Course Description

ENG 1302 - Written Argument/Research

Hours: 3

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

This course provides students with advanced training in communication skills emphasizing the writing and reading of argumentative prose and adapting writing to alternate audiences. Students will write weekly, including such texts as journals, reading response logs, summaries of argumentative texts, argumentative papers, and longer papers integrating secondary research. Activities include close reading of sample texts, both student and professional. Some sections will emphasize special topics in both reading and writing. Prerequisites: Grade of C or better in English 1301 or advanced placement or CLEP.

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

1. Students will be able to analyze, evaluate, or solve problems when given a set of circumstances, data, texts, or art.
2. In written, oral, and/or visual communication, students will communicate in a manner appropriate to the audience and occasion, with an evident message and organizational structure.
3. Students will be able to work together toward a shared purpose relevant to the course or discipline with a sense of shared responsibility for meeting that purpose.
4. Students will understand and practice academic honesty

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

- Retrieve your college email on the device you use most (phone, ipad)
- Email a Google doc to a non-Gmail address
- Upload a document to D2L/Brightspace
- Search Google or YouTube for any other technical skills you find you don't know how to do

Instructional Methods

We will study American horror literature. Each week, there will be a reading with a short response due. We will watch four films over the semester. There will be three research essays. The last essay will be over an American horror novel, and will include a research portfolio and a presentation. Fridays will be dedicated to peer reviews of the current essay. One day a week will be set aside for working in class.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

- Come to class every day
- Complete all assignments on time
- Use class time for working, not for sleeping

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

AI Use Policy

Texas A&M University-Commerce acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course Attendance & Participation

Being a body in a seat is not full attendance – while you are in class, you are expected to pay attention, arrive prepared, take notes, and participate in your own learning. Consistent attendance is directly linked to higher pass rates, better grades, and higher graduation rates. It also demonstrates your commitment to your own education and respect for the learning process of your classmates, as absences and tardiness reduce your potential to contribute to and benefit from peer collaboration, teaching, and learning opportunities.

Absences

Absence is not an excuse for ignorance. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to contact one of your classmates and/or check D2L for any learning materials posted (lecture slides, assignment prompts, rubrics, etc.) to get the information you missed. If you are truly unable to find an answer to your questions through your peers or through your own investigations, you can also email me with specific questions. If you anticipate needing to miss class on the day that an assignment is due, reach out and work with me so that we can arrange for you to turn the work in without penalty if you have a valid excuse. [see University attendance policy below]

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Due Dates, Extensions, & Late Work

It is your responsibility as a student to keep track of and make up any work you've missed. You are provided with instructions and dates for assignment submission on the course calendar below and on D2L. I may also ask you to bring hard copy rough drafts for in-class peer review. I will deduct a letter grade (10 points) for each day your work is late, but I will not accept work that is more than 7 days late. It will receive a 0 Grade. If you have a school-related activity, work must be turned in early. And any school related absence must be told to the professor 48 hours in advance.

The absolute last day to turn in any work is May 10 at end of class period, 12:12pm. NO WORK WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER THAT. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Classroom Etiquette & Technology

Inside the classroom, the success of our class discussions and activities depends on you being respectful and both physically and mentally present. No texting or social media viewing during class. All mobile phones must be placed face down on your desk or out of sight. If you using a computer during class, you must be logged into D2L. Outside the classroom, you are responsible for checking your MyLeo email daily. If you do not have ready access to the internet (in a way that will prevent you from successfully completing assignments), please inform me at the start of the term so that we can discuss alternatives. I commit to checking my email many times daily and to respond to you promptly – please return the favor.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Appendix A: Professor's Instructional Policies

Participation

Part of your participation grade comes from class discussions regarding readings. Because this is a literature-based course, you are expected to keep up with the readings and add to the discussions in class.

Policy on Late Papers (submissions and word limit)

Each day an assignment is late, is a letter grade off. After five days, the work will not be accepted. If you have a school-related activity, work must be turned in early. Any papers not meeting the minimum word requirement will receive a D (60) as the highest possible grade. Any paper showing plagiarism will receive a 0.

Email and Netiquette (Internet Etiquette)

Email will be answered Monday-Friday between the hours of 8AM and 5PM. A response time of a couple hours is typical for emails received during these times. It doesn't mean I don't like you as a person, it means I literally have over 100 emails per day that I answer in turn.

After Hours E-mail Communication

Email received during nights, weekends and holidays will be answered the next business day, per above times.

Graded Essay Turnaround

Papers will be graded two weeks following their due date. I am happy to discuss grades 24 hours after the grade has posted.

Bonus Opportunities

Extra credit/bonus opportunities will only be considered if the student has ALL work turned in.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.
