The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

IMPORTANT READ: Regarding Publisher Key on Grading

1. For questions such as: "Write the correct spelling of the term(s) for each abbreviation (questions about abbreviations do not always have the first letter capitalized): For example: LUQ. Students would not capitalize the first letter as "left" is not a proper word.

NOTE: Students should follow upper and lower case as would if writing the term considering whether a proper name or not a proper name

2. For questions such as the following: SPELL - Write the correct modern term for the historical term given: nervus (not proper)

Correct - nerves

Incorrect - Nerves

NOTE: Students should follow upper and lower case as would if writing the term considering whether a proper name or not a proper name

3. For questions such as the following: SPELL - Write the correct spelling of the term for each definition provided: Thickening of the skin

Correct - scleroderma

Incorrect - Scleroderma

NOTE: Students should follow upper and lower case as would if writing the term considering whether a proper name or not a proper name.

4. For questions such as the following (do not include the hyphen as ask for the correct spelling of the word): SPELL - Write the correct spelling of the term for each of the definitions provided: Separation of blood into parts.

Correct - plasmapheresis

Incorrect- plasma-pheresis

5. Accented characters are required except if the question specifically states not to include such as the following example or in the case previously noted for spelling.

In questions wherein wording such as the following:

WORD BUILDING PRACTICE, FORMING MEDICAL TERMS 1.3 Provide the missing word element to complete the sentences. Select the word element from the list of terms provided. Fill in the blank with the correct word element to complete the sentence (do not include the hyphen). List of terms: peri-colic, dent-algia, dysmenorrhea, hepato-megaly, hypo-tension, epi-gastric, phlebo-tomy

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

a. Make sure NOT to include the hyphen as noted in the instructions.

b. Even if for example epigastric was the answer and was the first word of the fill-in-the-blank which would typically be capitalized, it will be counted incorrect if answered Epigastric. Input the spelling as listed (if lower case enter as lower case) in the List of Terms.

c. If a term is capitalized in the “List of Terms” then capitalize within the blank.

NOTE: While a term would be capitalized IF the first word of a sentence, this does not apply to these types of questions. Capitalization within the “List of Terms” would clearly indicate a possible answer. Upper and lower case usage within the question should be the same (upper or lower case) in the “List of Terms”.

6. Correct letter case is required except as noted in the previous examples.

Please Note: Example of a fill-in-the-blank question: The plural of breath is _____. The correct answer is breaths. The incorrect answer is Breaths.

7. Correct spacing, spelling, and punctuation are required except if question specifically states not to include (such as a question specifies not to input hyphen and/or in the spelling of a word definition).

8. If you need assistance with pronunciation, see below.

Questions on Pronunciation

Some chapter questions provide a word and then two choices for correct pronunciation (play button beside each choice and audio spoken). Although the textbook “spells out” pronunciation, this may be great for visual learners. However for students who are better “audio-learners”, there are numerous websites available on the Internet to visit. Students can search the Internet if an audio would be more beneficial (e.g. input in the search how to pronounce (term of interest).
