

English 1301-WHE (202580)

College Reading and Writing

COURSE SYLLABUS: FALL 2025

COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description:

ENGL 1301: College Reading and Writing. Three semester hours. Introduces students to writing as an extended, complex, recursive process and prepares students for English 1302, which more rigorously examines the forms and structures of argument and means to approaching multiple audiences. In 1301 students will write weekly, and will work on essay organization and development. The course will emphasize close reading, summarizing, and analysis of expository texts, including student writing.

Core Curriculum Course Objectives:

- Critical Thinking Skills: to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information;
- Communication Skills: to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication;
- Teamwork: to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal;
- Personal Responsibility: to include the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making.

English 1301 Learning Outcomes:

- Define important terms/concepts including, but not limited to, literacy, sponsor, code-switching, code-meshing, embodiment, and writing processes;
- Discuss the ways these terms expand based on cultural and communicative practices;
- Examine scholarly, personal, and/or multimodal course texts that detail varying understandings and applications of key terms/concepts;
- Develop writing processes that allow for personal exploration of key terms/concepts;
- Engage in collaboration that supports individualized and communal understanding and writing development;
- Consider the various affordances and constraints of composing using different technologies (analog, digital, and/or multimodal), practices, styles, and/or languages;
- Compose texts across different genres and media of writing that further expand key terms/concepts based on personal experiences and engagement with important course texts;
- Reflect on your writing experiences and literacy practices;

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- Design individualized learning goals appropriate for a first-year writing course; and
- Assess individualized learning goals based on labor and performance alongside feedback from peers and the instructor.

Instructional Methods :

This is a face-to-face class. We will meet everyday during your assigned class period. For most classes, we will start with a writer's notebook task that you will complete in a composition book. From there, I will give a brief lecture of new material and then we will engage in a class discussion or activity. I provide as much in-class writing time as possible, so you have many opportunities to seek help on assignments. I provide revision-based feedback on all writing activities and major writing assignments submitted to D2L.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course:

For each class meeting, come to class on time and prepared. Coming to class prepared means having completed any reading/homework beforehand and bringing the required materials like a charged device for textbook access and notetaking.

Here's a brief list of responsibilities and tips for success:

1. Successful students refer to the syllabus frequently throughout the semester.
2. Successful students attend class regularly.
3. Successful students communicate with their professors and peers regularly and respectfully.
4. Successful students plan their weeks with organizational tools.
5. Successful students study effectively with techniques like practice testing and distributed practice.

Note: This information is taken from "Some Habits for Success in College" in Writing Inquiry, 3rd edition. For the full version of these strategies, see your textbook in Top Hat.

COURSE ASSESSMENT

As an instructor, my approach to classroom assessment is labor-based and revision-focused. This means that if you turn in your work on time, meet all the requirements of the assignment, and your submission demonstrates critical thinking and strong effort, then you will receive full credit.

The only reasons you may not receive full credit on an assignment are:

1. Late submissions: The original deadline is important—both for you and your instructor! The day that you submit a major writing assignment marks the end of one unit and the beginning of a new one. This means that it is hard to catch up if you get behind. The deadline is also important for your instructor to provide feedback in a timely manner.
2. Short projects: Each major writing assignment you complete this semester gives you room to explore the unit's concepts within a certain length—a word count for an essay, a time length for a podcast or video, etc. You will not lose points if you're within 50 words for minor assignments and 100 words for longer assignments (or 30 seconds for minor assignments and 1 minute for longer assignments). However, you may lose points if your project is significantly shorter than required.

3. Misunderstood-the-assignment projects: Although many of the writing assignment prompts give you room to explore, there are certain requirements that still need to be met including engaging with the core concepts and questions included in the prompt. For example, if the prompt asks you to define X and analyze Y and Z in context 1 and 2, but you only define X and summarize what that looks like in one context, then you may not receive full credit. Or, if an assignment asks you to support your argument with credible sources and you do not include any secondary sources or only include sources that are not credible, then you may not receive full credit.

For each project, I will provide written revision-based feedback in D2L focused on higher order concerns. This feedback is meant to promote improvement in your writing process so that your writing improves with each new assignment. For more information about higher order concerns and the writing process, see “Making Collaboration Worth It” and “Good Writing is Always Hard” in Unit 10 of Writing Inquiry on Top Hat.

Midterm and final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

- A = 90%-100%
- B = 80%-89%
- C = 70%-79%
- D = 60%-69%
- F = 59% or Below

Weights of the assessments in the calculation of the final letter grade.

