Instructional Methods and Assessment

This will be primarily a lecture & readings course. The lecture & readings will provide all the evidence you need for creating evidence-based answers to the essay questions on the exams & for the reading quizzes. The exams are scheduled for in class, and you will have the entire class period to finish writing your answer.

Assignments, Student Responsibilities, Expectations, and Tips for Success

You will need to complete all the readings in a timely manner. Lectures are designed on the assumption that you have done the needed readings. You must complete all work by the established due dates.

Primary Source Analysis Assignment: This assignment asks students to analyze information, communicate clearly and effectively, and show awareness of social and civil issues or problems. Using the selected primary source document, students should write 1-2 paragraphs that: (1) identify the author/creator and context of the document (including when and where it was created); (2) consider the purpose of the document, including the author's goals in its creation and its intended audience; and (3) evaluate the document, analyzing why this document is important to help understand the historical period or the events it describes (its significance), and how the document contributes to our historical understanding of the period (historical causes and effect). The written analysis should be presented using full and complete sentences and proper grammar and punctuation.

Multiple Choice Quizzes: Quiz due dates are listed on the calendar below, they will each be available for multiple weeks in D2L. There are two reading quizzes that cover the text, lectures, & supplemental readings (SLO 4), one over Ricahrdson's To Make Men Free (SLO 4), and a Student Responsibility Quiz (SLO 3).

Exams: These will be one essay each. You must be able to write a coherent, well-structured essay that adequately addresses the question. Study questions are available in D2L. (SLO 1, 2, 4)
