2. demonstrate their understanding of the different ESL methodologies. They will demonstrate this understanding during the class discussions, peer review feedback as well as in their online discussion posts.
3. apply basic principles of ESL language teaching methodology. They will demonstrate their ability to apply these basic principles in the lesson plan assignments as well as during the learning activities they facilitate in this online course.
4. demonstrate their understanding of the effects of different ESL methods on language learning and teaching. This will be demonstrated in their reading response to an article on the topic.

Assessments

The assessments consist of a series of activities and assessments to assist you in achieving the outcomes for the course. Each week you will work on various combinations of assignments, activities, discussions, and readings. The grading rubric for each assessment is available on D2L.

Lesson Plans (10 x 3 = 30%)

There are three lesson plans throughout the semester. Lesson plans are based on your textbook on techniques in language learning. You will be assigned one method for each lesson plan. Based on this teaching method, you will complete a lesson plan that links the thoughts, beliefs, attitudes, values, and awareness of this method to action in the classroom. Each of your lesson plans will respond directly to the principles and techniques that guide the assigned method. This assignment is an opportunity for you to closely reflect on your teaching practice, specifically, how your own beliefs and ‘maxims’ guide your teaching practice.

Teaching Method Schemata (2 x 11 = 22%)

For each teaching method we study, you will create your schema of it and put it on a chart. Your schema chart is due at the end of each week prior to the week we start learning a new teaching method. Think of this chart as your unique cheat sheet that contains the name of the method, its main principles, the pros and cons with your explanations as to why they are pros or cons (i.e., your reasoning), and your notes or ideas. The schemata chart titles can look like the one below:

Teaching Method	Main Principles	Main Techniques	Pros (with reasoning)	Cons (with reasoning)	My notes and Ideas

You will put all the schemas in the same word document. At the end of the semester, you will have the schemata of eleven teaching methods in your chart. It will be useful to you both to have a quick overview of all the methods and to figure out what are the principles and activities you want to include in your classroom practice.

Discussion Posts (22%)

You are expected to do the readings and to take part in the discussions by making comments and sharing ideas on the topic. Your discussion will be composed of the two components:

- (1) Discussion on questions based on the lecture videos
- (2) Discussion on the activity facilitation

Activity Facilitation (15%)

Each student will be responsible for teaching a language element to the other students using the method (and the week) they have assigned up for. This is a one-time activity for each student. You may need to work individually or in pairs based on the number of students enrolled. The student(s) will submit the draft activity to the instructor by the Tuesday prior to the week they have signed up to present the activity, (e.g. if you will present your activity in week 3, you will submit your draft, as a PowerPoint, to the teacher in week 2 on Tuesday). This activity draft should detail the elements taught during the activity, the objectives of the activity, how the activity follows the elements of the teaching method, the material required to do the activity, and what the teacher and the students need to do.

Reading Responses (5.5 x 2 = 11%)

You will write two reading responses to two different scholarly articles. Each response will be between 350 and 500 words long and will include the following elements: a short summary of the text, what you learned, what surprised you, and some comments or your opinion on the article. You should also make connections to class discussions.

Academic Honesty Policy

Texas A&M University-Commerce does not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. Conduct that violates generally accepted standards of academic honesty is defined as academic dishonesty. "Academic dishonesty" includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism (the appropriation or stealing of the ideas or words of another and passing them off as one's own), cheating on exams or other course assignments, collusion (the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing course assignments), and abuse (destruction, defacing, or removal) of resource material.

Avoid Self-plagiarism

Self-plagiarism is reusing one's own previously written work partially or entirely in another piece of work without referring to the previous use. Instructors expect unique coursework for individual classes to demonstrate students' persistent learning and growth. Submitting an assignment that has already been submitted for another class, also called "recycling fraud", is a form of academic misconduct and never allowed. In case you want to further explore a research topic that you have examined in another class, please do ask for the instructor's permission beforehand.

AI Use in Course

Texas A&M University-Commerce acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

13.99.99.R0.03 Undergraduate Academic Dishonesty

13.99.99.R0.10 Graduate Student Academic Dishonesty

Dr. Cheng's guidelines on the use of AI in ENG 457:

- You cannot trust anything said by an AI tool. If it gives you a number or fact, assume it is wrong unless you can verify it with another credible source. You will be responsible for any errors or omissions provided by the tool. It works best for topics you understand.
- Do not trust AI to supply citation information. Do your own research and include the proper citation information in your writing.
- You are not allowed to use AI to generate an entire assignment.

- You are permitted to use AI to facilitate your completion of the course assignments if you acknowledge your use of it and document how you use it. Please include a statement at the end of any assignment that uses AI explaining what you used the AI for and the link of your chat history. Failure to do so is in violation of academic honesty policies.
- When in doubt about whether your use of AI in a course assignment is appropriate, check with me before submitting your work for a grade.

Students who have concerns regarding their courses should first address those concerns with the assigned instructor in order to reach a resolution. Students who are unsatisfied with the outcome of that conversation or have not been able to meet individually with their instructor, whether in-person, by email, by telephone, or by another communication medium, should then schedule an appointment with the Department Head or Assistant Department Head by completing a Student Grievance Form (available in the main office, DTH141).
