COURSE INFORMATION

Materials – Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

Textbook(s) Required: Babbie, Earl. 2010. The Basics of Social Research, 5th edition. Belmont, CA: Thomson Wadsworth Publishing. ISBN: 0495812242. ANY EDITION should work

Course Description

An introduction to the process, logic, and skills of social science research inquiry. The range of research designs, their strengths and weaknesses, the specific research tools needed for the collection of sociological data, and introductory analytical techniques are examined. Required of all majors and a prerequisite for Sociology 332.

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

1. Students will be able to conduct ethical research within the bounds of the ethical expectations set forth by the Institutional Review Board. They will complete IRB training at TAMUC online and then file an exempt IRB as part of their course assessment.
2. Students will be able to define and explain the fundamental concepts of the methods used in social science research. This SLO will be assessed through the two exams for the course.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

3. Students will be to critically read and evaluate research reports and publications. This SLO will be assessed in weekly in class assignments and projects.
4. Student will be able to apply different research methods to a research question. This SLO will be assessed by their final project and weekly in class assignments and projects.

Classroom Expectations:

1. Students must be prepared to participate in group work and be prepared to take notes and complete work with their peers.
2. Students must come prepared to learn. That's why it is essential to participate in class discussions online and by reading the chapter ahead of time.
3. Please treat everyone with respect. Disrespectful behavior towards anyone in the classroom will not be tolerated. You will be asked to leave the course if disrespectful behavior persists.

Assessments:IRB Approval (50 points)

Conducting the CITI approval will be a graded, first step towards gaining IRB approval. You must submit me an copy of your completed CITI certification for human subjects research.

Weekly In-Class Projects (300 Points)

Each week the course will have an in class assignment or project that is an applied learning opportunity. Research methods need to be learned through experience, not just reading about it. Thus, come to class prepared to work with other students and by yourself on various in class assignments and mini projects.

Problem Statement and Research Questions: Total of 100 points

Since the problem statement, abstract and research questions are shorter, they will be worth 100 total. The problem statement 50 points, the Research Questions will be worth 40 points, and your writing style will be worth 10 points. Follow the guidelines for a problem statement (why does this research question matter?) and your hypotheses?

Literature Review: 200 points

This draft will include an argument crafted out of the scholarly (online sources are NOT valid) literature that already exists about your research topic. You want to demonstrate in your argument that the literature is missing an important piece about the topic you are choosing to pursue and help to illuminate.

Methods Section: 100 points

This draft will include a detailed description of the methods you will be employing in your research and why those methods are the most appropriate ones to utilize to answer your research questions.

Final Research Proposal: 200 points

The outcome of the previous sections of the proposal will be put together into one polished draft that is ready for IRB approval. You must incorporate the comments from the professor and your peer reviewers in your final draft. You will be graded upon how well you have incorporated feedback into your project]

Final Presentation of Proposal: 50 points

Must do a ten to fifteen minute presentation of the research proposal, including all elements listed: hypothesis, background, research questions, literature review and proposed methods.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

To be successful in the course you must be able to use D2L, and using Microsoft Word and PowerPoint. Attendance will also be crucial in order to complete in-class assignments.

Instructional Methods

This course will be delivered partially online. You must have access to D2L in order to complete the requirements for this course.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

You must log into D2L multiple times a week in order to be successful in this course. All course communications and assignments will be completed through D2L. If you have questions regarding access to D2L or technical requirements, information to reach out to Campus IT is provided below.

Grade Policies: For incompletes, you must speak with me ahead of time and have completed most of the course work. I do not round grades, and I do not change grades after they have been submitted. Grades are available on D2L so you can track your up to date progress in the course.

EXTRA CREDIT

You are allowed to attend three on campus events and write a paragraph relating them to Sociology. Each paragraph is worth 5 points and will be graded at the end of the semester.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.
