Course Description

This course traces the development of African American history and the development of modern America from the turbulent 1850s through the end of WWI. Within these critical years, the United States emerged from a nation severely divided by issues connected to race, rebellion, reconstruction, and finally, reform to one that had been transformed thorough immigration, urbanization, and industrialization into a leading world power. Over the course of the semester, this class will examine the events and historical interpretations that are at the heart of the historical understanding of this critical period in the transformation of the United States.

Student Learning Outcomes (Should be measurable; observable; use action verbs)

1. Students can locate appropriate secondary source materials to complete a semester project.
2. Students can identify a historical argument.
3. Students can analyze a secondary source.
4. Students can compare secondary sources
5. Students can demonstrate an understanding of historiographical developments from Mexican War through World War I.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

This course requires students to have a working knowledge of D2L (Learning Management System), university email, Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, and Adobe Express.

Instructional Methods

The course requires a combination of writing assignments and discussion boards. ALL WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS MUST BE submitted by 11:59 pm each Saturday of the term (No Late Assignment will be accepted for full credit). The instructional week will be from Sunday to Saturday. Late assignments will receive a full grade penalty for each day it is late. Students are expected to read the required readings to participate fully in the class discussions.

Required Reading: All students are required to read and discuss the assigned books. The books are available for purchase at the campus bookstore, internet websites (Amazon or publisher) and at a variety of regional retailers.

Turnitin: All typed assignments, exams, papers, and reviews must be uploaded to the appropriate listing of the course's dropbox. Each assignment dropbox automatically uploads the student's work to turnitin.com for plagiarism and AI checking. This is a requirement for the course, and the students will not receive a grade until they have completed this process.

Writing Assignments: All writing assignments must be typed in 12 pt. New Times Roman font, doubled spaced with a 1" margin. Additionally, all assignments must include, on the first page, your name, assignment, my name, course number, and date. Students must submit an electronic copy to a dropbox that turnitin.com can analyze. Book reviews and reception report due dates are listed in the course outline.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Student Presentations: All students are required to create and deliver a presentation with the instructor's approval to the class based on historically relevant person or event that directly connects to African American history. The presentation should include: a brief statement regarding their topic's historical relevance, research question, an analysis of the relevant historical interpretations, and relevant secondary sources. Additionally, all presentations must be created using Adobe Express to receive credit and last between 7 to 10 minutes. Please review presentation instructions posted in D2L.

Participation: All students must be prepared to participate in class discussions based on the assigned readings or other course contents. Students cannot earn participation credit if they do not attend class. If students have more than three unexcused absences, they will not earn all the participation. Excused absences include university athletes for scheduled events, sickness – with doctor's note – or family emergency. Students are responsible for communicating with the instructor regarding their class absences.

Proposal and Final Paper Guidelines will be posted in D2L.
