COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Because this course is held online, you will need to have regular access to a computer and reliable high-speed internet. If you do not have access at home, you may be able to use a public library or come to campus to use computers in the library or one of the student computer labs. Make sure that you will have access several hours per week (accessing the course online is the equivalent of attending the class). You must be able to use internet search tools, access D2L, use email, and know how to download and upload documents. You must also be able to play videos and have headphones or speakers.

For your privacy and security, only your official ETAMU email account will be used for email communication. No information will be sent to personal email accounts. Please check your ETAMU email regularly.

Instructional Methods

This course is held completely online through D2L. The course is fully asynchronous, which means that not everyone is participating at the same time. You can access the course any time, day or night, from anywhere that you have an internet connection. You should login to the course on D2L on a regular basis to keep up with class assignments. Each module will end Sunday at 11:59 PM. The next module begins Monday morning.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

This is a graduate-level course, and your coursework should reflect that. There will be several assignments due throughout the semester. You will be expected to write clearly and effectively, using APA style, proper grammar and correct spelling, and scholarly references (cited in-text and as full references). You will be expected to think critically and analytically about the topics covered in class and to participate in virtual class discussions. You are expected to read all assigned materials and should be prepared to actively learn and participate. Logging in daily, pacing yourself with course work, and reaching out to the instructor if you are struggling are ways of ensuring your success in the course.

Taking an online class is different than taking a face-to-face class. You will largely be teaching yourself using materials I provide. That's what life-long learning is all about. You will do much of your communicating by writing. So, as a result, there will likely be more writing than in fully face-to-face classes.

For online classes, the roles of the teacher and the student are reversed. I am a facilitator, guide, coach, or resource, and am responsible for creating an effective learning environment. Your job is to use that environment to learn – interact with the materials, construct and share information, manage your time effectively, and use that time for critical thinking, reflection, and application.

You are in control and responsible for your own learning. I am here to support and help you, but it is up to you to ask for help when you need it. Unlike face-to-face classes, I cannot see the confused look on your face when something doesn't make sense. Please communicate with me.

1. You should review the syllabus and the course schedule to keep up to date on requirements for the course.
2. You should read announcements on D2L and check your ETAMU email regularly for updates about the class.
3. You must commit serious time to reading the assigned readings.
4. You must commit a serious amount of time to preparation for the assignments.
5. You should learn about and use the student resources available to you! You can get free assistance from the A&M-Library, IT Support, the Writing Center, and more.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

GRADE	PERCENT	POINTS

Final Paper	100
Total	500

Assessments

Ice Breaker Post

Due 03/18/2026 by 11:59 PM (D2L)

Due to the nature of remote learning, maintaining traditional class comradery is essential. You will be assigned one introductory post the first week of class. This post is due on Wednesday, March 18 by 11:59 pm. This introductory post is meant for students to become acquainted, and hopefully acknowledge similar goals and interests. Keep in mind that forum discussions are public, and care should be taken when determining what to post. Personal information that can be posted may include:

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- Name
- Occupation/career and length of time
- How this course is expected to help or aid your career separate from the entire degree, and how you expect this degree to enhance your career.

Weekly Discussion Posts & Peer Responses

Due every Sunday by 11:59 PM (D2L) (except the last week)

The purpose of the weekly discussion posts and peer responses is to facilitate discussion regarding the assigned course materials. Discussion board postings are opportunities for you to express your knowledge and thoughts after reviewing information presented in the module. Discussions are directly related to the weekly themes. In these discussion posts, you will be expected to answer the assigned questions and also engage in an ongoing discussion/debate with your classmates on various topics related to counterintelligence. Your contributions to the discussion forums will be graded for quality and a detailed analysis linking the material to a critical appraisal of theory, policy, and practice. Reading the assigned class material is the key to a productive engagement in discussion forums.

