Course Description

The course content centers on qualitative research in the sociocultural environments of public schools. The methodology (research design, data collection, analysis) associated with this form of inquiry shall be delineated. The course focuses on the philosophical and methodological differences between varying approaches (narrative, phenomenology, case studies, grounded theory, and ethnography) to research. Academic writing and critical reading of qualitative research shall also be addressed

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students shall comprehend and understand the basic tenets of qualitative inquiry.
2. Students will engage in qualitative data collection, including observation, interviews, and qualitative texts.
3. Students will analyze qualitative data using coding and thematic analysis.
4. Students will create qualitative art projects as an additional lens for descriptive and interpretative qualitative inquiry.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

The students will complete the following assignments, and the final grade shall be calculated using the percentages listed below.

Reading Response Charts and Journals – 25%;

Data Collection and Analysis Papers (Observation – 15%; Interview — 25%, Qualitative Text – 15%)

Qualitative Art Display – 20%.

Total: 100%

Assessments

A shortened description of the assignments follows. Additional details about the assignments are found in Brightspace.

1. Reading Response Charts – We shall complete a series of reading response charts that correlate with the assigned reading for the course. The format for the charts is provided in Brightspace. For the journals, you may consider reflecting on your dissertation research questions or to practice qualitative skills. Alternative texts

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

(poetry, narrative, auto ethnography) are encouraged. As part of this assignment, a reading reflection will be required. More detailed instructions to these assignments shall be found on Brightspace.

2. Collecting and Analyzing Qualitative Texts: For these assignments, you shall practice the skills of a qualitative researcher: reflecting, observing, writing, interviewing, and creating. Three different texts shall be analyzed: observation, interview, and political/historical text. For these activities, I recommend collecting data from naturalistic settings in schools or other community centers. Guides to these assignments are found on Brightspace in the doc. Sharing section.

3. Qualitative Art/ Photovoice Project: For this assignment, prepare an art display depicting your growth and/ or insights as a qualitative researcher, student, and educator. The art display may include multimedia, photography, music, artisan crafts, food, scrapbooks, or other modalities. As part of the display, include a written description or reflection.

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Students should be able to submit Word documents and presentation materials, operate a video camera, participate in Zoom/ online conferences, navigate Brightspace D2L, and use technology for presentations. The use of photography, video, and other multimedia is encouraged. The use of artificial intelligence as a substitute for students' writing is prohibited.

Instructional Methods

As a social constructivist educator with strong considerations for thinking and inquiry within the disciplines, my teaching style involves peer collaboration, dialogic learning, analytical and aesthetic thinking, and inquiry methods.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Please review course materials and the calendar. I recommend checking your MyLeo email regularly and the course announcements page for updates. Also, if you need assistance, please reach out to me to schedule a personal conference. Peer support groups are encouraged.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

Assignment Submission Policy: The instructor reserves the right to change course assignments, projects, and examinations throughout the semester. Each assignment/project must be completed and turned in by the due date given. All assignments are due by 11:59 midnight on the date indicated on the calendar. All assignments are submitted electronically on D2L Brightspace. Late assignments shall be subject to letter grade reductions (usually a 70 or half credit) or non-acceptance at the instructor's discretion.

In the case of unexpected emergencies, students must provide written documentation regarding their missed assignments. The instructor reserves the right to deny make-up opportunities, especially in cases of negligence. It is expected that all course assignments/projects (inside and outside of class and including examinations) will be completed at mastery level (as designated by the instructor). If (in the professional opinion of the instructor) an assignment/project is not satisfactorily completed, it may be returned to the student, and the student may be required to re-do the work until it is at mastery level. The instructor reserves the right to limit the number of times an assignment/project may be re-submitted and to establish a reasonable time frame for resubmissions. If any course assignment/project is not completed at a mastery level by the final resubmission deadline, the instructor reserves the right to assign the student a grade of "I" or "F" for the assignment and/or course--at the instructor's discretion.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

University Specific Procedures

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook.