Writing Assignments	40%
Writing Histories and Your Goals Reflection	complete/incomplete
Rhetorical Analysis: Synthesis	10%
Rhetorical Analysis: Advertisement	10%
Narrating Your Literacies	10%
Reading a Body's Rhetoric	10%
English 1301 Semester Portfolio	40%
Writing Activities	20%
TOTAL	100%

Assignments:

Full prompts for assignments are available in Top Hat and/or D2L. Full prompts for assignments are available in Top Hat and/or D2L. Below is a summary of each:

1. Writing Histories and Your Goals Reflection: Briefly describe your previous experiences with writing, what the course objectives mean to you, and create 2-4 learning goals.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

2. Rhetorical Analysis: Synthesis Choose a topic related to the texts read in class and write an essay in which you analyze an aspect of rhetoric.
3. Rhetorical Analysis: Advertisement Part 1—In groups, create a multimodal advertisement for a new product of your group's own invention. Use your understanding of rhetorical appeals to execute creative design and content decisions. Part 2—Individually, write an essay explaining the rhetoric behind your advertisement.
4. Narrating Your Literacies: Create your own short literacy narrative by identifying by a discourse that you are a part of and the knowledge and skills required to be part of that discourse.
5. Reading a Body's Rhetoric: In a short composition or multimodal project, either tell the story of your body or analyze the way a piece of media "reads" a body.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Students must navigate our course platforms (D2L and Top Hat) as well as a word processing system such as Google Docs.

LMS:

All course sections offered by Texas A&M University-Commerce have a corresponding course shell in the myLeo Online Learning Management System (LMS). Below are technical requirements

COURSE SPECIFIC PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Interaction with Instructor Statement:

My goal is to be as flexible and compassionate as possible. If you have questions or need support, ask during your class period, email me, or come to my class during Flex.. I will do whatever I can to help you meet your learning goals. To answer emails as quickly and accurately as possible, please follow the email etiquette guidelines described below. I respond to emails within 24-hours, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Email Etiquette

In sum, all emails to your instructor should include the following elements:

1. Subject Line: Your subject line should be clear and specific. Recommended format: Name. Class and Section #. Topic of Email.
2. Salutation: Greet your instructor by their preferred name.
3. Body: Keep your message clear, concise, and respectful (it should not look like a text message). Use a respectful tone throughout. Remember to keep your audience in mind and that every interaction is a reflection of your academic persona.
4. Closing: End your email with an appropriate closing followed by your full name.

For more details about these elements, an example email, and a template, see “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry through your Top Hat platform.

Attendance:

While your attendance does not directly impact your grade, “it is important to attend class on time and come to class prepared (preparation means having completed any reading/homework beforehand and bringing the required materials like a charged device for textbook access and notetaking). Attending class on time ensures that you do not miss any course announcements, reminders, lectures, or activities. Attending your writing class is important beyond receiving information because your writing classes are not primarily “lecture” courses. Instead, English 1301 and English 1302 help you build your critical reading, writing, and thinking skills through class discussions, in-class activities, and peer-to-peer collaboration. Learning, in these classes specifically, is a social activity that is only impactful if you attend, engage, and participate.” If you miss due school-related absences, you are still responsible for meeting all deadlines.

For more information about attendance and participation, see “Some Habits for Success in College” in Writing Inquiry through your Top Hat platform.

Submission Guidelines:

You will submit your writing assignments on D2L. You must use a D2L compliant file type such as Word .docx, PDF, PowerPoint .pptx, etc. Apple Users: Pages is not a D2L compliant file type.

Grievance Procedure:

Students who have concerns regarding their courses should first address those concerns with the assigned instructor in order to reach a resolution. Students who are unsatisfied with the outcome of that conversation or have not been able to meet individually with their instructor, whether in-person, by email, by telephone, or by another communication medium, should then schedule an appointment with Dr. Charles Woods, the Director of Writing

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

(charles.woods@etamu.edu). In the case when the Director of Writing is the instructor, the student should contact Dr. Hunter Hayes, Chair of the Department of Literature and Languages (hunter.hayes@tamuc.edu). Where applicable, students should also consult University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.05 (“Student Appeal of Instructor Evaluation”).

Syllabus Change Policy:

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

UNIVERSITY SPECIFIC PROCEDURES

Student Conduct:

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook.

<http://www.tamuc.edu/Admissions/oneStopShop/undergraduateAdmissions/studentGuidebook.aspx>

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum: <https://www.britannica.com/topic/netiquette>

Nondiscrimination Notice:

Texas A&M University-Commerce will comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status. Further, an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression will be maintained.

Attendance:

For more information about the attendance policy please visit the Attendance webpage and Procedure 13.99.99.R0.01.

AI Use in Courses:

Texas A&M University-Commerce acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

13.99.99.R0.03 Undergraduate Academic Dishonesty
13.99.99.R0.10 Graduate Student Academic Dishonesty

Academic Integrity:

Students at Texas A&M University-Commerce are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all of their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

Collection of Data for Measuring Institutional Effectiveness:

To measure the level of compliance with the university's Institutional Effectiveness guidelines, throughout the semester, I will collect some of the ungraded texts you produce. The texts will be part of a portfolio created on your behalf and will be measured to ensure that our program "promotes practices that result in higher student academic achievement; an enhanced student experience; aligned and transparent decisions; and readily available information for improvement, accountability, and accreditation" (see "Department of Institutional Effectiveness," <http://www.tamuc.edu/aboutus/institutionalEffectiveness/default.aspx>). This is solely an assessment of program effectiveness and in no way affects students' course grades or GPAs.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
