COURSE DESCRIPTION

Catalogue Description of the Course

COUN 595. Research Literature and Techniques

Three semester hours. Emphasizes research in the student's major field, basic statistics, literature review, proposal and report development, research implementation, needs assessment, program development and evaluation, and ethical and legal considerations regarding research through the presentation of a formal research proposal and/or presentation of a completed research report.

General Course Information

Research Literature and Techniques is required in all master's degree programs in the Department of Counseling. The course includes studies that provide an understanding of research methods, statistical analysis, needs assessment, and program evaluation. Although the structure of the course will be that commonly encountered in graduate studies, the teaching philosophy of The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

the instructor is invitational. The pursuit of a degree in counseling means different things to different people. Interests and emphases vary from person to person, but most recognize the importance of a basis in both quantitative and qualitative research methods. In the opinion of the instructor, even those who do not intend to perform research must be educated consumers of research in order to provide competent services. As a graduate of a CACREP accredited program, the professional community and the public will expect you to have basic research competencies. Your work may well lead you to situations where you will be required to perform studies, to accurately interpret the results and meaning of studies for others, or to make policy decisions that are based on the results of research. It would probably be in your best interest, as well as that of the Department, for you to take a very serious approach to development of these competencies. You are invited to discover what research means to you.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs):

Measurement 1 (Knowledge):

- I. Article Critique. Using class resources (e.g., textbook, readings, websites, etc.), students will demonstrate their ability to identify, interpret, and evaluate empirical intervention research relevant to counseling.
- II. In-Class Research Presentation. Students will demonstrate knowledge of a specific research design or research interest of their choosing. It is expected that students will support their presentations using both course material and additional independent research.
- III. Discussion and Response Posts (3 discussions, 3 responses). Students will use information from course lectures and readings to respond to various discussion prompts regarding research and program evaluation.

Measurement 2 (Skills):

- I. Article Critique. Students will apply the results of their chosen article to counseling practice and explore the logistical and ethical implications of the results.
- II. In-Class Research Presentation. During their presentations, students will be assessed on their professionalism, accuracy of information provided, and ability to engage with peer questions and feedback
- *All SLOs address the respective CACREP Standards evident in the syllabus.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

In this class, you will utilize the Learning Management System (LMS) entitled D2L for portions of instructional and learning methods, submitting assignments, participating in online discussions, and completing quizzes. You will need to utilize other technologies such as Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, etc. If you have issues with this system, it is your responsibility to contact the help desk immediately.

Instructional Methods

This course consists of lecture and didactic learning methods, small group discussions, and inclass assignments, coupled with experiential learning and practical application. When we are not meeting face to face, you will be expected to participate and complete all online tasks via D2L In addition to this, small lecture, discussion, activities, and workshops may be utilized during this course.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

As a student in this course, you are responsible for the active learning process. Expectations of this course include the following:

- 1. You are expected to display professionalism at all times. Be respectful of your professor and peers. Be open to feedback, as you will receive this throughout the program.
- 2. Prepare for classes. Complete any and all readings prior to class time.
- 3. Complete all assignments by the deadline.
- 4. Adhere to the university student code of conduct.
- 5. Participate. During face-to-face classes, you are expected to actively participate in all activities and discussion. In the online format, you are expected to participate in all online discussions/activities. This is crucial to your learning.
- 6. All writing assignments must be done according to APA 7th edition.
- 7. Regularly check your University email. My suggestion is to check this at least once a day as your instructors and others from the department and University may contact you.
- 8. Begin your readings ASAP. Sometimes it may take more than one attempt to digest the material.
- 9. Deadlines are the last possible moment something is due—not the first moment to start. Work ahead. I realize this may not always be possible; however, when you can, do so.
- 10. Be open to the process. This degree takes time, work, effort, and growth.

Assignments/Assessments

1- Class Attendance and Discussions (70 points) - Students are expected to demonstrate regular consistent attendance in this face-to-face course. Attendance will be noted during the in-person class. Due to the nature of this class, attendance and participation are essential. Attendance is defined as being present at the start of class, being in class during class time, and staying until the end of class. Please be aware that being consistently late to class can also constitute an absence, particularly when a pattern of lateness emerges without justification. Regular class attendance and participation may include various activities such as reviewing research studies, and generally participation in various in-class small learning/discussion groups and educational activities aimed at enhancing the outlined weekly learning course objectives. Students will demonstrate knowledge and understanding of key concepts through class discussions and in-class activities. Do not expect/rely on class lecture for your learning. This class requires you to be an active and critical thinker, to share your thoughts respectfully, to engage with material honestly and openly, and to participation in-class discussions. If you are instructed to do any additional written/paper activity, it will be collected at the end of the class, these papers will be used to grade the in-class participation points at the end of the semester. This course is foundational course and attending, participating in-class discussions is thus important. You will have many opportunities to contribute to the total learning experience through attendance, discussion and assigned activities. Students must participate in discussions such that their preparation for class is evident. Active participation and professional courtesy are expected. The goal of the discussion is to stimulate conversation surrounding research and program evaluation concepts, challenge any preconceived notions relevant to research and the counseling profession, and expand your thoughts on counselors' role in research and program evaluation. Aside from regular class attendance and participation in-class learning educational activities, you will participate in a discussion-response assignment. The rubrics for this discussion assignment and the response are noted below. Parameters of this discussion assignment will be further outlined in-class. The educational intent of the discussion assignment is to further stimulate conversation surrounding research and program evaluation concepts.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

If you are unsure about your selected article, please notify the course instructor immediately so that they can assist you in identifying the correct type of article. Please utilize the resources (e.g., textbook, journal articles, websites, etc.) from this class to help understand research/program evaluation concepts mentioned in the article when developing your critique.

