Mistakes Were Made (But Not By Me): Why We Justify Foolish Beliefs, Bad Decisions, and Hurtful Acts (3rd edition) by Carol Tavris and Elliot Aronson

Optional Texts and/or Materials

All other readings and materials will be posted to D2L

Course Description

This course offers an exploration of sociological social psychology, focusing on how individuals construct, defend, and maintain the self within social contexts. We will analyze the three major sociological social psychological perspectives: symbolic interactionism, social structure and personality, and group processes. We will cover a wide range of topics, including dramaturgy, cognitive dissonance, moral panics, identity, and socialization.

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

1. Distinguish the core assumptions of the 3 major perspectives in sociological social psychology
2. Explain how the self, identity, and emotion are socially constructed through interactions, norms, and institutions
3. Apply sociological social psychological theories to real-world situations and lived experiences
4. Critically reflect on how people make sense of their actions and fall into cognitive biases (and consider ways of overcoming those biases)

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Instructional Methods

Lecture, activities, and in-class discussion.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

- This course is discussion-based, which means doing the readings before class is essential. Reading prepares you to participate, ask questions, and engage critically with others' perspectives. If we don't read, we cannot meaningfully discuss, and discussion is how we collectively deepen our understanding of the material. You are not expected to understand everything in the readings your first time through. Coming to class with questions, confusion, or points of tension is part of the learning process!
- Because of the nature of this course, regular attendance and active engagement are essential to your learning and the learning of others. Participation is not possible if you are not present!
- If you are confused, struggling, or going through something that will impact your performance in this course, please reach out to me sooner rather than later! I am happy to help get you back on track, but I can only do so if you let me know you need help.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Assessments

- In-Class Writings- Each week there will be at least one short writing assignment or activity completed in class. You must be in attendance to complete that session's in-class writing and they cannot be made up. Students who arrive in class after the in-class writing has begun may not receive credit for that day's writing. Three will be dropped, giving you some wiggle room in case of absences. Each will be graded on a check-plus (100%), check (85%), check-minus (75%) scale. Worth 10 points each.
- Discussion Leader- Twice in the semester, students will work in pairs to help facilitate class discussion for a selected reading by submitting a brief prep sheet in advance (including key argument, concept, and discussion questions), guiding conversation during class, and completing a short post-class reflection. This is graded on preparation, understanding of the reading, and engagement. Worth 25 points each.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- Final Paper- For the final paper, you will analyze a real-world situation or problem using at least two of the perspectives in sociological social psychology (symbolic interactionism, group processes, social structure and personality). Details posted on D2L. Worth 100 points.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail online in the Student Guidebook.

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette Webpage for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum.

ETAMU Attendance

For more information about the attendance policy, please view the Attendance Webpage and the Class Attendance Policy.

Academic Integrity

Students at East Texas A&M University are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

Undergraduate Academic Dishonesty University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.03

Use of Artificial Intelligence

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
