COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description

Topics include neural control during physical activity, skeletal muscle contraction, pulmonary and circulatory physiology, gas exchange and transport, aerobic and anaerobic energy sources for muscular activity, temperature regulation during exercise, body composition and weight control.

Prerequisites: BSC 2401 and 2402 with C or better. 2.5 minimum GPA required.

Corequisites: HHPK 450L.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, you will be able to

- 1. Describe and explain immediate physiological responses to exercise and long-term adaptations to training, including cardiorespiratory and neuromuscular systems.
- 2. Describe the effects of internal and external factors on sport performance (e.g., fatigue, fitness level, metabolism, temperature, hydration, ergogenic aids).
- 3. Conduct and interpret common laboratory and field tests used in exercise and fitness.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Required Materials

Required Textbook:

Powers & Howley. Exercise Physiology-Connect Access. 12th edition. McGraw-Hill. ISBN: 9781260813470.

Since this course is using Inclusive Access, you are automatically given access to this ebook with Connect Access. No need to do anything else.

Required Lab Manual:

Purchase the lab manual online via the TAMUC marketplace (search for Health and Human Performance, HHPK 450L Exercise Physiology Lab Manual). Use your tamuc email address during the checkout process. Then pick up the manual during the first 2 weeks of the semester in class/lab. The manual is needed to complete the lab assignments.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

- Keep up with the course content and the weekly assignments.
- Make good use of the Connect access resources.
- Test yourself early and often! It helps you identify what you know and don't know, so that you can focus your studies on the areas where you need improvement. Utilize the Connect SmartBook Previews/Reviews for this purpose.
- Space it out! Cramming does not work. Instead, space out your study time and practice. Studying for the scheduled in-class quizzes will help.
- Reflect! Take a few minutes to review what you learned and ask yourself questions about how this new learning fits in with what you already know and what you hope to learn. Step it up: reflect after every class, write down any questions you have for your instructor to ask in the class.
- Explain it to somebody else! Your study partner/group, your friend, your mom... Step it up: In your explanation, include how the material relates to you and their life outside of class.
- Believe you can! Adopt a "growth mindset" and understand that learning takes effort. With deliberate practice, you can improve.
- Communicate early and often with the instructors. We are here to help you succeed.

Assessments

Exams

There will be three (3) regular exams throughout the semester and one (1) cumulative final exam. Exams will cover lectures, class activities, and the textbook.

Quizzes

There will be seven (7) scheduled quizzes, taking place during the first 10 minutes of class time. Quizzes may cover material from previous lectures, class activities, and the textbook assignments.

Previews/Reviews via McGraw-Hill Connect Access

There will be 11 SmartBook assignments within the McGraw-Hill Connect online access, including both reading and practicing the material learned in each chapter.

Engagement/Participation

To engage students with the class material, tasks will be assigned throughout the semester. These tasks may include case studies, quizzes, questionnaires, surveys, discussions, exit tickets, etc. to be completed either in class or online. It's the participation in and completion of these tasks, rather than "right/wrong" answers, that counts towards this grade.

Laboratory

The lab sessions provide hands-on learning experiences to strengthen the information learned during lectures. Participation in the lab session is required. The lab graduate assistant will conduct all labs and score grade all assignments and exam.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Prelabs and Lab Reports

There will be ten (10) labs, each with a prelab and lab report assignment. The prelab explains lab procedures and may offer supplemental video instruction to introduce the lab topic for the week. Prelabs are due BEFORE the respective lab session. In the subsequent lab report, you will present and discuss the results obtained from lab session. You are responsible for recording the results of demonstrations during lab.

Lab final Exam

The lab final exam will be a comprehensive written exam that may cover any of the 10 labs.

Extra Credit

There MAY be extra credit opportunities provided throughout the semester. Extra credit is capped at 4% of the total grade. I will not offer individual extra extra credit at the end of the semester.