Discussion board entries (both your original post and peer response) must be a minimum of 250 words and must follow APA style for in-text citations and references. Weekly readings must be used, cited and referenced in each post. The introduction of outside materials is not mandatory (unless otherwise noted in the discussion topic assignment), but is highly recommended. In all cases, students must cite in-text and provide a full bibliography/works cited at the end of their post for all citations mentioned in the post. Your discussion board entries should include paragraphs and full sentences addressing a specific question I have posed.

You will also need to respond to one classmate's discussion board entry to receive full credit for the assignment. Your peer responses should be thoughtful and analytical, providing useful feedback to the initial poster. It is not enough to simply agree, disagree, or compliment the initial poster. When responding to other students, you must be respectful but please feel free to express disagreement, support or an alternative perspective. Appropriate netiquette should be used (see more information in University Specific Procedures: Student Conduct).

You must complete your discussion board entry before responding to your peers. I suggest you complete your original post by Thursday of each week so you also have time for your peer response, but the formal due date for both of your entries is by Sunday at 11:59 PM (except the last week of the course, please see the course schedule below).

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Chapter Reflections

Week 2, 4, 6, and 8 due Sunday by 11:59 PM (D2L) (except the last week)

The purpose of the chapter reflections is to demonstrate that you have read and understood the textbook chapters and can summarize and critique it for an audience. For this assignment, you are expected to create an audio or video recording of your summary and critique of one of the assigned textbook chapters (for Week 2, 4, 6, and 8). This recording must be three minutes or less in length. Recordings should be made in such a way that the viewer can understand the study clearly without referring to the printed article.

In this assignment, you first need to provide a brief and accurate summary of the textbook chapter. However, your reflection should not be a simple summary of the textbook chapter. You should also provide a critique of the chapter. For this critique, you should try to ask yourself questions like: What did you learn from this reading? What are your brief personal opinions/reflections about its arguments? How/in what ways did it help you understand this specific issue/problem regarding counterintelligence? You do not need to ask all of these questions but try to ask and answer at least a few of them in your critique. In summary, you need to try to go a little beyond summarizing the textbook chapter and focus on a more critical analysis of the piece. A grading rubric will be provided on D2L.

Final Paper

Due 05/06/2026 by 11:59 PM (D2L)

This course will culminate in a final essay which is worth 100 points. For this paper, using archived media reports, you need to find a counterintelligence event for further analysis. This event can be one of the historical cases of counterintelligence failure as discussed in Chapter 1 (Challenges for Counterintelligence) OR you can find a different case of counterintelligence failure or success based on your own research. Please feel free to consult with the professor while trying to determine your case for analysis. In either case, you should analyze your event as follows:

- Explain what happened. Was the event a case of counterintelligence failure or success?
- Distinguish whether the event was related to national security, military, law enforcement, business, or private security/investigation.
- Critically analyze the event drawing on course concepts/themes (i.e., was it an example of defensive vs. offensive counterintelligence? If it was an example of a defensive counterintelligence event, was it a case of physical, personnel, information, or communications security? If it was an example of an offensive counterintelligence event, was it a case of detection, deception, or neutralization?)
- What are the policy implications for counterintelligence?

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

The paper should be maximum 6 pages in length (not including the references and the title page). A minimum of five (5) references are required (including the textbook which is mandatory to cite) and APA format is expected. Paper should be double spaced, Times New Roman, 12-point font, and must be submitted on D2L by the due date, Wednesday, May 6th by 11:59pm. Students are encouraged to begin working on this early to avoid rushing during the final week. A grading rubric will be posted on D2L.

*Please note that all assignments will be submitted to plagiarism software. They will be assessed line-by-line (not by percentage). You are welcome to submit as many times as you want up until the due date. Please also review the AI Use Policy in this syllabus. The use of generative AI software is disallowed in this course.

Late Assignments

All assignments (i.e., chapter reflections and the final paper) should be submitted to D2L by 11:59pm on the day they are due. Late assignments will be deducted 10% per day and will not be accepted more than 3 days after the deadline. Please note that late submissions do not apply to the discussion posts and peer responses which should be submitted no later than the due date.
