Course Description

This course will acquaint students with basic principles of health. Studies include community health problems, programs, agencies, and health careers. Attention will also be given to cultural diversity in matters pertaining to health.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Define: health, community, community health, health promotion, disease prevention and public health and differentiate between public health and healthcare.
2. Identify and explain the factors that influence the health of individuals and communities.
3. Understand and discuss the roles and functions of federal, state and local government agencies and voluntary health organizations.
4. Identify the major health problems and influences upon health in the nation and worldwide, as well as efforts to deal with these problems.
5. Describe and explain ecological challenges and environmental problems affecting the nation.
6. Explain how a community can examine its health services, problems and resources.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

To participate successfully in this course, you will need:

- Reliable internet access for using the e-book, accessing course materials, and completing online activities.
- A computer or mobile device capable of viewing and downloading Word documents and PDFs. You can find information on how to use Word on your computer if you do not currently have Microsoft products installed: <https://www.microsoft.com/en-US/education/products/office>. You can also use Google Docs.
- Access to a webcam or smartphone camera to record and upload a brief introductory video to the Learning Management System (LMS)- D2L.
- Basic digital skills, including navigating websites, opening and saving files, and uploading assignments.
- Do NOT rely only on the Pulse app as it does not capture all due dates and many students miss required content. CHECK D2L on the web version at least ONCE at the beginning of each module to review ALL chapter sub-module content on the “landing pages”.

Instructional Methods

This course uses a variety of instructional methods to help students explore and apply key concepts in public health. Learning materials and activities may include:

- Assigned readings from the course e-book
- Instructor-created lecture slides and occasional recorded lectures
- Curated multimedia resources such as YouTube videos, TEDx talks, and podcasts
- Official information and data from government websites and public health organizations
- Interactive learning activities to reinforce understanding of course content

Students are expected to engage with all assigned materials and complete activities as directed.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

To be successful in this course, students are expected to take an active and organized approach to learning. Please review and follow these guidelines carefully:

Student Responsibilities

- Academic Integrity and Use of AI: The use of artificial intelligence (AI) tools (such as ChatGPT or similar programs) is not permitted in the completion of any graded work unless explicitly stated in the assignment instructions. Any information obtained from AI tools should be verified using the original, credible source before being referenced or used.
- Course Communication: Check D2L and your Leomail for announcements, updates, and feedback.
- Timely Engagement: Complete readings and assignments according to the schedule. Due to the accelerated nature of this term, extensions are not available.
- Instructor Contact: If you have questions or concerns, email your me immediately or attend virtual office hours (Wednesdays 5-6 pm).

Tips for Success

- Stay organized: Add all due dates to your personal calendar and plan your study time each week.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

- Read regularly: Aim to read a little every day rather than cramming at the end of the module block.
- Use your resources: Take advantage of recorded lectures, instructor materials, and online resources provided in the course. I add A LOT to each chapter's sub-module. If you are only reading the textbook you are missing 50% of the content.
- Work ahead: Do not wait until the day assignments or quizzes are due to begin working on them. AND, do not wait until the last day to email me. I might not be available to give a timely response and I cannot grant an extension because you were waiting on a answer from me.
- Quiz strategy: Remember that you have two attempts for each quiz. Use both attempts to improve your understanding and performance. Quizzes and the final exam are open-note and open-book but NOT open-internet and definitely NOT open-AI.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Weights of the assessments in the calculation of the final letter grade.

Activity	Number	Points	Points	%
Syllabus Quiz	1	25	25	2.5%
Introduction Discussion	1	25	25	2.5%
Module Exams	3	150	450	45%
Module Assignments	3	50	150	15%
Final Exam (cumulative)	1	350	350	35%

Assessments

Module 0 (both of these activities MUST be completed by Tuesday, May 12th @ 11:59 pm. Moving on to Module 1 is contingent upon the completion of these activities):

Syllabus Quiz (25 points, 2.5% of total grade) consists of questions related to the syllabus, course schedule, "Welcome & Expectations" video and "How-to D2L" video.

Introduction Discussion (25 points, 2.5% of total grade) is a short video introducing yourself to the class and to the instructor. You instructor uses this as a means to get to know who is in the class, including student interests and current majors.

Module Exams (3 Exams worth 150 points, 45% of total grade) there are 3 modules that contain 5 chapters each. These modules align with the material presented in the textbook and content provided by the instructor in D2L, including lecture slides and recorded lecture videos, supplemental readings and module content. Each exam allows for TWO attempts. These exams UNTIMED and are open-book, open-notes. They are NOT open AI or open internet.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Module Assignments (3 activities worth 50 points each, 15% of total grade) there are 3 module assignments that align with content presented in the text or in the lecture video for each chapter. These activities are designed to get you thinking actively about the content, rather than passively (like is the case for a quiz). Activities may include (but are not limited to) examining data from a table or chart, brainstorming an intervention strategy or watching a video and providing a response. Each assignment will integrate concepts from multiple chapters from the respective module.

Final Exam (350 points, 35% of total grade) at the end of the term you will take a comprehensive exam containing material presented in the textbook and in D2L for all 15 chapters covered in this course. You can expect written questions along with T/F, multiple choice (MC) and multi-select (MS) and ordering and matching type questions.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced.

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail online in the Student Guidebook.

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette Webpage for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum.

ETAMU Attendance

For more information about the attendance policy, please view the Attendance Webpage and the Class Attendance Policy

Academic Integrity

Students at East Texas A&M University are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

Use of Artificial Intelligence

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:
