Goals and Objectives

Students will improve technical proficiency and musicality through the study of basic repertoire and exercises for the instrument. This course will also instruct students in the areas of music history and theory by the study of music and composers. It will present students with the opportunity to show progress on the instrument through performance.

Upon successful completion of this course, the student will perform standard solo literature in the primary performance medium in one of the following:

Junior level – half recital

Senior level – full recital

Graduate level – full recital

[See Student Handbook for Revital length, procedure, & grading rubric information]

Course Requirements

Students are expected to actively participate in all assigned private lessons, studio classes, clarinet recitals, and guest artist events. Notification for excused absence must be received in advance. For excused absences students must access and watch available recorded recitals, studio classes and guest artist sessions. Students enrolled at the university as 'part-time' will have a reduced expectation for extra event attendance (50%) and may choose which of the required events to attend but must communicate with the professor(s) about their attendance in advance.

Students are expected to actively participate in all lessons by coming prepared and with all assigned materials. Practice preparation for undergraduate music majors should be a minimum of 60-90 minutes daily with increased expectations around the JLPE, all degree-required recitals, competitions, and graduate study. Practice logs are sometimes required so that faculty can better guide students in time management and effectiveness in the practice room.

All students must perform for a final jury exam unless substituting a required/adjudicated recital for a jury grade. Literature with piano accompaniment must be accompanied for jury and recital performance. This performance requires a piano rehearsal and a piano coaching with your professor prior to the performance. All music majors must also perform in public at least once during each semester of applied study. All stage performances must be preceded by a PASSED coaching and/or hearing. Depending on university and School of Music guidelines and best practices, this may be accomplished through either live or video performances.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Please communicate frequently with your professor about your piano rehearsal, coaching, hearing, jury and public performance requirement.

Secondary applied and lower classmen are often expected to play less music and/or less demanding music. Lower classmen (152) are expected to perform a solo jury of minimum 7-minutes duration and as they progress through 4 semesters of study may be asked to perform more music and/or more complex music. Upperclassmen (352) are typically expected to be preparing enough music for either a junior-level 353 recital of 25-minute duration and some continue to a senior-level (performance major) 453 recital of 50-minute duration. Graduate students are expected to learn more music and often more demanding music in preparation for a minimum of one 50-minute 553 recital and may additionally be encouraged to compete, audition and perform more frequently. The professor will work with each individual student to determine level-appropriate expectations.

Students will be expected to purchase their own books and solo literature for this course. Copies of assigned copyright-protected literature are not permitted. Students are also expected to pay for their own piano accompanist.

Students are expected to demonstrate skills in pedagogy through their observation, analysis, and feedback of the performances of other students in Studio Class. This pedagogy requirement is guided by Dr. Druhan and/or Dr. Webb. Students are expected to gain skills in this area by the observation of teaching techniques in their own private lessons and through the observation of teaching techniques of other students in studio class, guest artist classes on campus, and optional conference attendance or optional observations of master teachers online. Graduate students may have specific pedagogy assignments and projects throughout their course of study.

Failure to meet the student expectations of this course may result in lowering of the final grade or dismissal from the course.

Required Textbook

Required materials are completely dependent on student level. As a general rule, every student is expected to have at least one scale book per semester, one etude book per semester, one unaccompanied solo per semester, and one accompanied solo per semester. This expectation is expanded for long performances and competitions. Please communicate often with your professor about necessary music.

Recommended Course Materials

Students are expected to have all materials necessary to perform for their lesson and studio class. This includes pencil, swab, all parts of the instrument(s), many reeds, reed working equipment, scale and etude and excerpt books, solo repertoire, notebook, metronome, tuner, computer/monitor/tablet, (for distance learning, if permitted) quality speakers/headphone, internet/WiFi access, and video capabilities (zoom, skype or facetime), etc.

For every lesson, please arrive with your instrument ready-to-play, a notebook for assignments, your assigned scale book/assignment, etudes, a solo(s) you plan to perform this semester, your fundamental warm-up and practice materials, and your audition music for ensembles [this last is required only for lesson 1]. If you have questions, please ask your instructor in advance and come prepared.

NOTE: in the Recital Sections 353, 453, and 553 Applied Clarinet, the student will be assigned additional grade components which REQUIRE that the student pass the juried hearing and the juried recital in order to proceed to the recital. For D2L purposes, these course shells will have “pass/fail” requirements and grade points for the following to track progress:

successfully scheduling the recital 20 points passed piano rehearsals 20 points passed faculty coachings 20 points passed recital hearings 20 points passed recital grades 20 points the recital must pass in order to pass the overall course

If these requirements are not met, the recital section course grade will be assigned as a failing grade, regardless of the grade in the regular applied clarinet lessons. If the requirements are met, the regular applied lesson grade will be applied to the recital section to be averaged into the overall recital section as 90% of the overall grade 900 points. The final 10% comes from the 100 points outlined above.

See the Music Student Handbook for details on the degree-required recital process. See the D2L grade book for clarification on your recital section grading or come ask me in lessons or office hours.

Final grade assignment:

90 - 100% = A
