Textbook(s) Required: For this course, we will be using a platform called Top Hat that is included through East Texas A&M University's Inclusive Access fee that was charged to your bursar account when you registered for this course. You will not need to make any additional purchases. Top Hat will be accessible through our course shell in D2L. While you will receive an email about being able to opt out of this inclusive access, Top Hat is required for the course. To gain access to Top Hat, you will create an account using your LeoMail (university email) when you receive an email from the campus bookstore. Be on the lookout for this email at the start of the semester. If you have any issues with Top Hat, you should contact support@tophat.com.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Eng. 100 is a non-credit course providing an introduction to the elements of literacy necessary for college-level reading and writing. In this course, students receive substantial feedback the instructor tailored to their specific needs. This course serves as a support course for ENG 1301 and is required of those students who are not Texas Success Initiative (TSI) complete in either reading and/or writing, but this course is also available to anyone who may desire additional support for ENG 1301. If you have completed courses that exempt you from ENG 100 and you believe you have been misplaced in this course, notify your instructor ASAP.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

In English 100, students can expect to:

- Practice critical reading skills
- Build a rhetorical vocabulary and individualized writing process
- Develop original responses and make claims about a range of texts
- Use evidence to support claims, including quoting, paraphrasing, and summarizing
- Place sources in conversation through synthesis
- Organize ideas in paragraphs
- Demonstrate revision and reflection

These Learning Outcomes are designed to align with the Learning Outcomes for English 1301.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

Through readings, in-class discussions, and small response papers, students develop critical reading practices and individualized writing processes. The course begins by discussing the writing process (generally) and establishing a rhetorical vocabulary to aid in analysis. Anchor texts from ENG 1301 will help students “break down” complex texts and develop original responses that build writing skills. The course concludes with a portfolio and reflection assignment.

Student Responsibilities and Tips for Success in the Course

For each class meeting, come to class on time and prepared. Coming to class prepared means having completed any reading/homework beforehand and bringing the required materials like a charged device for textbook access and note-taking. Here is a brief list of responsibilities and tips for success:

1. Successful students refer to the syllabus frequently throughout the semester.
2. Successful students attend class regularly.
3. Successful students communicate with their professors and peers regularly and respectfully.
4. Successful students plan their weeks with organizational tools.
5. Successful students study effectively with techniques like practice testing and distributed practice.

Note: This information is taken from “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry, 3rd edition. For the full version of these strategies, see your textbook in Top Hat.

GRADING

Midterm and final grades in this course are based on the following scale:

A = 90 – 100
B = 80 – 89
C = 70 – 79
D = 60 – 69
F = Below 60

Assignments are weighted as follows:

Writing Assignments	30%
• Writing Histories and Your Goals Reflection (complete/incomplete) • Response to Anchor Texts
Writing Activities (in-class)	40%
• Collaborative projects • Class writing practices
ENGL 100 Semester Portfolio	20%
• Revised Response Papers • Reflection on Writer’s Process • Semester Glossary
TopHat Readings	10%
• Discussion Questions from Class Readings
Total	100%

COURSE ASSESSMENT

As an instructor, my approach to classroom assessment is based on providing corrective feedback, either direct or indirect, and I encourage students to do collaborative processing of feedback to enhance their writing skills. The feedback is provided to help students see their areas of improvement, and I encourage all students to reach out to me in case they have any inquiries about the feedback received. My approach to classroom assessment is based on dynamic assessment. That is, it is performance enhancement, feedback and revision-focused. This means that if you turn in your work on time, meet all the requirements of the assignment, and your submission demonstrates critical thinking and strong effort, then you will receive full credit.

LATE WORK & INCOMPLETE SUBMISSIONS

Late work: Generally speaking, I do not accept late work. Deadlines are important for staying on track with the goals of this course. However, I do understand that, from time to time, circumstances may arise that can prevent you from completing your work on time. If you need extra time on an assignment, contact me via email (no later than 24 hours before the deadline) and request an extension. Extensions are granted on a case-by-case basis.

Incomplete or Short Submissions: Each major writing assignment you complete this semester gives you room to explore the unit's concepts within a certain length—a word count for an essay, a time length for a podcast or video, etc. You will not lose points if you're within 50 words for minor assignments and 100 words for longer assignments. However, you may lose points if your project is significantly shorter than required, or if it is otherwise incomplete (not fully following instructions, lacking required components, missing formatting, etc.)

