Course Description

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Analyze the ways cognitive and social processes interact to influence human behavior, using key theories and research findings as evidence.
2. Examine how cultural and social factors influence cognitive processes, including language, thought, and perception.
3. Critically assess the application of cognitive and social psychology principles to real-world issues, such as prejudice, group dynamics, and persuasion.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

All course materials (e.g., PowerPoint lectures, assignments, articles, etc.) will be uploaded to D2L each week, and all assignments will be done through D2L.

Instructional Methods

This class will be blended, meaning that some of the classes will be in person while others will be done online. You will know in advance which days will be which.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Students will succeed if they:

1. Attend lectures. You will probably hear this from all of your professors, but it is true. Having the ability to ask questions when you think of them is immensely helpful in the learning process.
2. Participate. I will not lie and tell you this is easy, talking in front of others can be intimidating. I hope to foster a classroom of ease where you feel excited to contribute to the topic and ask questions along the way!
3. Read the assigned material. I know you are busy students, and I will try not to assign too much reading. If you feel you do not have the time to dedicate to reading a whole chapter then skim it as that is better than nothing.
4. Communicate your needs. I am here for you to help you succeed in this class. I want you all to learn everything that you can in this course while also taking care of yourselves. If something comes up, please let me know.

TOTAL 100%

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Assessments

TERM PAPER (200 points)

A paper will be required over any topic that was discussed within the course, excluding any serial killers and cults. The paper should be 2-3 pages (not including title or reference pages; APA format, 12 pt. font, 1" margins). It must consist of at least 3 peer-reviewed journal articles to support points you are trying to make or to illustrate a specific problem with a particular aspect of forensic psychology. The main purpose of this paper is to elaborate on a specific topic from this course using outside literature (e.g., peer-reviewed journals, not Wikipedia), and trying to connect it back to what we learned in class. If you have questions about picking a topic to write about, do not hesitate to contact me.

25 points will come from submitting the topic you are interested in writing the paper over in the correct discussion board before or on the due date. Another 25 points will be from the submission of the 3 peer-reviewed journal articles you are planning on using cited as you will cite them on your reference pages in the correct assignment section before or on its due date. The final 150 points will be from the submission of the term paper itself.

EXAMS (Mid-term and Final: 200 points each, 400 points total)

There will be two online exams. The exams will be cumulative, be prepared to see any of the topics that we have covered up to that point on the exam. There will be no make-up exams, if you have to miss an exam contact me BEFORE the day of the exam and we will arrange something together.

EXTRA CREDIT (Up to 50 points)

There will be opportunities to earn extra credit throughout the semester. All extra credit combined cannot exceed 50 points.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

If you have any questions or are having difficulties with the course material, please contact your Instructor.

Interaction with Instructor Statement

As there are minimal face-to-face office hours, I will be available via email to schedule meetings. I will be available to for any questions through email but if you would like a meeting, we can find a time that works best for both of us. Please allow 24 to 48 hours for a response, except on weekends and holidays where response times may be longer. As I often check my emails multiple times a day, response times will most likely be quicker. If you do not receive an email response after 48 hours your email may not have been received.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

Attendance is not mandatory but highly recommended. The best way to learn is utilizing your resources and as your professor I am one of those. If you find yourself having to miss an exam let me know BEFORE the day of the exam so that we can make appropriate measures. This communication will be the only way to make-up a missed exam. Late assignments may be turned in up to a week after the due date for partial credit. Please communicate with me if you need assistance in this class! I am here to help and wish to see you all learn something new and receive the grade that you would like/have worked for!

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

University Specific Procedures

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at <https://www.tamuc.edu/student-code-of-conduct/>.

If you believe someone has engaged in behaviors that do not align with the Code of Student Conduct or you have other concerns, please visit the File a Report page at <https://www.tamuc.edu/office-of-student-rights-and-responsibilities/concerns-incident-reporting/>

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum:
<https://www.britannica.com/topic/netiquette>

Artificial Intelligence

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, Chatbots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
