COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description

HIST 1302: A broad interdisciplinary course in the historical development of the United States and North America from 1865. Note: Assignments will focus on reading, writing, and analysis. Prerequisites: ENG 1301 or concurrent enrollment or ENG 1302 or concurrent enrollment.

From the instructor: This course covers Reconstruction through the late 20th century. We will cover the meaning of “republicanism” and “liberalism” in historical context, and the growth of the American economy, youth culture, national identity, and ideas of “race.” In the nineteenth century, ideas of national identity still excluded many Americans from that definition. However, in the wake of 20th century economic growth and depression, debates over race, immigration, class conflict, and global warfare led to civil rights movements, youth consciousness, and a flowering of popular culture fueled by African Americans among others. This class aims to make sense of the modern American transformation to a more inclusive (not perfect) democratic republic. The class in essence is a study of popular culture, which reflects expectations of Americans at a given time in history, late 19th through late 20th century. We study aspects of film, music, radio, and TV. All media reflected popular expectations and behaviors at a given time—they were “mirrors.” This helps us analyze major events, movements and people in the modern United States: a very powerful modern state, and perhaps the most complex.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Materials – Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

Required Texts:

Franz, Kathleen et al., Major Problems in American Popular Culture, 1st Ed.
(Cengage Learning, 2012) ISBN 9780618474813

Eric Foner, Give Me Liberty! An American History, Seagull 7th Edition, Vol. 2
(W.W. Norton, 2019) ISBN 9781324041481

Malcolm X, The Autobiography of Malcolm X
(Various editions, 1978 [1965], or others)

Student Learning Outcomes

As a Core Curriculum requirement, this class focuses on four common Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Critical Thinking - Students will be able to analyze, evaluate, or solve problems when given a set of circumstances, data, texts, or art.
2. Oral/Visual Communication - Students will communicate in a manner appropriate to audience and occasion with an evident message and organizational structure.
3. Personal Responsibility - Students will understand and practice academic honesty.
4. Social Responsibility - Students will demonstrate an understanding of societal and/or civic issues.

Student Learning Outcomes will be assessed by the Student Responsibility Quiz and a Primary Source Analysis assignment.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional Methods and Assessment

Participation and attendance: Regular attendance is expected, as well as regular questions and comments from students. Five points will be deducted for every three unexcused absences.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Late assignments can be turned in only the week that they are due, and five points will automatically be deducted from them. Other lectures and film/video presentations will relate to class readings. Class time is meant for both lecture and discussion, so participation is important whether class involves interaction or film/video presentations.

Assignments, Student Responsibilities, Expectations, and Tips for Success

The instructor reserves the right to dismiss students from class time, for any reason, and drop students from the class in extreme circumstances. Use of electronic devices – including phones -- during face-to-face class time is prohibited. Notes should be handwritten unless there is an exemption due to a documented physical disability, provided through the Office of Student Disability Resources and Services. The instructor reserved the right to deduct grades points for cellphone or any other device. Plagiarism: Taking work directly from other sources and presenting it as your own is a serious academic offense and will automatically result in a “0” grade for your paper, and possibly for the class. In addition, students will need to meet with the instructor for an explanation and will be subject to disciplinary action by the University. Modern technology has made detection of plagiarism easier than ever before, and faculty members in most cases have adopted a “zero tolerance” policy for such actions. All work produced for this class must be specific to History 1302 for the Fall 2025 semester.

Primary Source Analysis Assignments: This assignment asks students to analyze information, communicate clearly and effectively, and show awareness of social and civil issues or problems. Using the selected primary source document, students should write 1-2 paragraphs that: (1) identify the author/creator and context of the document (including when and where it was created); (2) consider the purpose of the document, including the author’s goals in its creation and its intended audience; and (3) evaluate the document, analyzing why this document is important to help understand the historical period or the events it describes (its significance), and how the document contributes to our historical understanding of the period (historical causes and effect). The written analysis should be presented using full and complete sentences and proper grammar and punctuation.

GRADING

Final grades in this course are based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Assessments

Attendance and Participation = 100 points

Exams = 150 points total

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Short Assignments = 120 points total
Malcom X Discussion (online and in-class) = 30 points
Short Assignment video presentations (2) = 30 points total
Adobe Presentations = 20 points
*Also extra credit assignments

Total = 450 points possible (minus the lowest Short Assignment paper grades)

Exams: Two handwritten writing exams are assigned in this class. Students will answer two out of three questions in standard essay form. There are no makeup exams for class; they may be taken prior to the scheduled date.

Short Assignments: Students will analyze primary sources (explained in class). For Primary Source assignments, students write 2-3 pages responding to questions based on documents in Major Problems in American Popular Culture. There is a five-point deduction from any papers turned in past the due date up to a week. For written and discussion-based Short Assignments, lowest grades are dropped from the final score for each. In addition, there are two discussions on The Autobiography of Malcolm worth of total of 30 points (equivalent to one writing assignment). Type all writing assignments in 12-point Times New Roman, single space with headings (explained in class). In addition, students will make at least one 5-minute Adobe-based video presentation, and one 5-minute (or less) video presentation on a Short Assignment of their choice. Students are also assigned a brief Academic Honesty Quiz.

*Cell phone use is prohibited while class is in session and will result in deduction of points or dismissal from class for violations of that policy

AI Use Policy

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there may be legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course. Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism). Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructor's guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed. In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities.