ASSIGNMENTS

Full prompts for assignments are available in Top Hat and/or D2L. Below is a summary of each:

1. Writing Histories and Your Goals Reflection: Briefly describe your previous experiences with writing, what the course objectives mean to you, and create 2-4 learning goals.
2. Reading Response: Reflect on the assigned texts by tapping on the main
3. concepts/experiences covered, how they compare and contrast, and how you relate to them.
4. Collaborative Writing Projects: You will write two essays in groups. These two projects showcase your awareness of employing academic writing features introduced in the courses, including developing a good thesis statement, well-developed paragraphs, integrating sources, and using rhetorical devices and moves to produce well-structured and developed products.
5. Semester Glossary: Keep a glossary of key terms, concepts, and new vocabulary from all assigned readings, course lectures, or your research. This will help you build your understanding of these concepts and integrate them into your written pieces.
6. Final Portfolio: Revise at least three response papers into having a solid thesis with solid topic sentence relationships and compose a reflection on your writing process.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Policies

Email Etiquette

For a light-hearted and humorous explanation of academic email etiquette, read “How to Email Your Professor (without being annoying AF)” by Laura Portwood-Stacer here.

In sum, all emails to your instructor should include the following elements:

1. Subject Line: Your subject line should be clear and specific. Recommended format: Name. Class and Section #. Topic of Email.
2. Salutation: Greet your instructor by their preferred name.
3. Body: Keep your message clear, concise, and respectful (it should not look like a text message). Use a respectful tone throughout. Remember to keep your audience in mind and that every interaction is a reflection of your academic persona.
4. Closing: End your email with an appropriate closing followed by your full name. For more details about these elements, an example email, and a template, see “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry through your Top Hat platform.

Attendance

I take attendance during our icebreaker or review session at the beginning of each class. I will maintain an attendance record all semester, but attendance is not directly factored into your grade, yet you need to keep in mind that class participation does factor into your grade.

While your attendance does not directly impact your grade, “it is important to attend class on time and come to class prepared (preparation means having completed any reading/homework beforehand and bringing the required materials like a charged device for textbook access and notetaking). Attending class on time ensures that you do not miss any course announcements, reminders, lectures, or activities. Attending your writing class is important beyond receiving information because your writing classes are not primarily “lecture” courses. Instead, English 1301 and English 1302 help you build your critical reading, writing, and thinking skills through class discussions, in-class activities, and peer-to-peer collaboration. Learning, in these classes specifically, is a social activity that is only impactful if you attend, engage, and participate.”

For more information about attendance and participation, see “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry through your Top Hat platform.

Submission Guidelines

You will submit your writing assignments on D2L. You must use a D2L-compliant file type such as Word .docx, PDF, PowerPoint .pptx, etc. Apple Users: Pages are not a D2L compliant file type.

Civility

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook. Your instructor reserves the right to ask any student to leave the class if any student proves distracting or disruptive to their instructor and/or peers. If a student is asked to leave, the student must meet with the instructor during office hours before returning to class.

Interaction With the Instructor

My goal is to be as flexible and compassionate as possible. If you have questions or need support, please email me or come to my office hours. I will do whatever I can to help you meet your learning goals. To answer emails as quickly and accurately as possible, please follow the email etiquette guidelines described above and in “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry (available on Top Hat). I respond to emails within 48 hours, Monday-Friday, 8a.m. – 5p.m. Emails received after 5p.m. on Friday will be answered on the following Monday.

In the case when the Director of Writing is the instructor, the student should contact Dr. Hunter Hayes, Chair of the Department of Literature and Languages (hunter.hayes@etamuc.edu). Where applicable, students should also consult University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.05 (“Student Appeal of Instructor Evaluation”).

COLLECTION OF DATA FOR MEASURING INSTITUTIONAL EFFECTIVENESS

To measure the level of compliance with the university's Institutional Effectiveness guidelines, throughout the semester, I will collect some of the ungraded texts you produce. The texts will be part of a portfolio created on your behalf and will be measured to ensure that our program "promotes practices that result in higher student academic achievement; an enhanced student experience; aligned and transparent decisions; and readily available information for improvement, accountability, and accreditation" (see "Department of Institutional Effectiveness," <http://www.tamuc.edu/aboutus/institutionalEffectiveness/default.aspx>). This is solely an assessment of program effectiveness and in no way affects students' course grades or GPAs.
