Course Description

This doctoral level class has a focus on writing in the professional realm by providing multiple opportunities to write, read, and collaborate. A strong emphasis throughout the course will be on the development of participants as researchers and writers.

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

- 1. Students will seek out, read, analyze, and critique various types of academic writing.
- 2. Students will post reactions to online discussions and respond to classmates' reactions.
- 3. Students will engage in writing/revision/editing and peer-feedback on writing.
- 4. Students will complete a professional vita.
- 5. Students will develop or find a system to organize potential literature and selection criteria for inclusion of sources.
- 6. Students will complete a mini literature review on potential research topic.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

This class is hybrid, so students are permitted to attend either the synchronous meeting or the face-to-face for attendance. All students are required to attend each session and participate and share in all course discussions. Class will be held, once every two weeks on Mondays from 5-8 at the Metroplex campus. See the course outline for dates. In this 3-hour doctoral class, students are expected to spend at least 6 hours studying, reading, and writing each week.

COURSE ASSESSMENTS

Discussion Question Responses & Replies

In each module, students are asked to read and analyze pertinent discussion questions, that do not have a right or wrong response, however, cater to individual experiences, opinions, and knowledge. Students are expected to respond to each discussion question with an original response, then respond to at least one other participant reply. Rubric will be provided.

Problem of Practice Essay

Students as asked to write an 300-500 word essay describing a problem of practice of inquiry. This formal piece of writing will present an argument analysis on a specific topic relating to your current or past school district. Rubric will be provided.

Group Chapter Presentation

Class members will be organized into groups of 3-5 and will present a chapter from one of our resources. Presentation must be 15-20 minutes and provide audience with an engaging, chapter synopsis. Rubric will be provided.

Article or Chapter Review

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Students will be responsible for writing a critical review of an article or book chapter. Academic book reviews are recognized as those written by scholars. The book review will be 500-700 words of a scholarly writing important for your problem of practice inquiry. Rubric will be provided.

Annotated Bibliography

Students will provide evidence of an annotated bibliography of books and resources pertaining to your scholarly interests. The bibliography must be contained in a citation management tool such as EndNotes, RefNotes, or Zotero an include 30 citations. All citations must include a brief summary, noting its importance. Rubric will be provided.

Mini Literature Review

Students will write a 800-1000 mini literature review for the problem of practice inquiry. A literature review is a survey of scholarly sources that provides an overview of a topic. Literature reviews are a collection of the most relevant and significant publications regarding that topic to provide a comprehensive look at what has been said on the topic and by whom. The basic components of a literature review include: a description of the publications; a summary of the publication's main points; a discussion of gaps in research; an evaluation of the publication's contribution to the topic. This project is considered mini because it only requires 8-10 references. It will still include each of the components mentioned above. Rubric will be provided.
