams. The professor will allow the final exam score to replace ONE of a student's previous exam score if the final exam score is higher.

Homework Assignments

In order to provide students with practical real-life practice, students are assigned homework assignments during the various units/modules. Homework assignments are due at different dates and times and students should identify due dates within D2L. Homework assignments are completed in Microsoft Word® and Microsoft Excel®. All homework assignments are individual assignments and are required to be uploaded to a dedicated dropbox for each assignment.

Live Lecture Attendance (Zoom)

This is an online course that is designed to be very accommodating to individuals with busy schedules. The course has a weekly live lecture where students are encouraged to attend. However, attendance isn't required, but all students should watch the recorded lecture each week by Sunday at 11:59PM. However; the lectures are very important in meeting the course learning objectives. The professor takes substantial extra time to provide a quality learning environment built for discussion and dialogue.

It is understandable that many students will not be able to attend all of the live lectures; however, students are encouraged to meet at least ONE of the 2 options listed below to receive extra credit. Recorded lectures need to be watched by Sunday at 11:59 of the week assigned. Students may qualify for attendance credit in one of the following TWO ways:

Option 1 – Only miss 1-2 lectures and watch the missed lectures via recorded lectures (3% bonus on average provided).

Option 2 – Only miss 2-3 lectures and watch the missed lectures via recorded lectures (2% bonus on average provided).

NOTE: Students don't have to select their option at any time during the semester. Each student needs to keep track of their attendance record. The student will be required to report their attendance record at the end of the semester. Missing more than 5 lectures will result in no bonus points.

NOTE: Online attendance for the live lecture requires participating in the lecture by either answering questions, responding to being called upon, asking questions. Students must be present for at least 75% of the live lecture to earn attendance.

LIVE TEACHING LINK

The live lectures will be done by using Zoom. The link will be provided within the D2L learning management system.