The goal of this article critique is to enhance your ability to identify, interpret, and evaluate empirical intervention research relevant to counseling (or area of focus), as well as be able to apply research findings to counselor practice, client care, and the counseling profession. See Rubric below grading criteria and Appendix B for the article critique outline. Pro Tip: the article critique outline contains the minimum requirements students must address. Note that Appendix B also includes some thought provoking questions for your consideration. The thought provoking questions should be used to spark thought and exploration and not serve as something that has to be addressed.

90%-100%	A
80%-89%	В
70%-79%	C
60%-69%	D
< 59%	F

Assignment/Assessment	Point Value

Power Point Presentation	100

Total points possible is 320. Your Final Grade is determined adding the point values earned from each assignment and then dividing by 320. The resulting value is multiplied by 100 to yield a percentage. For example: $(300 \text{ [points earned]}/320) \times 100 = 93.75\%$

Assignments are due as highlighted on the course syllabus and as noted on D2L. Unless noted otherwise, all assignments are due at the beginning of the class period. Late assignments if and when accepted will have 10% deducted per day late from the final score.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Browser support

D2L is committed to performing key application testing when new browser versions are released. New and updated functionality is also tested against the latest version of supported browsers. However, due to the frequency of some browser releases, D2L cannot guarantee that each browser version will perform as expected. If you encounter any issues with any of the browser versions listed in the tables below, contact D2L Support, who will determine the best course of action for resolution. Reported issues are prioritized by supported browsers and then maintenance browsers.

Supported browsers are the latest or most recent browser versions that are tested against new versions of D2L products. Customers can report problems and receive support for issues. For an optimal experience, D2L recommends using supported browsers with D2L products.

Maintenance browsers are older browser versions that are not tested extensively against new versions of D2L products. Customers can still report problems and receive support for critical issues; however, D2L does not guarantee all issues will be addressed. A maintenance browser becomes officially unsupported after one year.

Journal Article Critique Outline

1. Summary of the Article

- a. Provide a general overview of the article. Consider addressing the rationale for the study, research questions, research design, intervention used, important findings, and who the study/intervention will benefit. Remember, the goal in this section of the journal article critique is to summarize. Provide examples where necessary.
- b. Do NOT overemphasize any particular area/section in the summary of the article. The idea is to give the reader a general sense of what the article entails, while highlighting key points/elements that would draw in readers to locate the original article should they be interested. Provide examples where necessary.

2. Evidence-based Counseling Practice

a. Here you will provide a detailed description of the intervention and indicate whether or not the intervention is considered evidence-based; be sure to support your conclusion of where or not the intervention is evidence-based. Note that your selected article may include previous literature in the "literature review" section of the article (usually located in the first few paragraphs of the article and usually NOT labeled as "literature review") indicating the intervention is evidence-based, but if not, you may need to find additional resources (i.e., scholarly journal articles) to indicate whether or not. Provide examples where necessary.

3. Research and Statistical Method Used

a. Here you will provide a detailed description of both research design (i.e., true-experimental, quasi-experimental, pre-experimental) and statistical method (e.g., t-test, ANOVA, MANOVA, etc.) used. Be sure to cite scholarly sources used to support your conclusions. Provide examples where necessary.

4. Critique of Research and How the Intervention/Research is Important to Counseling

- a. Here you will provide your OPINION, supported with evidence (i.e., scholarly sources), as to whether or not the article and research is (a) rigorous/trustworthy, (b) conducted in an ethical manner, and (c) takes into consideration of any multicultural factors. Provide examples where necessary.
- b. A question to consider is would you use this intervention/research as a counselor or would you allow a counselor to perform the intervention on you or rely on the research to inform their counseling practice? Why or why not?

Here are some questions that may help spark thoughts throughout the critique. Not that there is no requirement to use any of the questions below. They are meant to orient your thinking as you develop the content for this assignment.

- 1. Are the title and/or abstract of the article appropriate and clear?
- 2. Is the purpose of the study/article clear?
- 3. Is the discussion of the findings/content relevant to the study purpose?
- 4. Have the authors cited essential and necessary literature related to the study topic?
- 5. Are there any sections of the article that need to be expanded or omitted?
- 6. Are the authors' ideas and/or statements clear or ambiguous?
- 7. Is the research important for the field (counseling)?
- 8. Has the intervention been clearly described?
- 9. Are the research methods described in detail and are they understandable? Are they correct?
- 10. How did the authors incorporate research implications? Did they do so appropriately?
- 11. How would you use the research findings from your article (both clients served and the profession of counseling)?

Appendix C

a. Area(s) of Interest

- a. A detail description of interests (what are you passionate about as it related to counseling). Be sure to rely on more than a single source.
- b. Current available research on area(s) of interest (present the research). What is does the research say? What populations are being examined?
- c. What area(s) of your research interest do perceive are missing (what needs to be further researched). It could be a certain population, setting, intervention, treatment format, kind/type of research and so forth.

b. Method of Research

a. How would you investigate your areas of interest? I recognize the limitations involved in completing this portion, but use what you known. Dive into the literature and see what other researchers have done to explore yours or similar interests. For example, I would you an experimental type of research because Or, I would use a case study design because You are encouraged to explore your textbook and other resources to address this portion of the assignment.

c. Future Direction and Dissemination

- a. What type of answers would you like to find in regard to your areas of interest? In other words, what do you want to know further about your research interests that has NOT been discovered?
