Course Delivery

The professor will deliver in person lectures and demonstrations during class period. Additional resources are available through the Universities D2L Portal.

Course Description and Objectives:

Continued investigation of skills and concepts learned in ART 2326. issues in sculpture such as site, context, process, psychology and aesthetics of the object, and the object's relation to the body. During the semester the class will explore issues of interpretation and audience interaction. Students encouraged to develop their own direction in their work. Whereas this is a studio-oriented class with a strong physical basis, this class will be examining these issues via readings, artist lectures, slides, videos, a field trip and other material.

Upon Completion of this course you will be able to: • Identify the various tools used in creating sculptures. • Create proposals for sculptures. • Create many different kinds of sculpture.

Requirements:

Assignments are given one-at-a-time and the majority of class time will be studio based. Demonstrations with specific materials will be given and progress will be accessed through group and individual meetings. Although studio time allows you to challenge yourself while attempting to make interesting and thoughtful work, students will need to work on projects consistently outside of class (a minimum of 6+ hours a week outside of class time) in order to pass this course. Four major projects will be given during the course of the semester along with smaller projects interspersed throughout.

Completion of all projects is required for a passing grade, as is regular attendance. The course will utilize readings periodically to focus and generate discussion as well as to inspire. Participation/preparation in these discussions is mandatory. Sketchbook: A book (blank, unlined, is ideal) for this class is a requirement. To be used both for artistic ideas aswell as retaining technical information. When individual meetings occur it is important to have this available.

Safety:

Come to class prepared to work! With a myriad of different production techniques there are equally numerous ways of doing unintentional injury to yourself and others around you. The following should always be followed:

1. Wear work clothes.
2. Have closed toed shoes.
3. No loose hair.
4. No loose jewelry.
5. Wear gloves when appropriate.
6. Wear eye protection when appropriate.
7. Clean up after yourself.
8. Lift heavy objects carefully and with assistance.
9. No firearms or weapons allowed in sculpture facility because of the inherent danger of possessing weapons around dangerous equipment.

If you're not sure about a procedure or equipment ask someone. (Course Instructor, TA, Woodshop Monitor) Note on Tools:

Before using any machinery, make sure your hair is tied back. Always wear safety glasses when operating equipment. Be gentle with the tools. I will give tool demonstrations. If you ever have a question regarding tool use and safety, ask me for help. Do not use a tool by yourself unless you have participated in a demonstration and are experienced with using that tool safely.

Note on Documentation:

It's extremely important to document your work and to do it well. You will have invested a lot of thought, time and energy into everything that you make. Documentation (through still images, video or both) gives you the opportunity to apply for shows, grants, graduate programs and art related jobs. You are required to document each of your projects by taking quality images with a digital camera. At the end of the course, you will need to give those images to me as high quality JPEGS (emailed is fine) and incorporate them into a professional portfolio-based website of your work.

Requirements:

Individual project grades: 60 %

Final Portfolio Presentation: 20 %

Effort and engagement: 20%

The course will utilize readings periodically to focus and generate discussion as well as to inspire. Participation/preparation in these discussions is mandatory. Tape measure.

Note on Materials:

Each student is responsible for purchasing his or her own materials. Materials will vary from person to person depending on what he or she is making. Art making can be inexpensive or costly depending on the materials used. It is the instructors goal that the course materials cost less than $250.00. If we are forced to move this course to completely online instruction, then the costs for the course could increase to 450.00. Materials for demonstration purposes will be provided.

All users of Department of Art (DOA) classrooms and facilities are required to follow the health and safety guidelines outlined in this manual at all times. Report any safety issues IMMEDIATELY to your instructor(s), Teaching Laboratory Specialist, or to the DOA Health and Safety Liaison. Each course instructor will discuss their area's inherent risks, procedures and policies to provide the student with informed consent. These will be reviewed verbally at the start of each semester. CLASS PARTICIPATION & PROFESSIONALISM:

Participation is very important in studio and seminar classes. You are expected to participate fully, actively, and professionally in class, be it online or in person. This means that you work efficiently and effectively both individually and within small groups. You are also encouraged to speak up and to share your thoughts in discussion and critique.

Professional and respectful conduct is expected from everyone at all times. The use (even silent use) of cell phones is absolutely prohibited during class. Please turn these items off, and do not take them out during class. Each time your phone rings or vibrates in my class, your final grade will drop by two points. Each time I notice you texting or otherwise engaging in social media or games in class (on any device), your final grade will drop by two points.

GROUP CRITIQUES & DISCUSSIONS:

Discussions and critiques will provide a forum in which you will have the opportunity to articulate your ideas, to collaborate with your colleagues, to appreciate multiple points of view, to understand and explore complex concepts, and to learn from one another. When your fellow students present their work you will be asked to comment in a thoughtful (which does mean kind) articulate and professional manner. The major assignments in class will provide the occasion for critique and discussion of presentations and art works.

Your participation grade is based on how regularly and professionally you participate in class and critiques. I expect each student to make a positive contribution during class discussions, critiques, and cleanup/sculpture lab improvement times. Critiques will provide you with valuable feedback from your peers and myself. I encourage you to take notes of the comments being made during your critique so you have a record of the discussion. The following is a general guideline to help you understand your final grade:

A - Excellent: You should possess exceptional attitude which is reflected in your critique participation, response to criticism and professional conduct. Your work must manifest remarkable achievement both in quantity and quality. Your ability to communicate ideas should exhibit noteworthy achievement.

B - Good: You should have a positive attitude which is reflected in your critique participation, response to criticism and professional conduct is expected. Your work must manifest high quality achievement. You should possess sound, above-average ability to communicate your ideas.

C - Satisfactory: A positive attitude which is reflected in your critique participation, response to criticism and professional conduct is expected. Your work must manifest acceptable achievement both in quality and quantity. You should possess satisfactory ability to communicate your ideas.

D - Poor: Exhibiting a below standard or indifferent attitude which is reflected in your critique participation, response to criticism and professional conduct could also result in this grade. A grade of D indicates your work is less than acceptable in quality and/or quantity. This grade could indicate your inability to satisfactorily communicate ideas.

F - Failure: If you possess an unacceptable attitude which is reflected in your lack of critique participation, response to criticism and professional conduct, and/or your work shows a pattern of low productivity and/or unacceptable quality you could receive a failing grade. Note: Plagiarism will not be tolerated in this class.

Texas A&M University–Commerce does not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. “Academic dishonesty” includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism (the appropriation or stealing of the ideas or words of another and passing them off as one’s own), cheating on exams or other course assignments, collusion (the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing course assignments), and abuse (destruction, defacing, or removal) of resource materials. Plagiarism will result in a failing grade for the course.

Important: Part of your grade includes cleaning up after yourself. This means throwing away trash, storing projects properly, sweeping floors, organizing the Sculpture Lab, cleaning the tables, and working with others to maintain and improve the cleanliness of the facility.

No one may leave the class until the entire work space has been cleaned up. I reserve the right to hold a clean-up time or hour during class time if the studio space is in need of upkeep. This will take away from your studio time. To avoid this, you must work together to keep the space clean on a regular basis.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Shop Hours:

You will need to plan and use your time wisely both in and out of class. In addition to class time, you will have to work on your projects outside of class on a regular basis to complete the projects. Some of the work can be completed outside of the Sculpture Lab (drawing, researching, writing, purchasing and gathering materials, etc.). While the projects have been designed to be completed without the use of the sculpture lab, its use will enhance your experience in the class and make the completion of some assignments easier.

Shop hours will be posted during the first week of the semester.
