COURSE INFORMATION

This is an online course, but we will meet synchronously on Zoom each Tuesday from 3:30 – 4:45.

Materials - Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

There is not a textbook for this course. Course materials and readings will be made available through D2L.

Course Description

For faculty and teaching staff. *Must have completed bachelor's degree. Synchronous Zoom Class. Reading for class is an integral part of a high-quality college education, yet increasingly students resist completing their reading assignments. This course will provide research on this national issue, describe both the reading demands and the academic gap for today's college students, and provide models of literacy strategies to improve engagement and comprehension of various content area reading tasks.

Standards Associated with this Class / Student Learning Outcomes

By the completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Utilize literacy strategies to increase student engagement with reading tasks
2. Develop insights into the reading histories of students graduating from Texas high schools
3. Evaluate the purpose, value, and media available for reading content area tasks and choose them to suit the purpose of reading in a course.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Expectations include full preparation, attendance, and active engagement in all class activities and with all course materials.

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Use of the Learning Management System (D2L), Microsoft Suite, Google Tools for Education, basic functions of discussion groups, email, and use of presentation / graphics.

Instructional Methods

The course will incorporate readings from the assigned textbook, quizzes, and class discussions related to the textbook content. Additionally, various Leadership Lesson Assignments sourced from web-based materials will be included. Regular online engagement is crucial. Attendance for the one hour, weekly, synchronous meeting is required.

GRADING

The overall grade in the class will be assigned as either S (Satisfactory) = 60% =100%, or U (Unsatisfactory) = 0%-59% for the final course grade.
